RUTGERS

Chad Schwenk + Jacki Crooks + Sean Carty + LJ Smith =

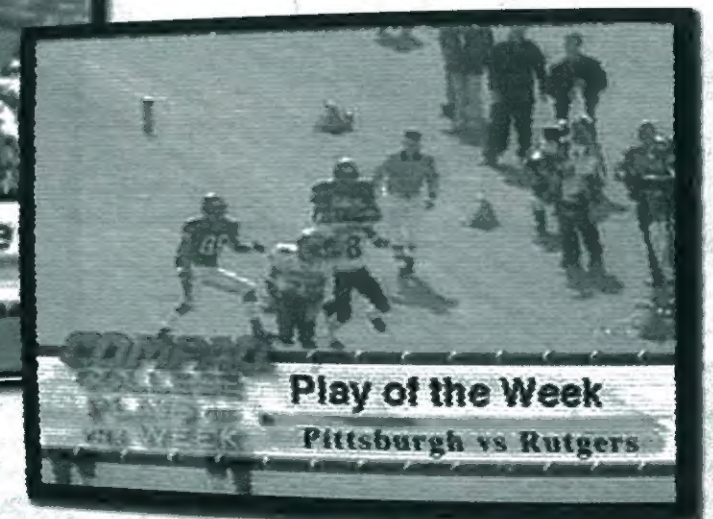

Tight end L.J. Smith's spectacular catch of wide receiver Sean Carty's toss in the third quarter of the October 23rd Pittsburgh game was cited as the "Compaq National College Football Play of the Week," as selected by a panel of sportswriters and sportscasters. On a first-down play, Rutgers QB Chad Schwenk handed the ball to RB Jacki Crooks who reversed the ball to receiver Sean Carty. Carty then cut back against the grain, throwing to TE L.J. Smith for the completion. Smith climbed over Pitt's Demetrious Rich, reaching over and around him, literally taking the interception away from him, to make the grab.

"On the banks of the Old Raritan

Rutgers is the birthplace of college football, having hosted the first collegiate football game on November 6, 1869.

Where old Rutgers
evermore shall stand

Rutgers has the oldest tradition in collegiate Division I-A football... and plays in one of the nation's most modern stadiums.

For has she not stood...

Rutgers has produced 54 All-Americans, including Marco Battaglia, a 1995 CONSENSUS First Team All-American.

...Since the time of the flood,

In the last 20 years, Rutgers owns wins over Penn State, Tennessee, Michigan State, Syracuse, West Virginia, Boston College, Virginia Tech and a tie versus Florida.

On the banks of the Old Raritan."

The words in bold are lines from the Rutgers Alma Mater, sung at the conclusion of every Rutgers football home game.

This painting, which commemorates the first college football game between Rutgers and Princeton, hangs proudly in the College Football Hall of Fame. It was produced in 1976, and the Rutgers player depicted is Bert Kosup, ('78), QB of the undefeated 1976 team.

Reaching out across the state...

Round Three: Phillipsburg High School

For the third straight season, the Scarlet Knights took their "show on the road" during Spring Practice 2000. Coach Terry Shea and the Scarlet Knights conducted a full practice session at Phillipsburg High School, in western New Jersey near the Pennsylvania border. In 1998, Rutgers held practice sessions at Ramapo and Cherokee High School and in 1999, practice sessions were held at Bergen Catholic and Brick Township High Schools.

"I think the coaches around the state really enjoy it," said Roxbury High School coach John Quinn said. "The Rutgers coaches are very accessible. They let you walk right out to the drills and let you watch what's going on. The coaches around the state are really pulling for them."

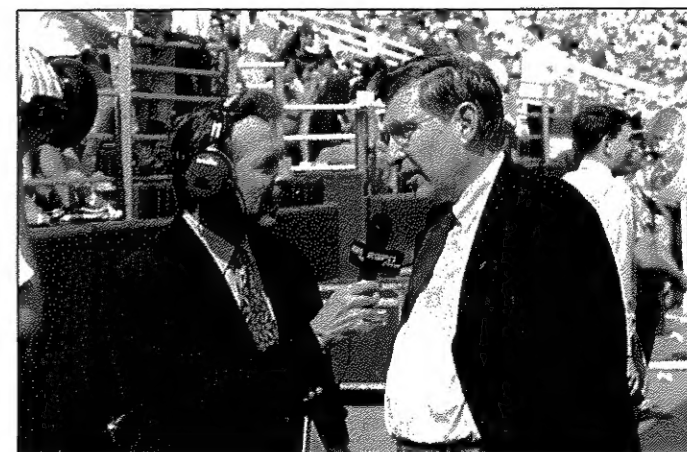

"I feel really good about taking spring practice sessions around the state," said Terry Shea. "There are two reasons we extended ourselves to the state. I wanted to take the program to different communities and we continue to believe that's important. The second thing is all the young players grow up a little bit when they have to go on the road like this. It pays dividends in the fall."

RUTGERS ON...

TELEVISION

The BIG EAST will continue its television presence in 2000. BIG EAST teams will again be featured regularly on CBS and ESPN. In addition, the BIG EAST will be featured on ABC and Fox SportsNet.

Rutgers will return to the national spotlight this season, when the Scarlet Knights host Notre Dame. The November 18 game will be televised nationally on CBS at 3:30 pm.

Terry Shea has never retreated from a challenge in his 32-year coaching career. So when the 1999 Scarlet Knights were hit with a rash of season-ending injuries, Shea found an "upside."

Many younger Scarlet Knights received significant playing time during the year, particularly on the defensive side of the ball. Players like free safety Nate Colon and cornerback Tony Berry stepped in as starters in their first seasons and performed admirably.

"Minutes logged was an extremely important component of having all the injuries," Shea noted. "So many of our younger players received playing opportunities. Now, they have experience, which can't do anything but help our team for the coming season."

For Shea's Scarlet Knights, the 2000 season unofficially began the day after the 1999 season was complete. The injured have worked hard to heal, and the entire team has sacrificed to become stronger, quicker and faster.

"I'm really excited with the attitude and outlook of the team as they showed what they're made of during winter conditioning," Shea said. "We've asked more of them than what I asked for in our initial years here, and they've really embraced the challenge."

"I really like what I've seen in terms of the off-season development. It feels like we're faster, and it feels like we're stronger. We've been able to build up our team over the years to where we now have 25 listed juniors as scholarship players. That gives us maturity, experience and the type of talent you like to see in your upperclassmen. Coupled with the seniors we have, that's a great starting point for next season," Shea added.

The coaching staff introduced new schemes on both sides of the ball this past spring. On the defensive side, the Scarlet Knights shifted from the traditional 4-3 alignment to a 3-4. Offensively, new pass blocking schemes were introduced. Both changes were made to take advantage of the skilled, athletic talent that is on the roster.

"The theme of our spring was all about change. You can only do things over and over for so long until players start to get hardened in their mental approach to the game," Shea said. "We had an extremely productive spring campaign, which has given us great momentum as we head into preseason camp."

OFFENSE

QUARTERBACKS

Before he was injured last season, Mike McMahon (6-3, 215) was on his way to an outstanding season. He was leading the BIG EAST in passing and total offense, and had thrown for over 200 yards in each of the first four games. He was injured while scoring a second quarter touchdown that tied the count at 14-14 against No. 5 ranked Virginia Tech in the season's fifth game. Rutgers went on to lose both the game and McMahon. McMahon had shoulder surgery before the season was over, and worked hard on his rehabilitation to ready himself for the 2000 campaign.

RUTGERS football

Before suffering the injury, McMahon had completed 66-of-146 passes for 989 yards and five TDs. A starter since the seventh game of his true freshman season, McMahon already ranks in Rutgers' Top 10 all-time career leaders in a number of statistical categories, including passes attempted, passes completed, passing yardage, touchdowns and total offense.

McMahon sat out Spring Practice 2000 as his shoulder continued to heal. But all indications were that he would be 100 percent by the time pre-season training camp opens in August.

"At this point, there is no concern about Mike for the 2000 season. He's still our No. 1 quarterback candidate, and I feel he's making good progress," said Shea. "While he didn't practice last spring, he had a huge presence on the field in terms of being close to the huddle."

With McMahon playing the role of observer, a majority of the snaps in the spring went to Chad Schwenk. As a true freshman in 1999, Schwenk played in six games, starting three, and completed 72-of-125 passes for 845 yards and three touchdowns. He displayed remarkable poise and ability despite being thrust into a pressure-packed situation in his first year in college.

Schwenk (6-2, 200) engineered one of the biggest upsets in all of college football last season, when he led the Scarlet Knights to the 24-21 overtime victory over Syracuse in just his second start. Schwenk completed 19-of-29 passes for 258 yards, ran for one TD and threw for another, with just one interception. Schwenk took Rutgers on a 12-play, 96-yard drive in the final minutes against the Orangemen to force a 21-21 tie at the end of regulation, and then guided the Scarlet Knights to its game winning drive in OT, setting up Lee McDonald's 25-yard field goal for the 24-21 win. For his efforts, he was selected "Co-Offensive Player of the Week" in the BIG EAST Conference.

"Without Mike this past spring, Chad Schwenk had the chance to continue to grow, in terms of more snaps and repetitions," Shea said. "I think he now has a full grasp of the offensive system, along with his playing experience from last season."

Senior Mike Jones (6-4, 230) joined Schwenk at quarterback in the spring. Jones is a steady backup who played in all 11 games last season, starting three games after McMahon was sidelined, completed 29-of-72 passes for 404 yards. He tossed an 80-yard TD pass to Walter King on a fly pattern on the first play of the West Virginia game to give the Scarlet Knights an early 7-0 advantage. Jones also handles a majority of the Scarlet Knights holding duties and is regarded as one of the most sure-handed in the BIG EAST.

KNIGHT KNOTES...

Rutgers enters the 2000 season with three experienced signal callers. The trio of Mike McMahon, Mike Jones and Chad Schwenk have amassed 31 combined starts for the Scarlet Knights, with McMahon starting 22 games, Jones starting six and Schwenk starting three.

WIDE RECEIVERS

One of the deepest and most experienced units on the Scarlet Knights is the corps of wide receivers, which includes one of the top one-two punches in the BIG EAST in seniors Walter King and Errol Johnson.

Johnson stepped in last year after a standout career at Foothill (CA) College and paid immediate dividends. The 6-2, 210-pound Johnson started all 11 games and led RU with 35 catches for 507 yards (14.5 yards per reception) while running textbook routes and displaying sure hands. Johnson caught at least one pass in all 11 games, and had eight games where he had three or more receptions.

His starting mate was the 6-2, 200-pound King, who returned to the Scarlet Knights, and college football, after sitting out the 1998 season due to a back injury. King played in nine games and caught 29 passes for 453 yards. He caught four passes for a career-high 115 yards at West Virginia and had three receptions for 88 yards in the win over Syracuse. King, who is looking forward to an injury-free senior campaign, has 60 receptions in his Rutgers career.

A quartet of receivers, who all played as true freshmen in 1999, will look to continue their development on the major college level. Sean Carty (6-0, 185) caught 11 passes for 177 yards while displaying sure hands. Aaron Martin (6-4, 205) has an excellent frame and great potential. Martin, the son of former New York Giant defensive end George Martin, caught eight passes for 112 yards in his first season. Antoine Lovelace (6-2, 185) displayed outstanding speed while hauling in five passes for 82 yards, including a 62-yard TD pass against Wake Forest. Josh Hobbs (6-2, 205) caught three passes for 54 yards and brings athleticism and size to the position.

Two interesting candidates are also looking to crack the receiving corps this fall. Delrico Fletcher (6-1, 190) has returned after a two-year layoff, while David Stringer (6-0, 205), joined the team after transferring from North Carolina State. Fletcher caught 10 passes for 141 yards and a touchdown in 1997. He sat out 1998 with a foot injury, and spent the 1999 season at a community college to concentrate on academics. Shea regards Fletcher as one of the top athletes on the team, and is determined to find playing time for him, either as a wide receiver or in the defensive backfield. Stringer was a red-shirt as a freshman at North Carolina State in 1998 before transferring to Rutgers. The former New Jersey high school all-state performer is the son of C. Vivian Stringer, the highly successful Rutgers women's basketball coach.

Rounding out the receiving corps is a trio of walk-on candidates, Nick Gallo (5-10, 175), Nick Javas (5-10, 165) and Eric Mahoney (6-1, 190). Gallo was a member of the squad in 1999 but did not see action, while Javas and Mahoney are new to the team this season. All three participated in Spring Practice 2000.

TIGHT ENDS

The Rutgers offensive attack features one of the bright young stars in all of college football in L.J. Smith. Smith caught 26 passes for 418 yards and three TDs in his first season with the Scarlet Knights, and Shea has pledged that the 6-4, 225 pound tight end will get the ball as much as possible next season. Smith is big, strong and fast, and is a threat any time he touches the ball.

R

"We will design a lot of our passing theory around the fact that we have a wide receiver-type playing tight end for us. If we can do the things we'd like to with L.J. at tight end, then we're going to be very special," Shea said.

Smith is a bonafide All-BIG EAST candidate who averaged 16.1 yards per reception. His very first catch as a collegian went for a touchdown at California. Smith was also on the receiving end of the NCAA's "Hustle Play of the Year," an award chosen by a panel of sportswriters and broadcasters and sponsored by Compaq. On a first down play against Pittsburgh, QB Schwenk handed the ball to RB Crooks who reversed the ball to WR Carty. Carty then cut back against the grain, throwing to Smith for the completion. Smith climbed over Pitt's Demetrious Rich, reaching over and around him, literally taking the interception away from him, to make the spectacular grab.

Smith's backup is Rob Ring, who, at 6-4, 250-pounds, is more of a prototypical tight end. Ring gives the Scarlet Knights a solid blocker when they opt for a two tight end set in short yardage situations.

TE L.J. Smith

RUNNING BACKS

Dennis Thomas is not only back as Rutgers' leading returning rusher from the 1999 season, but also returns to his familiar position at tailback. The 6-1, 220-pound junior has been a starter at either fullback or running back in his first two seasons and is expected to step in and take over for last year's starter and leading rusher, Jacki Crooks. Thomas gained 180 yards on 37 carries from the fullback position, but also showed great versatility by adding 19 receptions for 192 yards. Thomas also returned 34 kickoffs for 726 yards.

"We had a very consistent season from Dennis Thomas last year, and he'll have every opportunity to establish himself as a true tailback in our offense," Shea said. "In Dennis, we feel like we have a real mature back who can make things happen for us, with his outstanding skill."

Thomas opened the season two years ago as the No. 1 running back, and showed flashes of brilliance in the first half of the season before he was slowed by a high ankle sprain in the second half of the campaign. Thomas finished as the No. 2 rusher on the team, with 418 yards (including a 120-yard game vs. Army).

Also competing for time at tailback will be 6-0, 195-pound Jason Ohene. Ohene has seen spot duty for the Scarlet Knights in the past two seasons. He picked up 71 yards in seven games in 1998, and gained 100 yards last year. His most productive afternoon came against Boston College, when he started and gained 24 yards on nine carries.

The top candidate at fullback is Seth Stanton. As a freshman two seasons ago, Stanton was listed at 255 pounds, but, by his own account, played most of the year at about 275 pounds. A slimmed down Stanton came back last season at 240 pounds, and saw action in all 11 games, as a valuable special teams performer and at fullback in short yardage situations. He gained 32 yards on 11 carries, and scored two touchdowns.

"We're going to look at several combinations and we won't hesitate to play Thomas and Ohene in the same backfield. Stanton has experience at fullback as well, and he can certainly play with either of them," Shea said.

The Scarlet Knights' ground attack will become even more potent in 2000 when junior college transfers Ravon Anderson (5-10, 195) and Vaughn Calhoun (6-0, 190) become a part of the mix. Anderson was All-State and a SuperPrep All-America tailback coming out of Hoboken High School in 1997, and went to North Carolina for two seasons (one as a red-shirt) before transferring to Nassau Community College. Calhoun comes to Rutgers with three years experience and is known as a slasher who also has the ability to catch the ball coming out of the backfield.

A trio of walk-ons, fullback John Ciurciu (6-0, 240), and running backs Travis Hinton (5-8, 175) and Heatcliff Leonor (5-9, 200) round out the ground attack for the Scarlet Knights.

RUTGERS football

OFFENSIVE LINE

The offensive line might be the most pressing concern for Shea and his staff. The Scarlet Knights had a veteran unit there in 1999, led by All-BIG EAST guard Shaun O'Hara. Four of the starting five have graduated.

"We definitely need to find candidates who can line up and play with some consistency at the offensive line positions. We have a much more athletic pool to choose from than we've had, but it's mostly an inexperienced pool. We have to develop some form of chemistry within our offensive line," said Shea. "We need to find out who the top seven offensive linemen are, who can play a variety of positions."

One true veteran returns in Rich Mazza (6-3, 280), who started all 11 games at left guard, and is expected to be the leader of the unit as a senior. Another veteran with game experience is 6-4, 290 pound junior Julian Ross, who has been a defensive lineman in his first two years. Travis Mills (6-3, 305) is a mid-year enrollee who saw considerable action at Garden City (KS) Community College and should challenge for a starting spot.

Candidates at center include junior Jeremy Womack (6-4, 280), who played in 11 games last season, sophomore Dave Showalter (6-5, 300) who appeared in five games, and senior Randy Smith (6-4, 270), who saw action in five games as well. Shea and offensive line coach Bill Laveroni will also choose from a number of younger players to round out the offensive line. Candidates include Howard Blackwood (6-4, 275), who played in 10 games last year and showed outstanding potential; 6-4, 315-pound Mike Esposito, who played in all 11 games in 1999; Brian Duffy (6-5, 285), who sat out last season as a red-shirt; and senior Tim Baker (6-4, 305), who saw limited action in six games in 1999. Newcomers Rich McManis (6-5, 320) and Krzysztof Kaczorowski (6-6, 300), a pair of freshmen who enrolled in January, bring outstanding size to the offensive line.

KNIGHT KNOTES...

The offensive line for the Scarlet Knights boasts six players of 300 pounds or more.

RUTGERS football

LINEBACKERS

A solid group of athletic performers at linebacker was a major reason for the change in defensive philosophy from a 4-3 to a 3-4 scheme. However, the Scarlet Knights must find replacements for an experienced corps which graduated, including two-year starters Dax Strohmeyer and Jabari Moore. Shea and the defensive staff must also decide whether Tarell Freeney will play at linebacker or in the secondary. Freeney, one of the fastest members of the team, sat out last season with an ACL injury.

A leading candidate to replace the rangy Strohmeyer, who emerged as a top playmaker for the Scarlet Knights in his career, at the "Sam" linebacker position is 6-2, 210-pound sophomore Brian Bender. Bender appeared in all 11 games last season as a freshman and made 31 tackles. He sustained a torn ACL in the final game of the season at Miami, and sat out spring drills. Two other youngsters who will get a long look at the Sam position include 6-3, 210-pound Jerred Friday, and 6-1, 210-pound Nate Leonard. Friday played in five of the first six games before he was sidelined with an ankle injury, while Leonard sustained a shoulder injury in the second game of the year vs. Texas, but was able to come back in five games. Both showed outstanding potential and figure in the plans.

Two of the strongest players on the squad, 6-2, 225-pound Wes Robertson and 6-1, 245-pound Ron Simone, figure to anchor the Scarlet Knights on the inside at the "Mike" position. Robertson, a part-time starter at linebacker and on the defensive line for the past two seasons, has outstanding athletic ability and just needs to shake the injury jinx that has plagued his career at Rutgers. Simone saw action in five games last season, his first with the Scarlet Knights. Newcomer Torrance Heggie (6-5, 220) is expected to make an immediate impact on the defensive front and could fight for a starting position, after starring at Ventura Junior College (CA) for the past two seasons.

Steve Berson (5-11, 210) and Mitch Davis (6-1, 220) should vie for time at the "Will" linebacker. Both saw action primarily on special teams last year. Berson enjoyed an outstanding high school career at Hoboken, while Davis is a converted running back who spent last season learning his new position.

Another candidate for playing time in the new 3-4 scheme will be Dennis McCormack, who has outstanding size (6-2, 230), but has been limited by nagging injuries in his career as a Scarlet Knight. Also in the mix is Gary Brackett (5-11, 220), a walk-on who performed admirably in 10 of 11 games last season.

DEFENSIVE LINE

The Scarlet Knights must find a replacement for All-BIG EAST end Wayne Hampton, who was the team's top pass rusher for the past three years. Rutgers will rely on a combination of experience and youth in its new-look defensive scheme.

Veterans up front include Marcus Perry, the 6-1, 260-pound tackle who was able to return from the torn pectoral muscle injury to appear in the last three games of the 1999 season, and running mate

R

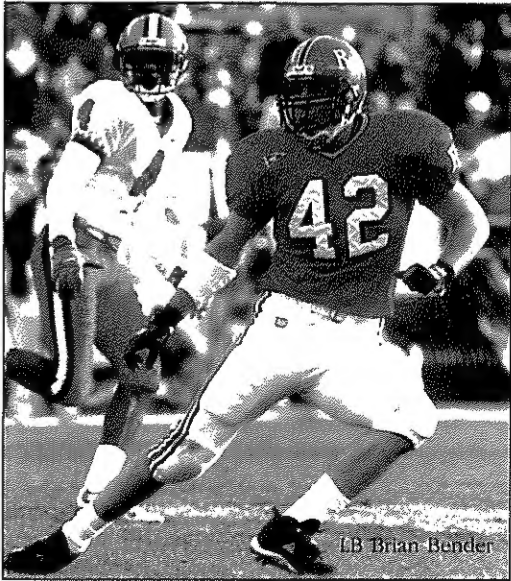

Tom Petko, the 6-0, 285-pound nose tackle who finished with 36 tackles, including one sack.

Shea is very high on the potential of Will Burnett, who was a red-shirt last season. The 6-4, 250-pound Burnett is expected to provide the pass rush up front that will be missed with Hampton's departure. Other youngsters up front include a pair of red-shirt freshman tackles Jason Malakoski (6-4, 270) and Marty Pyszczyuka (6-2, 260), and Marty's older brother Greg Pyszczyuka (6-2, 260).

An intriguing prospect on the defensive line for the Scarlet Knights is Bill Tulloch, who returns to the roster after sitting out both 1998 and 1999. Tulloch (6-3, 255) was an All-State performer in high school who has ability as a pass rusher.

NT Tom Petko

LB Brian Bender

DEFENSIVE BACKS

No area on the Scarlet Knights was hit harder by injuries last season than the secondary. The injuries started almost from the start, when Freeney (6-0, 200) went down with a torn ACL on the first day of pre-season training camp. Shortly thereafter, Garrett Shea (5-10, 190) learned that he would be sidelined for the season with a neck burner. In the first game of the season, Thompson, a starter at one corner, was lost for the season with a torn ACL.

The upside of all the injuries was that a lot of youngsters were forced into action for the Scarlet Knights. Tony Berry (6-1, 185) stepped in at corner and started every game as a sophomore. Nate Colon (5-10, 190), a standout running back in high school, was shifted to free safety, a position he started throughout the year as a true freshman. The injury situation grew so bad that linebacker Brian Bender was forced to start at strong safety in the final game of the season at Miami (in a tough twist of irony, Bender joined the ranks of the injured when he suffered a torn ACL at Miami).

Berry returns at one corner, with Brandon Haw (6-0, 165) in the hunt for the other starting spot. Colon returns at strong safety, and Shahib White (5-11, 200), who saw time at both safety spots last season, returns at free safety.

A number of newcomers will be in the secondary mix, including mid-year enrollee Wes Lysack (6-0, 200), a true freshman from Winnipeg, Manitoba. Lysack played for the St. Vital Mustangs football organization since he was 12 years old, and was named the Major Leagues Most Valuable Player in 1998.

The defensive staff is also anxious for the return of a number of injured players, including Shea (burner), Freeney (ACL), Thompson (ACL), 6-0, 195-pound Peter Mendez (ACL) and 6-1, 205 pound Nate Leonard (shoulder). Shawn Seabrooks (5-9, 190), a transfer from Tennessee, will also be in the hunt for playing time. Seabrooks was an All-State and Super Prep All-America selection at Paterson High School. Rounding out the defensive backfield is walk-on candidates James Pederson (5-7, 180).

SPECIAL TEAMS

Rutgers returns one of the strongest legs in the BIG EAST Conference to handle its place kicking chores in Steve Barone. The 6-0, 180-pound Barone has scored 74 points in two seasons, including 14-of-24 field goals. Barone booted a 51-yard field goal as a freshman, and hit 8-of-12 field goals that year. As a sophomore, he fell off to 6-of-12 field goals, but still displayed excellent range (he booted a 41-yard field goal vs. Texas). Barone concluded the year with 30 points. Barone has the ability to be one of the top kickers in college football.

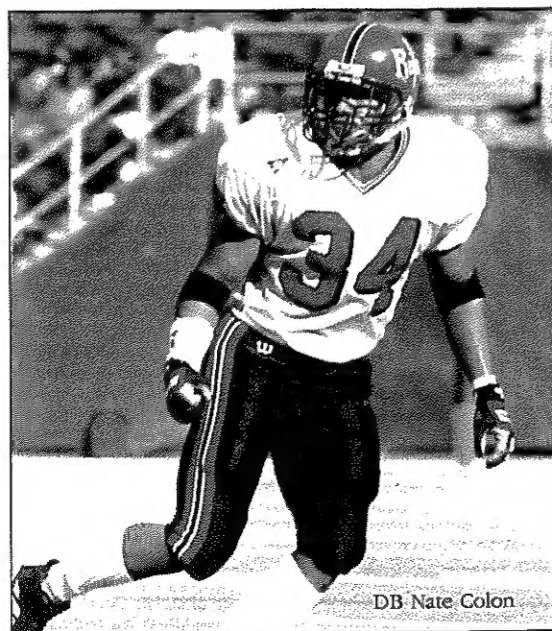

The punting duties should make a smooth transition from Charlie Titus to Mike Barr. Barr, a sturdy 6-3, 235-pound athlete, was a red-shirt last season. As a true freshman, he was forced into action when Titus was sidelined with a broken jaw, and punted 17 times for a solid 39.5 yard average.

"The kicking game appears to be solid. With our placekicker Steve Barone, we feel like we have a talent. We just have to get more consistency out of him," said Shea. "We also feel we have a proven talent in Mike Barr, who has punted under pressure. We'd like to believe that he'll be good enough to make us strong in the punting game."

Shea must find a replacement at the long snapping spot, where the No. 1 snapper O'Hara, and his top backup, Strohmeier, have both graduated. The holding position looks to be in the sure hands of Jones, the reserve quarterback. Carty, one of the wide receivers who will battle for time, might also see some duty as a holder. Walk-on David Hughes (5-8, 185) provides insurance at both punter and placekicker.

DB Tony Berry

DB Nate Colon

COACHING STAFF

Adjustments in responsibilities were made during the off-season by Shea to position the team for success in the 2000 season.

Wide receivers coach Jim Benedict has been given responsibilities as Rutgers' Pass Game Coordinator, and will add tight ends to his responsibilities as well. Offensive line coach Bill Laveroni will serve as the team's Run Game Coordinator.

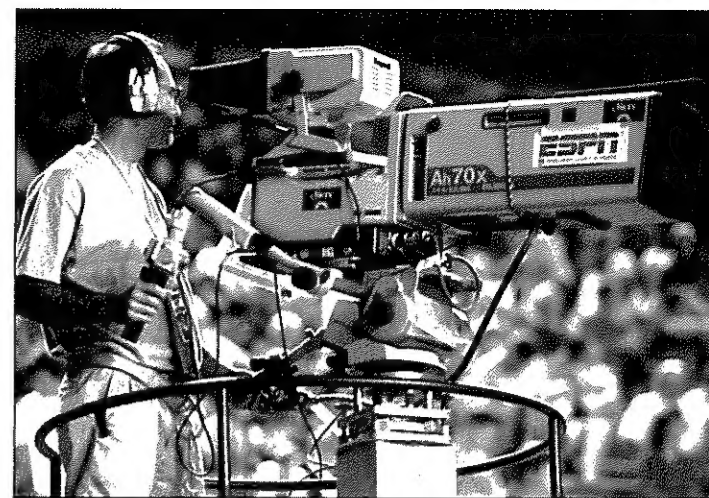

Rod Sharpless, who served as inside linebackers coach for the past two seasons in addition to his duties as associate head coach, will now coach the Scarlet Knights' defensive linemen. Dave Steckel will take over as inside linebackers coach after four seasons with the defensive line, and Mike Gibson will now coach the safeties in addition to serving as special teams coach. Gibson had served as tight ends coach for four seasons. On the offensive staff, Mario Verduzco will take over as quarterbacks coach after four seasons as assistant quarterbacks coach. Verduzco continues as the Scarlet Knights' recruiting coordinator.

The Scarlet Knights also added Shawn Simms to the staff as running back coach, replacing Darrell Wilson, who left after one season to join the staff at the University of Wisconsin. Simms comes to Rutgers after five years at Big Ten Conference programs Ohio State and Illinois.

"I'm really looking forward to working with the players and staff here at Rutgers," Simms said. "I want to get our running backs to play at the highest level, on a consistent basis, and I want our guys to be 'complete' running backs, not just those who excel carrying the ball, or catching the ball."

RECRUITS

A talented class of 24 players will join the Scarlet Knights for fall practice. The group includes 11 linemen who average 6-4 1/2 in height, and nearly 270 pounds. It also features a number of one-time New Jersey high school All-State performers, including one of the top running backs to emerge from the Garden States scholastic ranks, Ravon Anderson. Anderson, a Super Prep All-America selection who originally began his collegiate career at North Carolina, comes to Rutgers with two years of eligibility remaining after spending last season at Nassau Community College.

SCHEDULE

Rutgers will face a challenging schedule in the 2000 season that includes a visit to national runner-up Virginia Tech, and home games with BIG EAST Conference foes Miami, West Virginia and Temple as well as an intersectional battle with Notre Dame. The Scarlet Knights will play five games in September, opening the season with consecutive home games against Villanova (Sept. 2) and Buffalo (Sept. 9), before taking to the road for a pair of BIG EAST battles at Virginia Tech (Sept. 16) and Pittsburgh (Sept. 23). A home contest with Miami on Sept. 30 closes out the month. The first of two "open" weeks will be Oct. 7, before the Scarlet Knights resume action by hosting Temple on Oct. 14. Rutgers will then play consecutive road games, at Navy (Oct. 21) and Boston College (Oct. 28). After the second "bye" week on Nov. 4, Rutgers hosts West Virginia (Nov. 11) and Notre Dame (Nov. 18) before visiting Syracuse on Nov. 25 in the regular season finale.

Offensive Line
Arizona Western CC
Melbourne, FL

Versatile performer who figures to gain increased playing time in 2000 season ... Coaches like his attitude on the field ... Quiet off the field but intense and aggressive at the line of scrimmage ... Brings level of maturity to corps of offensive linemen.

In 1999: Appeared in six games in the 1999 season as a reserve on the offensive line.

In 1998: Originally enrolled in school in January of 1998 and participated in all of spring drills that year ... Was redshirted in 1998 ... Spent the season gaining knowledge of the offensive system and bulking up in the weight room.

Scholastic/Personal: Two-year starter at offensive tackle for coach Charlie Dime at Arizona Western CC ... "He is one of the toughest linemen I've ever been around," said Dime... team was 5-5 and 2-8 in Baker's two years at Arizona Western ... Played both right and left tackle ... Was hampered by an ankle injury in his second season ... Born 1/21/78.

PK Steve Barone

Steve Barone

14
Place Kicker
Jr./2 - 5-11 - 170
Oak Ridge Military Academy (NC)
Heathrow, FL

Strong-legged performer who has the ability to be one of the top kickers in the BIG EAST Conference ... Looking for a breakthrough junior season after solid sophomore campaign... Preseason All-BIG EAST Second-Team selection by Lindy's.

In 1999: Led Rutgers in scoring with 30 points on 6-of-12 field goals, and 12-of-13 extra points in 1999 ... Booted a long field goal of 41 yards (vs. Texas), and also had a 40-yarder vs. West Virginia ... Had two multiple field goal games - kicked three against West Virginia (40-33-28) and two against Texas (23-41).

In 1998: Solidified Rutgers' place kicking as a freshman in 1998 season ... His 44 points were sixth in the Conference in scoring among kickers ... Converted 8-of-12 field goals, and 20-of-23 extra points ... Was 3-of-4 from 30-39 yards, and 3-of-4 from 40-49 yards ... Was good on 3-of-3 FG attempts in a 21-10 win over Temple, including a 48-yarder ... Earned BIG EAST "Special Teams Player of the Week" honors for his efforts in the Temple game ... Converted a 51-yard field goal in the victory at Navy, a crucial 3rd quarter kick which cleared the uprights by 10 yards.

Scholastic/Personal: Helped Oak Ridge Military (NC) to a 6-2 record ... Made 4 of 6 field goal attempts, including a career-long 54-yarder ... Converted 25 of 28 PATs ... Owns both the Florida and North Carolina prep records with field goals of 58 and 54 yards, respectively ... His kickoffs resulted in 33 touchbacks in 41 attempts and he averaged 42.3 yards/punt ... Considered one of the top kickers in the Orlando area in his junior year ... Recruited by Colorado, Tulane and Central Florida ... Born 4/29/80.

Darian Barnes

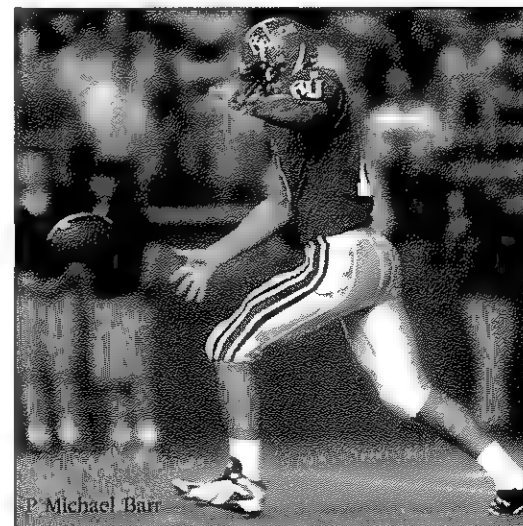

33
Running Back
Toms River North HS
Toms River, NJ

Hard-nosed runner ... Punishing blocker ... Has outstanding size and strength ... Will vie for playing time at fullback and on special teams ... Did not participate in spring drills so that he could concentrate on academics.

In 1999: Used primarily as a blocking back ... Also saw extensive time on special teams ... Saw action in all 11 games ... Has 20 carries for 50 yards with a long gain of eight yards.

In 1998: Sat out the 1998 season.

Scholastic/Personal: Second-team All-State selection by the Star-Ledger following outstanding senior season ... Also named first-team All-Group 4 ... Was second-team All-Shore choice by the Asbury Park Press, as well as first-team Class-A South ... First-team All-County as fullback by Star-Ledger ... Carried 148 times for 1,163 yards and 15 TDS in just eight games in 1997 ... Toms River North was 9-2 and won state title behind Barnes ... Rated as the No. 4 fullback in the state by the McCarthy Report ... Ranked among top 22 running backs in the region by PrepStar Magazine ... Chose Rutgers over Miami, NC State, Ohio State and SMU ... Born 2/28/80.

Punter
So./3 - 6-3 - 235
Brookville HS
Lynchburg, VA

Heir apparent to step in for the graduated Charlie Titus as the Scarlet Knights' No. 1 punter ... Has a strong leg and the ability to be an outstanding punter ... Tough and athletic performer who will only get better with experience ... Terrific athlete with great size ... Got a look at tight end in spring of 1999 because of his size and running ability ... Also saw limited practice time at linebacker during 1998 season.

In 1999: Sat out last season as a red-shirt, working alongside Titus in practice.

In 1998: Saw action as a true freshman in 1998 when he was pressed into service when Titus suffered a broken jaw vs. Boston College ... Came through under fire, punting the ball 17 times for a solid 39.5 yard average with a career-long 49 ... A mid-year enrollee in 1998, took part in all of the spring practice period ... Spent 1997 at home taking classes at a local junior college and punting on his own.

Scholastic/Personal: Averaged 43 yards per punt for a 12-2 Brookville team in 1996 and earned second-team all-state honors by AP and Coaches Association ... Had a career long punt of 63 yards ... Also played on the offensive line and at linebacker as well as handling place kicking chores ... Intercepted two passes and scored two defensive TDs ... Second on the team in tackles with 90 ... Team won Seminole District and Region 3 titles and advanced to Group AA, Division 3 title game ... Born 12/8/78.

Linebacker

So./3 - 6-2 - 210

Shenendoah HS

Shenendoah, PA

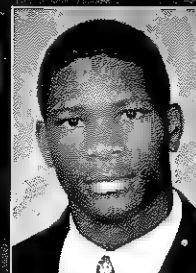

Should be in the hunt for significant time at the "Sam" linebacker spot ... One of the many Scarlet Knights who suffered a severe injury in the 1999 season ... Recovering from a torn ACL sustained in the final game of the season at Miami, and was sidelined during the Spring Practice 2000.

In 1999: Was primary backup to Dax Strohmeier at the "Sam" linebacker position, logging 270 plays on the season ... Saw action in all 11 games and logged starts vs. Wake Forest and Virginia Tech in place of an injured Strohmeier ... Gained third career (start as strong safety) in the season finale vs. Miami ... Recorded 31 tackles on the season, 19 unassisted and 12 solo ... Forced two fumbles ... Made a hustling, athletic play vs. Virginia Tech, stripping the ball and then recovering the fumble ... Earned 12th Man Award for his efforts vs. Boston College and Syracuse.

Scholastic/Personal: Starred at both cornerback and running back in high school where he was one of his region's most dominant players ... Was a first-team All-League and All-County selection ... Earned second-team All-State honors as a running back ... Had nine interceptions as a senior from his cornerback spot ... Also rushed for 1,937 yards in 12 games (161 yards per game average) ... Played baseball and basketball in high school ... Born 6/30/80.

KNIGHT KNOTES...

Despite suffering a broken bone in his hand midway through the 1999 campaign, cornerback Tony Berry started all 11 contests for the Scarlet Knights last season.

Rome Free Academy

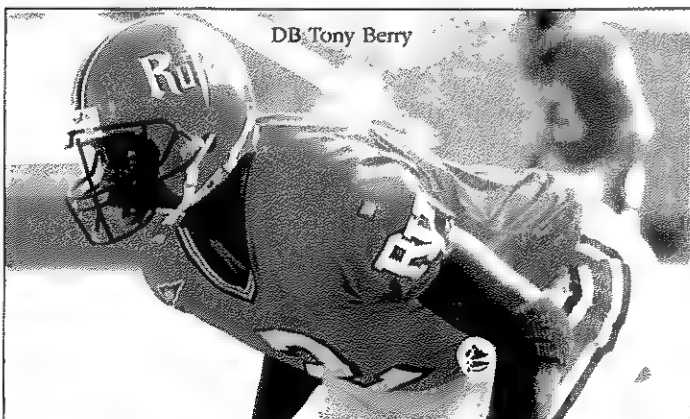

Rome, NY

Tremendous athlete, who was widely-recruited ... Excellent size and speed with an innate ability to cover receivers ... Has very quick feet ... Excellent man-coverage ability ... Possesses keen ball reaction skills, back pedals well and plays the position with tremendous range ... Will be the starter at one of the cornerback spots.

In 1999: Proved to be a productive and durable cover man ... Played several games with a cast on his right hand to protect broken hand ... Started all 11 games ... Was eighth on the team in tackles with 59 (45 solo, 14 assisted) ... Was credited with nine pass break ups, second on the team ... Had two tackles for minus six yards in losses ... Recovered one fumble.

In 1998: Arrived in August ... Sat out the 1998 season to concentrate on academics but was able to practice with the team all season.

Scholastic/Personal: Played for the New York team in the Governor's Bowl at Rutgers Stadium in July, 1998 ... Also played wide receiver ... Highly-accomplished scholastic track athlete, who set school records in the 55-meter dash with a time of 6.3 seconds ... Originally hails from Augusta, GA ... Born 9/20/80.

HEAD COACH

TERRY SHEA

In year three, the vision that Terry Shea brought to Rutgers football upon his hiring on December 20, 1995, began to bear fruit. After two years of planting seeds, the finished product began to emerge in 1998 when the Scarlet Knights orchestrated the second-biggest one-year turnaround in NCAA Division I-A football. In early December of that year, more good news was sent the Scarlet Knights' way with the word that Shea had been named 1998 BIG EAST Coach of the Year. His peers, his fellow BIG EAST coaches, had recognized the masterful job he and his staff were doing. The 24th head football coach in Rutgers history, Shea embarked on year four with cause for optimism and hope.

The 1999 season - year four - started off on an injury-plagued note and the injuries just kept mounting and mounting. In July, starting defensive lineman Marcus Perry was lost for a large part of the season due to a torn pectoral muscle incurred while lifting weights. The Perry injury served as a harbinger of things to come. On the opening day of pre-season camp, optimism was further tempered when defensive back Tarell Freeney, a pre-season honors candidate, was lost for the season due to a torn ACL.

By mid-season quarterback Mike McMahon, on pace to shatter several Rutgers passing records, fell victim to the injury bug as well, lost for the season with an injured right shoulder suffered while diving into the end zone for a touchdown vs. Virginia Tech. By the time November rolled around, a 0-9 Rutgers team was starting a true freshman at quarterback in Chad Schwenk, and first-year players and walk-ons dotted the two-deep on both sides of the ball. The season was spiraling, lost in a haze of crutches, splints and gauze.

Through it all, Shea kept his poise, his wits about him, and most importantly - his team together. For four hours in week 10, Shea's young charges slugged it out on even terms against traditional BIG EAST kingpin Syracuse at Rutgers Stadium. Schwenk led the Scarlet Knights on a courageous late fourth quarter drive that tied the game and forced overtime. When kicker Lee McDonald's field goal sailed through the uprights, Rutgers had itself an improbable 24-21 victory. After the game, an emotional Terry Shea whispered a short, poignant phrase - "To see a bunch of young guys fighting their hearts out, not giving up, not giving in - It's what you live for."

All told, over a dozen key Scarlet Knights were lost for a majority of the season, if not the entire season. "Forty percent of our projected starting lineup watched 90 percent of our season from the sidelines," Shea noted at one point of the campaign.

Not about to give up, not about to give in, Terry Shea enters year five steely-eyed and determined to rekindle the positive feelings that were born out of the turnaround 1998 season. He sees promise in the many players who were forced to take the field ahead of schedule in 1999. The 2000 team will take the field with more experience, more determination, and hopefully, more luck on its side.

"It takes courage to support a program where success appears at times so distant," says Shea. "My staff and I remain certain that we will reward the loyalty of our alumni and fans in developing not only a winning football program, but a program that will produce outstanding graduates of our University."

Towards that pledge, on national signing day in early February, Shea unveiled a 24-man recruiting class that boasts 12 players who hail from New Jersey and is a class that represents a balance of speed and power. "What I call "Jersey Power" represents the 12 New Jersey athletes from the 24 we have gotten commitments from. That is the most we have signed from New Jersey since we've been here," Shea emphatically told the press. "For these players to decide to stay close to home, to play close to home and to play for the Scarlet Knights, we are extremely excited about that."

These players have decided to play for Terry Shea, and are eager to display their talents for a coach who has been recognized as Coach of the Year on both ends of the continent. While 1998 marked the first time a Rutgers football coach had received BIG EAST honors, it was not the first time Shea had received a conference "Coach of the Year" award. Shea was honored as the Big West's "Coach of the Year" in 1990 after guiding San Jose State to a 9-2-1 record, the Conference championship, and a victory in the California Raisin Bowl. Shea was also named national Coach of the Year following the 1990 campaign by Pro Football Weekly.

"The Rutgers coaching staff is an asset, and if you're not taking advantage of what they have to offer the state and us coaches, you're making a mistake. A good portion of our success is from Terry's help. We've gone from a grind it, throw-it-a-couple times offense to a more high-tech, wide-open scheme. A good portion of what we do is Terry Shea, Bill Walsh, Rutgers."

-Fred Stengel, Head Football Coach, Bergen Catholic High School

Shea, 54 (born June 12, 1946), a former head coach at San Jose State and associate head coach at Stanford, is known for his innovative and creative offensive coaching and teaching ideas, particularly with quarterbacks within a multiple set offense. From 1990-91, he led San Jose State to a 15-6-2 record that included a 9-2-1 mark in his first year and a Big West Conference Championship, a California Raisin Bowl victory and national recognition in two wire service polls (20th by UPI and 26th by Associated Press). For that stellar season, he was named Big West Coach of the Year by the league's coaches and the Pro Football Weekly National Coach of the Year. He also served as an assistant coach for the West team in the East-West Shrine Game in 1990.

COACH SHEA'S PHILOSOPHY

I. I want all my players to leave our program as better players, better leaders, and most importantly, as better men.

II. Practice is important because it allows us the opportunity to create a learning environment while simulating game-type conditions. The importance of productive and efficient practices conducted at a high intensity level is greatly undervalued by the casual observer. I have never coached a truly great player who has had poor practice habits.

III. Off season work-outs are essential to the success of any football program. Games in September to January are largely influenced by how your team performs between February and August.

IV. The best way a player can improve himself off the field is to maximize his college experience - to take advantage of all college life has to offer - academically, athletically, socially. It is important for a college player to strive for great balance in his life and to leave his college experience with a myriad of functional life skills.

V. Every great coach I've ever known has had the true passion and desire to help young people to learn, to grow, and ultimately, to succeed.

VI. The most important aspect of a great team is... ABSOLUTE LOYALTY... it's the essential value in our football program.

Shea is married to the former Susan Town of San Diego, CA, who owns a bachelor's degree from the University of Oregon and a master's degree in education from the University of Portland. They are the parents of three children: Jennifer (23), Garrett (22) and Daniel (18).

In 1990, Terry Shea was named Pro-Football Weekly's "National Coach of the Year"

QUARTERBACKS COACH/RECRUITING COORDINATOR

MARIO VERDUZCO

Entering his fifth season, Coach Shea appointed Mario Verduzco the Scarlet Knights' quarterbacks coach, after serving as the assistant QB coach since 1996. Verduzco will continue to work closely with Shea on the development and execution of the Scarlet Knight offense as well as all game day preparation and analysis. He will also continue as Shea's eyes in the booth and will continue to assist Shea in his analysis of play calling. In his tenure at Rutgers, Verduzco developed arguably the best Quarterback School in the country, where young men from around the country arrive 'On the Banks' in June to spend four days learning the art and science of quarterbacking. He will also continue to be the chief personnel evaluator and continue in his role coordinating the recruiting efforts for the Scarlet Knights.

Prior to his arrival at Rutgers, Verduzco was the head football coach, offensive coordinator, and quarterback/receiver coach at De Anza Community College in Cupertino, CA from 1994-95. He previously served as the assistant head coach with the same coaching duties at De Anza from 1991 to 1994.

Verduzco began his coaching career as the secondary coach at Soquel High School in 1978 before assuming the duties of defensive coordinator in 1979 and the offensive coordinator/quarterback/receiver coach from 1982 through 1986. He was also the offensive coordinator and quarterback/receiver coach at Gavilan Community College from 1987-88. Verduzco has had a passion for coaching quarterbacks and has been doing so since 1979 - his first quarterback at De Anza CC smashed all of the school's passing records, and his 1995 freshman quarterback tied a California Community College single-game completion record with 41 completions. The cousin of former Illinois and British Columbia record-setting quarterback Jason Verduzco, and uncle of former Yale quarterback Bobby Verduzco, he graduated from San Jose State with a degree in Physical Education and a minor in Biological Sciences in 1988. He is a member of the Phi Kappa Epsilon Physical Education honor society, and earned his California Teaching credential while completing his Master's degree in Biomechanics and Exercise Physiology. His book "The Biomechanics of the Quarterback Position: An Integrative Approach" is an in-depth study of the requisite physical and mental skills a quarterback must possess to function in a pass-oriented offensive structure, and also details training methodology.

Verduzco was born and raised in the San Francisco Bay area and has close ties to the San Joaquin Valley in California as well as the California Central Coast. He and his wife, Cathy, have a five-year old son, Charles.

ASSOCIATE HEAD COACH/DEFENSIVE LINE

ROD SHARPLESS

Rod Sharpless is in his fifth campaign with the Scarlet Knights. He serves as associate head coach and will take on the responsibilities of defensive line coach after having coached the inside linebackers the previous four seasons. He also served as the defensive coordinator for the Knights in 1996 and 1997.

In 1995, he served as the co-coordinator for the nationally-ranked defense of BIG EAST Champion Virginia Tech.

"Rod is the kind of coach who fits our program of molding young men to perform at their highest potential on and off the field," head coach Terry Shea said. "Rod's experience in recruiting and developing players from New Jersey benefits our Rutgers football program greatly."

Sharpless boasts a wealth of experience, having participated in 11 bowl games as either a player or a coach. In his three seasons at Virginia Tech (1993-95), the Hokies participated in three bowls and were the 1996 Sugar Bowl champions, with a 28-10 win over Texas. They won the 1993 Independence Bowl when he was the defensive line coach, and lost to Tennessee in the 1994 Gator Bowl when he served as outside linebackers coach. The 1995 Tech defensive unit was ranked first nationally against the rush, fifth in scoring defense and 10th in total defense with Sharpless working with the outside linebackers and rovers.

Sharpless earned a health and physical education degree from Maryland in 1975, where he was a three-year starter at both inside and outside linebacker for the Terrapins. The Terps were the 1974 Atlantic Coast Conference champions and he played in the 1974 Liberty Bowl and the 1973 Peach Bowl. He holds a master's degree in education from Bowie (MD), completed in 1981.

Prior to his tenure at Virginia Tech, he served as the defensive line coach at Cornell. In the summer of 1993, he worked with the Buffalo Bills as the defensive line coach on the Ralph C.

Wilson, Jr. Coaches Fellowship. He also worked with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers' defensive line in the summer of 1989 on the Hugh Culverhouse Coaches Fellowship.

Sharpless entered the coaching ranks at Willingboro (NJ) HS, coaching from 1975-77. At Willingboro, he also coached track and worked with Olympic champion Carl Lewis. He returned to his collegiate alma mater, Maryland, serving as outside linebackers coach from 1977 to 1980. During that time, the Terps played in the 1977 Hall of Fame Bowl, 1978 Sun Bowl, and 1980 Tangerine Bowl.

After serving the 1981 season as outside linebackers coach at Richmond, Sharpless became the defensive line coach at Kentucky. He served in this capacity from 1982-1989, and helped lead the Wildcats to appearances in the 1983 and 1984 Hall of Fame Bowl. Sharpless returned to Maryland as wide receivers coach from 1990-91, helping the team to an appearance in the 1990 Independence Bowl.

A native of Jacksonville, NC, he served in the United States Air Force from 1971-72 before entering Maryland. He is married to the former Linda DiColo, a native of Mercerville, NJ and they have a lovely nine-year old daughter, Victoria.

DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR/OUTSIDE LINEBACKERS

DENNIS CREEHAN

Dennis Creehan, a Pennsylvania native who has served as head coach at South Dakota, San Francisco State and Edinboro (PA), has 25 years of college coaching experience. He was named the defensive coordinator for the Scarlet Knights following the 1997 season.

"I am very pleased to have Dennis on our staff," Shea said. "He brings a winning background and a wealth of football knowledge to our program. His experience speaks volumes about his dedication, teaching and leadership abilities. We have already seen his background as a head coach bring another dimension of maturity to our Scarlet Knight staff."

Creehan, 51, (born August 16, 1949), will coach the outside linebackers along with his coordinator duties. He was the outside linebackers coach at the University of California from 1987-89 when Terry Shea served as offensive coordinator. While at Cal, he tutored the Phoenix Cardinals No.1 draft choice Ken Harvey, who as a collegian, was the MVP in both the East-West Shrine Game and the Senior Bowl in 1988. In 1997, Creehan was the defensive coordinator at Arkansas State, which improved greatly over the course of the year to the point that, in the season finale, they held their opponent to just 180 total yards and six points.

In his 12 seasons as a head coach, Creehan compiled a 71-55-1 record. He was the 1993 North Central Conference Coach of Year recipient at South Dakota. In his five seasons (1992-96) in Vermillion, South Dakota was 28-27, including an 8-3 mark in 1995 and a 6-5 finish in 1996, with a win over eventual national champion Northern Colorado. The program was 2-9 in his first year and 26-16 in his last four.

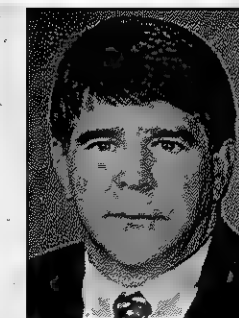

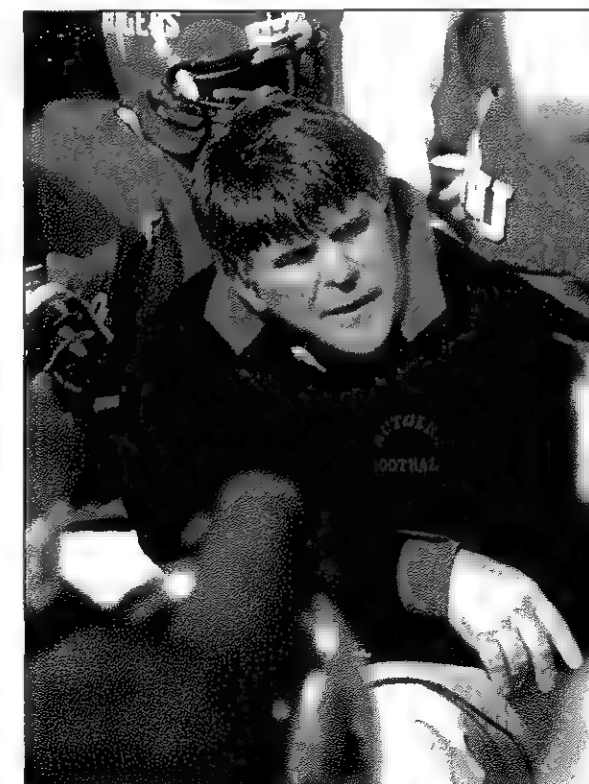

In 1990-91, he was the head coach/assistant athletic director at San Francisco State and the team compiled its most wins in 10 seasons and set 12 school and conference records. From 1985-87 and from 1991-92, he was the defensive line coach and special teams coordinator for the Edmonton Eskimos of the Canadian Football League. In that time, the Eskimos were 35-16 and won two conference titles (1986 and 1991) and appeared in the Grey Cup (1986). In 1986, Edmonton was 15-5-1 for the best mark in the CFL. The Eskimos led the CFL in rushing defense in 1985, 1986 and 1991.

From 1979-84, he was the head coach at Edinboro and compiled a 39-20-1 for a school-best .658 winning percentage and he won three conference Coach of the Year awards. The team's 25-5 mark from 1982-84 made the Scots the winningest program in the East during that time. During his tenure, Edinboro set more than 50 conference and school records and four of his teams were nationally-ranked. The 1984 squad was the co-champion of the western division with an 8-2 mark. The 1983 team was the No. 2 offense in Division II and finished 8-2, finishing second in the conference. His 1982 mark of 9-1 made the team division titlists. From 1975-79, he served as the defensive coordinator at Edinboro and was also the baseball coach in 1979.

Prior to his time at Edinboro, Creehan served as the offensive coordinator under head coach Chuck Klausing at Carnegie Mellon in 1975. Klausing was a member of the Rutgers staff in 1960. In 1974, he was the tight ends coach and recruiting coordinator for Johnny Majors at Pittsburgh. He began his coaching career (1971-74) at Keystone Oaks HS in Pittsburgh, where he served as offensive and defensive coordinator and coached wrestling and baseball.

After winning numerous football awards for his play at Bethel Park HS, he started three seasons (1968-70) at strong safety at Edinboro. The team captain, he won first-team all-ECAC honors and first-team all-state laurels from both AP and UPI in 1970, when the Scots won the Lambert Bowl as the East's best team.

An author (The Wing-T: From A to Z) and an in-demand clinic speaker, he holds an education degree from Edinboro (1971) and Master's degrees from Duquesne (1973) and Pittsburgh (1977). He and his wife, Linda, have two sons - Kevin and Casey.

PASS GAME COORDINATOR/WIDE RECEIVERS/TIGHT ENDS

JIM BENEDICT

Jim Benedict, who earned first-team Associated Press All-East honors as a wide receiver at Rutgers and has over 20 years of high school experience in New Jersey, serves as wide receivers coach. In 2000, Benedict takes on the duties of pass game coordinator and coaching the tight ends, in addition to his wide receiver coaching responsibilities.

Benedict, 53 (born August 24, 1947), was a two-year letterwinner under Scarlet coach John Bateman in 1968 and 1969 when the Knights were 8-2 and 6-3, respectively. A native of New Jersey, who attended Governor Livingston HS in Berkeley Heights, NJ, he led Rutgers in receiving in 1969 with a school-record 48 receptions (in just nine games) for 650 yards and three TDs. The receptions record stood for 12 years. In 1968, he grabbed 19 passes for 315 yards and four TDs. Benedict, who sat out the 1967 season after transferring from VMI with QB Rich Policastro, had two-year career totals of 67 catches for 965 yards and seven TDs.

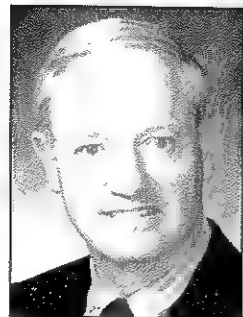

Benedict was the head coach at Westfield HS for the 1994 and 1995 seasons. He was the head coach at West Essex HS in 1986, followed by a seven-year run of success as the head coach at Summit HS. Summit won two state titles -- 1988 and 1993 -- under Benedict's direction and compiled a record of 49-22. The team reached the state finals three times and advanced to the playoffs five times in Benedict's tenure. During that time, he won Watchung Conference and Union County Coach of the Year honors in 1988. He also won Suburban News Coach of the Year honors in 1989, 1992, and 1993.

"Jim Benedict's history of success in working with the high school players of New Jersey is a perfect fit for our program," says head coach Terry Shea. "Jim's experience as a high school head coach benefits the total development of the players in the Rutgers football program."

He brings collegiate coaching experience as well, having served as an assistant at Columbia from 1982-85, working with the receivers, secondary and freshman teams. His first collegiate job was a graduate assistant, coaching the wide receivers, at Rutgers during the 1974 season.

Benedict, who has coached in the North-South All-Star game in 1979 and 1989 (secondary) and 1994 (defensive coordinator), worked under New Jersey veteran head coach, the late Lou Rettino, at Union HS from 1977-81 when the school won two state championships.

Benedict earned an undergraduate degree in physical education from Rutgers in 1971. A resident of Highland Park, Benedict has two sons; Sean, 15, and Brian, 21, who will be a senior at Rutgers in 2000, majoring in finance.

SPECIAL TEAMS/SAFETIES

MIKE GIBSON

A veteran coach and recruiter in the East, Mike Gibson handles the special teams and now has the responsibilities of safeties for the Scarlet Knights in 2000. Last season, Gibson was responsible for coaching the tight ends, including honors candidate L.J. Smith. In 1997, he was a catalyst in the development of Rutgers' All-BIG EAST punter, Jared Slovan. Last season, he helped develop Dennis Thomas into one of BIG EAST's top kickoff return men.

In 1999, Thomas' 726 kickoff return yards was the second-highest in school history. During Gibson's four-year tenure as special teams coach, he has helped seven players earn BIG EAST "Special Teams Player of the Week" accolades. He has also coached three All-BIG EAST performers during his time at Rutgers.

Gibson 44, (born January 22, 1956) served as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Colgate (1993-95). His first experience in the BIG EAST was when he was offensive line coach at Temple (1992) as well as special teams and tight ends coach (1989-92). Prior to his appointment at Temple, he served as recruiting coordinator and director of football operations at Rice (1988-89).

"Mike is an outstanding major college recruiter in the East," says head coach Terry Shea. "Add his years of experience in coordinating special teams play on the college level and, I find that Mike has been a perfect fit for our coaching staff. Our special teams units were solid last year and will continue to improve under Mike's leadership."

For six seasons he worked at Boston University (1982-87). From 1986-87, he was the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach and before that coached running backs and served as recruiting coordinator from 1982-85. For three seasons (1979-81) prior to working with the Terriers, he was head freshman coach and recruiting coordinator at Cornell. He began his coaching career at his alma mater, Western Maryland, in 1978 as the assistant offensive line coach and special teams coach.

A three-year starter for the Green Terror, he earned all-conference honors as a center in his senior year. A native of Silver Springs, MD, he was a four-year starter at center and linebacker at Northwood HS. He holds a B.A. in political science/education from Western Maryland in 1978.

A fitness enthusiast who enjoys running, weightlifting and golfing, Gibson and his wife, Melody are the proud parents of daughter Debbi and son-in-law Pat.

RUN GAME COORDINATOR/OFFENSIVE LINE

BILL LAVERONI

The exciting and innovative offensive system that Terry Shea has implemented at Rutgers requires coaches who have experience with the system. The offensive line features agile, explosive athletes who are quick on their feet. In his career, Bill Laveroni has recruited and tutored many of these type of linemen. The duties of running game coordinator were added in 1998, and paid almost immediate dividends as the RU ground game featured one of the top ground attacks in the BIG EAST.

He has coached numerous offensive linemen who have entered the NFL, including Harvey Salem (Detroit Lions), Keith Kartz (Denver Broncos), Doug Riesenber (NY Giants), and Troy Auzenne (Chicago Bears). His most recent success story is that of Shaun O'Hara, who came to Rutgers in 1995 as a walk-on and left as an All-BIG EAST First Team member and a free agent with the Cleveland Browns.

Laveroni, who worked with the offensive line in Shea's tenure at San Jose State, coached the offensive and defensive line at the professional level for the San Jose Sabercats of the Arena Football League in 1995.

"Bill is an outstanding coach," says Terry Shea. "He is very intense, and is an extremely focused individual. He completely understands what I am looking for in offensive line play. I am excited that Bill is on our staff."

From 1990-94, he worked at San Jose State as the offensive line coach and had duties with special teams from 1990-92. He holds an undergraduate degree from the University of California in criminology (1970) and he earned his teaching credential in the master's program at the University of San Francisco.

A three-year starting center for the University of California (1967-69), he began his coaching career at his alma mater, handling the freshman team in 1970. The following year, he joined the University of San Francisco coaching staff.

From 1972-76, he was an assistant coach at San Francisco's St. Ignatius HS and he was head coach at Piedmont (CA) HS in 1977.

He returned to the University of California in 1978 to coach linebackers and tight ends and worked at Utah State from 1979-82 as the linebackers and offensive line coach, where Shea was the offensive coordinator in 1982-83.

From 1983-89, he worked his second stint at California, coaching the offensive line. He overlapped with Shea again for three years (1987-89) when the RU head coach was the offensive coordinator at Berkeley.

Laveroni, 52, (born July 20, 1948) and his wife Patty are the proud parents of a son, Anthony Edward, who celebrated his second birthday in early August.

RUNNING BACKS

SHAWN SIMMS

For the 2000 season, Shawn Simms has joined the Rutgers University football staff as running backs coach. Simms comes to Rutgers after five years at Big Ten Conference programs Ohio State and Illinois.

"We're excited to add a coach of Shawn's caliber to our staff. He brings a wealth of experience and enthusiasm to our program," Shea said. "Shawn has an impressive background, and has demonstrated great success in coaching running backs, and comes to us highly recommended."

Simms was an assistant at Ohio State for the past three seasons, where he coached the defensive ends, and also worked with the PAT and field goal units. Prior to his stint with the Buckeyes, Simms served as running backs coach for two seasons at Illinois.

While at Illinois, he coached Robert Holcombe, presently the starting fullback with the Super Bowl champion St. Louis Rams. Holcombe holds the Fighting Illini record for rushing yardage in a season (1,281) and in a single game (315).

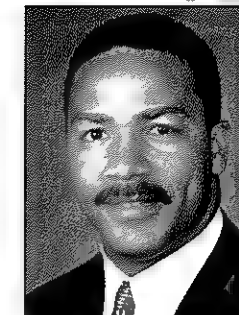

Simms also served as running backs coach at the University of Toledo from 1991-95. While at Toledo, he coached a pair of All-Mid American Conference backs, Wasean Tait and Casey McBeth, the top two rushers in Rockets history. In Simms' last year at Toledo, Tait and McBeth combined for over 2,000 yards on the ground. In his final three seasons at Toledo, he was on the same staff as Dave Steckel, currently inside linebackers coach at Rutgers.

The 37-year-old Simms began his coaching career in 1985 at Heidelberg College (Ohio), where he was linebacker coach and defensive backs coach while finishing his undergraduate studies at Bowling Green. Simms was a graduate assistant at San Diego State for two seasons, before returning to Ohio to serve as running backs coach at Oberlin College in 1988-89. Simms was outside linebackers coach at Miami (Ohio) from 1989-91, before moving on to Toledo.

Originally from Fremont, Ohio, Simms played four years of varsity football at Bowling Green, where he was an All-Conference linebacker. He received his bachelor's degree in 1986, and also studied in San Diego State's masters program. Simms characterizes himself as a coach who is "detail oriented, and stresses fundamentals."

"I'm really looking forward to working with the players and staff here at Rutgers," Simms said. "I want to get our running backs to play at the highest level, on a consistent basis, and I want our guys to be 'complete' running backs, not just those who excel carrying the ball, or catching the ball."

Simms currently resides in Belle Mead, NJ with his wife Victoria and their three year-old son Tré Austin.

DAVE STECKEL

Dave Steckel is now in his fifth season with the Scarlet Knights. After coaching the defensive line for four years, Steckel will now coach the inside linebackers.

He came to Rutgers from Toledo, which boasted the nation's 12th-ranked defense in 1995.

"Dave brings an outstanding winning attitude to our team with his thorough coaching and enthusiastic motivation of our defensive front," said head coach Terry Shea. "He has a strong reputation for being a fierce motivator and an intense defensive line coach. With these traits, he's a perfect fit to our defensive staff."

Steckel, 42 (born October 25, 1957), was the defensive line coach for the Rockets from 1992-95, a period which includes their historic 41-37 overtime win over Nevada in the Las Vegas Bowl in 1995. During his time at Toledo, he coached NFL 1st-round draft pick Dan Williams, a three-time Mid-American Conference choice, as well as a total of six All-Conference picks.

Prior to his stint at Toledo, he worked four seasons (1988-91) at Lehigh, including two years as linebackers and special teams coach and two years as defensive line coach. In 1986 and 1987, he served as assistant head coach and offensive coordinator at Dickinson, where the team rose from last place to conference runner-up in two seasons.

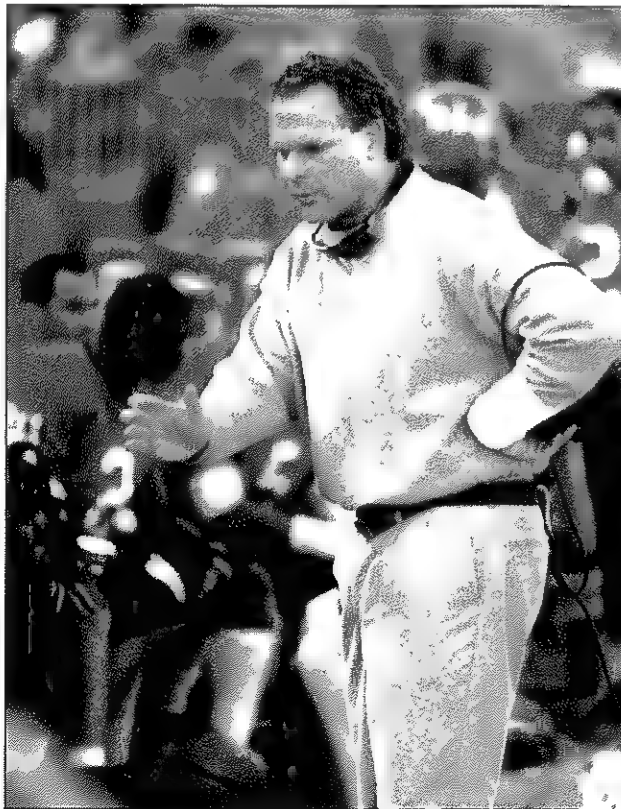

A native of Fullerton, PA where he attended Whitehall-Coply HS, Steckel graduated from Kutztown in 1982 with a degree in elementary education. He earned a master's in physical education from Miami (OH) in 1984.

In 1985, he served as a graduate assistant defensive line coach at Minnesota under Lou Holtz. The previous year, he coached at Ball State as a defensive line specialist. His first collegiate coaching job was as a defensive backs graduate assistant at Miami (OH) in 1983.

In 1982, he was the defensive coordinator and offensive line coach at Governor Mifflin HS in Schillington, PA. His coaching career began in the spring of 1982, when he served as a student assistant at Kutztown, working primarily with the offensive line.

After a three-year period of service with the Marine Corps (1975-78), he was discharged with the rank of corporal. He taught physical education at Dickinson in 1986-87 and at Ball State from 1984-85.

"Stec" and his wife, Mary Beth, have a nine-year old daughter, Amanda.

CHARLIE WEST

Charlie West, who has 36 years experience as a college and NFL player and coach, is in his fourth year working with the Rutgers secondary. In 2000, West will serve as the cornerbacks coach for the Scarlet Knights.

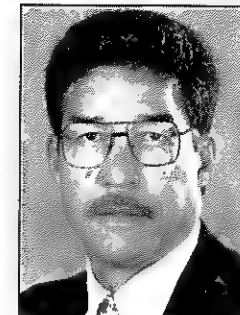

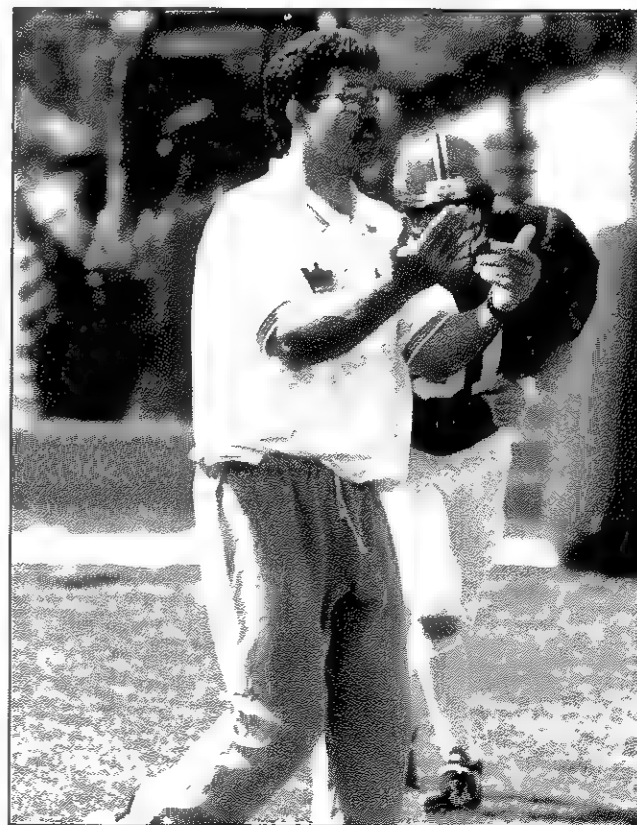

West, 54 (born August 31, 1946 in Terrell, TX), first gained experience in the BIG EAST as the defensive backs coach at Syracuse in 1994-95. He has served as the defensive backs coach for two NFL teams -- the New England Patriots (1991-92) and the Denver Broncos (1983-88). With West on staff, the Broncos appeared in two Super Bowls (1987 and 1988), won two American Conference titles and three Division Championships as well as gaining one wild card playoff berth. All-Pro's Louis Wright and Dennis Smith played under West's tutelage.

West's collegiate coaching experience includes one season as defensive coordinator and linebackers coach at Howard University in 1989, where the Bison finished second in the conference and were ranked first in the nation in total defense and in scoring defense, third in passing defense and seventh in rushing defense in Division I-AA. He also worked as an outside linebackers and specials teams coach at California in 1982. He served as defensive backs coach at Macalester College in St. Paul, MN in 1981 (his first coaching experience).

He lettered as a defensive back at Texas-El Paso from 1965-67. He still holds the school record for most career interceptions (19), most INTs in a season (11 in 1966) and most in a game (4). After graduating from UTEP in 1968, West began a 12-year NFL career.

From 1968-73, he was a cornerback and return specialist for Bud Grant's Minnesota Vikings, who played in two Super Bowls (IV in 1970 & VIII in 1973) and won two NFC titles and five Division crowns. From 1974-77, he was a strong safety and special teams performer for the Detroit Lions. He finished his NFL career with two seasons (1978-79) as a strong/free safety and special teams player for the Denver Broncos as they won one Division title and added a wild card playoff berth.

"Charlie is an intense coach," said head coach Terry Shea. "He pays full attention to every detail and every facet of defensive backfield play. He has been a winner at every level of football."

FOOTBALL OPERATIONS

REGGIE SIMS

Reggie Sims, who served for two seasons as a graduate assistant in the football office, is now in his fifth season as the Administrative Assistant to the athletic director with major responsibilities in football.

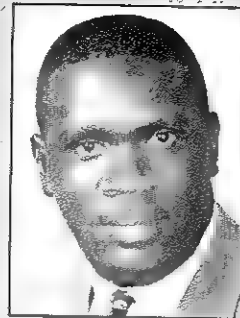

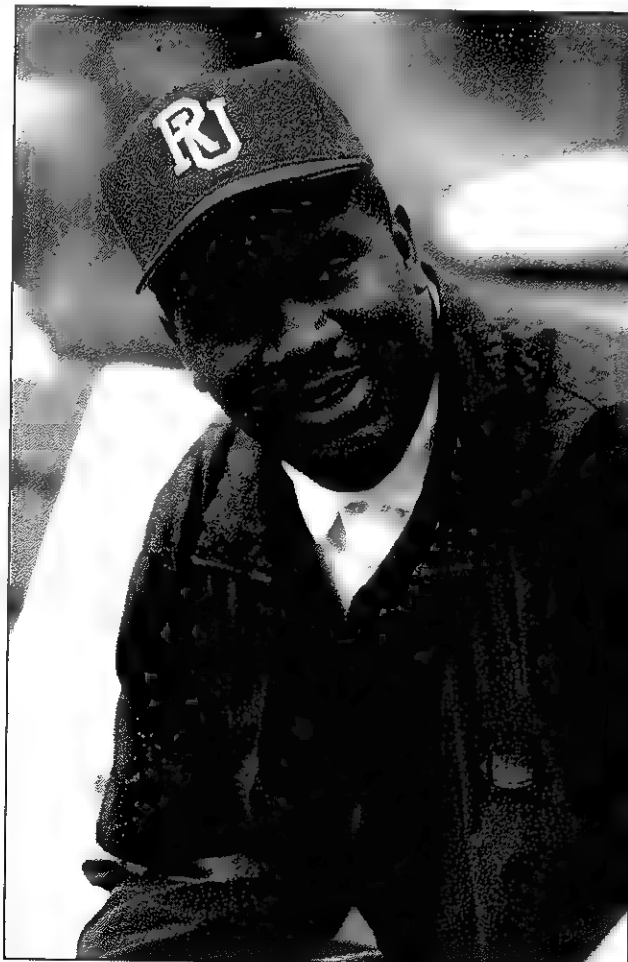

Sims' responsibilities include serving as game and travel liaison, and coordinating clinics and coaches conventions, in addition to assisting in a variety of other day-to-day administrative duties.

Sims is a 1989 graduate of Ashland (Ohio), where he was a three-year football letterwinner as an outside linebacker and tight end. While at Ashland, he played on teams that won two Heartland Conference Championships. In 1988, his team went to the Division II playoffs, and finished eighth in the nation.

He assumed his duties as Assistant to the Director/ Football Operations in March, 1995, after serving two seasons as a graduate assistant coach within the Rutgers football program. Sims serves as the chief aide in the day-to-day, off-field operation and has various responsibilities both in the football program and in other operations.

Sims previously served as an assistant coach at Freehold Township HS for four years, including a stint as defensive coordinator. Prior to that, he was involved in all facets of the Freehold program, serving as defensive line coach, linebacker coach, assistant offensive line coach, wide receivers coach and secondary coach.

A resident of Jackson, NJ, the 33-year old Sims (born May 27, 1967) and his wife Delilah are the parents of three lovely daughters, 11-year old Chamara, a three-year old Cydney and Cierra, who turned one in June.

STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING

SKIP FULLER

Skip Fuller is in his eighth season as the director of strength and conditioning for the Rutgers University football program. The 33-year old (born January 4, 1967) Fuller was named to the position in August, 1993.

Under Fuller's guidance, this year's edition of the Scarlet Knights again enjoyed one of the most productive off-season workout programs in his tenure. Seven Scarlet Knights can now bench press over 400 pounds, while 14 others can bench 350 pounds or more.

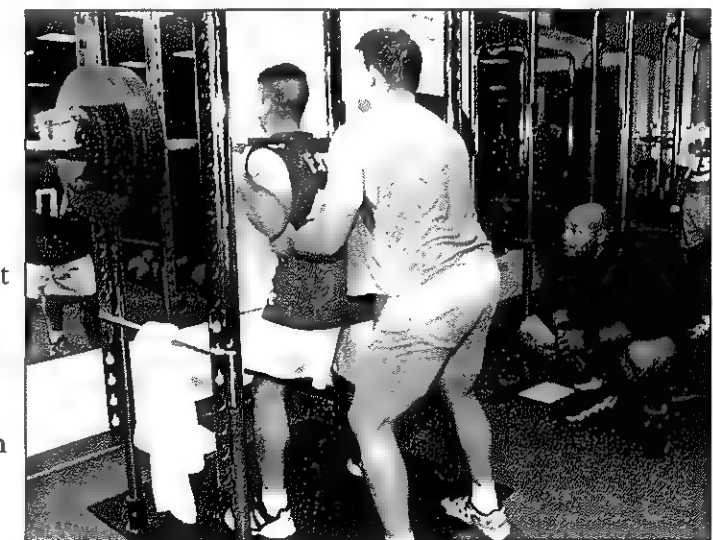

Fuller joined the Rutgers program in 1990 as a graduate assistant football coach, working for two seasons with the defensive and offensive lines and coordinating the offensive scout team. Following Fuller's first two years at Rutgers, he taught physical education at Elizabeth High School and joined his former scholastic coach, Jerry Moore, as an assistant coach. He worked with both lines and supervised the strength and conditioning program for the Minutemen. He then returned to Rutgers in 1993.

Fuller is a 1990 graduate of West Virginia, where he earned three letters as a defensive lineman for the Mountaineers. In 1989, he claimed the Highest Mountaineer Award, given to an unsung offensive and defensive lineman each year.

Another New Jersey bred staff member, Fuller was a tight end at Somerville High School and earned All-County, All-Area and All-Midstate Conference honors and played in the New Jersey North-South All-Star game at Rutgers Stadium.

A physical education and sports management major at West Virginia, Fuller and his wife, Lana, live in Somerset with their three-year old daughter Alayna.

SPEED ENHANCEMENT

MIKE JOHANSEN

Mike Johansen, CSCS, is now in his fifth season as the Rutgers' Speed Enhancement Coach. Rutgers head football coach Terry Shea has placed a major emphasis on developing speed, and Johansen is heading that charge. The 32-year old Johansen (born February 9, 1968) has been a member of the Scarlet Knight strength and conditioning staff since 1992.

Johansen's responsibilities include developing individualized off-season speed and conditioning programs, working year-round with athletes to improve speed, agility, and conditioning, as well as assisting with the strength program.

A 1992 graduate of Montclair State University, Johansen earned a degree in physical education, with an emphasis on adult fitness. He was certified a strength and conditioning coach through the National Strength and Conditioning Association in August, 1998. He is also a certified Club Coach by USA Weightlifting.

Johansen, who played high school baseball at Queen of Peace in North Arlington, grew up in Lyndhurst. He currently resides in Sayreville, NJ, with his wife Susan.

STRENGTH & CONDITIONING
JASON POETH

Jason Poeth is the newest member of the Scarlet Knight Strength and Conditioning staff, having come aboard in July, 1999. Poeth is a 1999 graduate of Messiah College (PA), having earned in a degree in sport and exercise science. He also completed a USA Weightlifting Club Coach Certification Course last spring.

Poeth served as assistant strength and conditioning coach at Bucknell University in spring, 1999. In that capacity, Poeth managed the student weight room, a responsibility that included staffing, equipment procurement, and assisting athletes in their workouts.

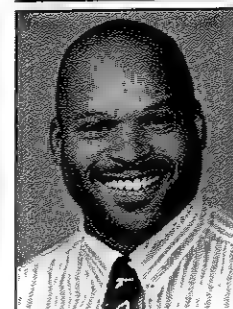

Poeth assisted in the creation of Bucknell's Student-Athlete Strength and Conditioning Manual. Poeth also completed an internship at Results Therapy & Fitness in Chambersburg, PA.

From September, 1997, to May, 1999, Poeth served as a fitness instructor at Alpha Racquetball & Fitness in Mechanicsburg, PA.

Poeth is a member of the National Strength and Conditioning Association, and is a member of the USA Weightlifting Federation. Poeth's background also includes serving as head soccer coach at his alma mater, the Meadowbrook Christian School (PA).

VIDEO SERVICES

CHRIS RHODES

The Rutgers football program is on the cutting edge of film and video technology and heading the Video Operations area is Chris Rhodes, a former standout cornerback at Rowan University. The 30-year old video coordinator is at the controls of a sophisticated and elaborate array of video equipment, housed in the Hale Center. Rhodes' ability to edit game and practice tape in a detailed and efficient manner makes him an invaluable preparation tool for the coaching staff.

The Rutgers football program possesses the Avid Digital Editing System, which is used in concert with state-of-the-art computers, enabling Rhodes and his five-person staff to quickly edit videotape which is shot at various locations on game day and during practice sessions.

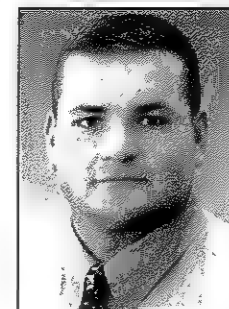

Rhodes is a 1995 graduate of Rowan College and also a graduate of nearby Piscataway High School. Prior to his July, 1996 arrival at Rutgers, Rhodes served as an administrative assistant with the NFL's Philadelphia Eagles (1993-94) and as the video coordinator for the London Monarchs of the WFLA (1995-96).

A top-flight video operation is an essential ingredient to a football team's on-field success. Rutgers Stadium is a model of state-of-the-art video capabilities, comparable to the NFL stadiums in Charlotte and Jacksonville. With the combination of Rhodes' expertise and the capability of the video facility within the Hale Center, Rutgers stands shoulder-to-shoulder with the best in college football.

"When I look through the lens of my camera and our team looks well-prepared, then I feel like I've done my job," says Rhodes.

RYAN CARFLEY

Carfley, from Ridgewood, NJ, was a four-year player at North Carolina (1995-99) and a starter at center in his junior and senior seasons. Carfley competed in four bowl games with the Tarheels, and was named team captain in his final season. He was a first-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference Academic Team selection in 1999-2000.

The 23-year-old Carfley played scholastically at Bergen Catholic High School in Oradell, and led the team to a 10-1 record as a senior. In his four seasons at Bergen Catholic, the Crusaders won three Parochial A titles and compiled a 41-3 record.

KEVIN KELLY

Kelly comes to Rutgers after two seasons as an assistant coach at the University at Stony Brook, where he served as running backs coach and defensive line coach. Kelly also assisted with special teams, and was responsible for Stony Brook's film system and computer breakdown, all while earning a master's degree.

The 24-year-old Kelly, originally from Hicksville, NY, where he attended Holy Trinity High School, was a four-year letter winner at Siena College as a defensive end and linebacker. Kelly was a two-time "Defensive Player of the Year" for the Saints and served as team captain as a senior.

"We are pleased to have Ryan and Kevin join our program. They are high energy individuals who will be major assets to our staff. Ryan and Kevin bring an element of leadership to their positions, as both served as captains of their college teams. That's a quality I appreciate tremendously."

-- Rutgers football head coach Terry Shea

SCARLET SPEED

PRINCIPLES:

1. SPEED REQUIRES SPEED - RUN FAST TO BE FAST.
2. TRAIN WITH PEOPLE OF COMPARABLE SPEED.
3. QUALITY IS MORE IMPORTANT THAN QUANTITY.

7 POINT SPRINT TECHNIQUE SYSTEM (2-2-3)

1. FOCUS: EYES HORIZONTAL AND LOOKING AT FINISH LINE
2. HEAD: NO TILT (SIDE TO SIDE OR FRONT TO BACK)
3. SHOULDER:
  - A. FIX: LOWER ARM 90 AT DEGREE ANGLE TO UPPER ARM
  - B. ROTATE: SWING AND FROM SHOULDER
  - C. PULL: ARM FROM CHEST-THROUGH HIP-PAST KNEE
  - D. THIN: ARMS CLOSE TO BODY-SAME PLANE AS SHOULDER
4. THUMB: PERPENDICULAR TO GROUND AT FULL SPEED
5. LEF:
  - A. PUNCH: FORWARD TO 90 DEGREE
  - B. HANG: LOWER LEG STRAIGHT DOWN
6. PLANT:
  - A. HEEL UP
  - B. TOES STRAIGHT
  - C. DIRECTLY UNDER HIP
7. EXTEND: LEG TO FULL EXTENSION (FLEXIBILITY)

ATHLETIC TRAINING STAFF

DR. ROBERT MONACO

Dedicated concern is the hallmark of the Sports Medicine, the Strength and Conditioning and the Athletic Training programs at The State University. Headed by a full-time physician, the staff has 10 full-time certified athletic trainers and more than two dozen student trainers. The staff is also assisted by orthopedic consultants, dentists and drug education counselors, in addition to many other branches of medical consultants.

Treatment and rehabilitation are done in one of four separate training rooms. The latest modalities for heat, cold, electrical stimulation and progressive resistance are available.

Computerized testing and many forms of aerobic conditioning apparatuses are also available so that the Sports Medicine Staff can tailor a specific program of rehabilitation for each individual.

With tireless work and cooperation between coaches, strength staff, consultants and sports medicine staff, the Rutgers athletes receive professional attention around the clock. These health care providers work year round to enable the athletes to return to their full potential with minimal chance of re-injury.

The Rutgers Sports Medicine staff provides full service health and medical care for all the athletes' needs from their first physical participation to their follow-up on bills for post-operative insurance questions. Dr. Robert Monaco, M.D., M.P.H., took over the position of Assistant Athletic Director and Director of Sports Medicine Services at Rutgers University in 1996. An All-Ivy wrestler at Columbia University from 1985 to 1987 and team captain as a senior, Monaco went on to receive his medical degree from the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, where he was a member of the Alpha Omega Alpha Honor Society, in 1992. The Office of Athletic Training Services falls under the direction of Don Kessler, who is entering his 13th season as Coordinator of the department.

Appointed in 1987, he came to Rutgers after having worked at Princeton University, the U.S. Naval Academy and Delran High School. Originally a member of the Rutgers Class of '69, Kessler received a BS degree from the University of the Ozarks in Arkansas and earned his Masters in Education from the University of Arkansas.

Kessler directs a staff of nine full-time assistants whose chief focus is on educating the student-athlete in correct health care practices.

Assisting Kessler with the football program is Eric Nussbaum, now in his third season as head trainer of the Scarlet Knights. Nussbaum is now in his 13th season working with the Scarlet Knight football team, including the last three as head football trainer.

Nussbaum joined the Rutgers program in 1987. He is a 1985 graduate of Millersville (PA) University, and also holds a Masters degree (1987) from the University of Virginia. Nussbaum, who received Rutgers' Presidential Award for Administrative Excellence in 1996, is member of the NATA Board of Certification.

Brent Unruh, who joined the athletic training staff in the summer of 1999, also works closely with the RU football program. Unruh came to Rutgers after two years as a graduate assistant trainer at Nebraska, where he worked closely with the Cornhuskers football program. Unruh was involved with all day-to-day activities at Nebraska, including prevention, evaluation, treatment, and rehabilitation/reconditioning of injuries. Unruh received his undergraduate degree from Kansas State ('95) and his Masters from Nebraska in May, 1999.

A fully-equipped exercise and strength training room covers 4,750 square feet of space and includes treatment and rehabilitative care area with the most modern of equipment. An X-ray room and a state-of-the-art immersion tank are special features of the room.

Rutgers athletics continues its relationship with a loyal and hard-working group of orthopedic doctors headed by Dr. Timothy Hosea and Dr. Michael Coyle. The following doctors also contribute heavily to the surgical and rehabilitative end of the Scarlet Knights who are injured: Dr. Joseph Leddy, Dr. Stephen Cook, Dr. Mark Butler, Dr. David Hardwood, Dr. Jeffrey Bechler, Dr. Charles Gatt, Dr. Stuart Levine and Dr. Donald Polakoff.

The State University also has its own Athletic Substance Abuse Program, which is a far-reaching program aimed at instructing administrators, staff and athletes. The program works closely with the university's Drug and Alcohol Education Program, headed by Dr. Robert Pandina.

OUR MISSION - "We will relentlessly pursue a Bowl Championship"

OUR STYLE - High Energy - Finish - Class

OUR DISCIPLINE - Fewest Penalties

OUR MOTTO - Absolute Loyalty

BIG EAST CONFERENCE

In 1991, the first season of BIG EAST football, the University of Miami captured a national championship. The decade ended with Virginia Tech competing in the national title game in the Nokia Sugar Bowl. In between, the league maintained its status as a national force, both on and off the field.

The BIG EAST Conference hit the ground running in 1991, gaining instant notice and credibility with its level of excellence on the field and its television and bowl relationships. The league continues on that path as it enters its 10th season.

Commissioner Michael Tranchese has led the development of BIG EAST football since its inception. The BIG EAST has been a charter member of each of the major bowl agreements with conferences, beginning with The Bowl Coalition in 1992 followed by The Bowl Alliance in '95. The Bowl Championship Series began in '98 and will continue this season.

On the field, a BIG EAST team has played for a claim of the national championship five times, including Virginia Tech's Sugar Bowl appearance this past January. League squads have played in 16 post-New Year's bowl games.

Television prominence has always been a staple of the BIG EAST. For football, the league established its own regional television package in 1991 before a game was played. The BIG EAST Television Network immediately was the largest regional college football network in the country.

In 1996, the BIG EAST began new broadcast deals with CBS and ESPN. CBS telecasts up to 12 games per year. ESPN and espn2 will carry at least 12 games each season. Both agreements, which run through 2000, will mean that CBS and ESPN will telecast a BIG EAST game virtually every week of the season. Beginning in 2001, the BIG EAST will begin new multi-year contracts with ABC and ESPN.

For the fifth straight year, ESPN Regional Television of Charlotte, N.C. will own telecasting rights for all telecasts not assigned to CBS or ESPN. ERT will produce and distribute additional games for a BIG EAST Game of the Week syndication, local markets and pay-per-view.

The BIG EAST has always assured itself of prestigious bowl invitations. The league champion will attend the Tostitos Fiesta, FedEx Orange, Nokia Sugar or Rose Bowls as part of its membership in the Bowl Championship Series.

The BIG EAST and the Toyota Gator Bowl have a multi-year pact, which allows the Gator Bowl to select a BIG EAST bowl-eligible team after the league's representative in the Bowl Championship Series has been determined.

The Insight.com Bowl is entering its third year as a partner with the BIG EAST. That bowl will have the third selection.

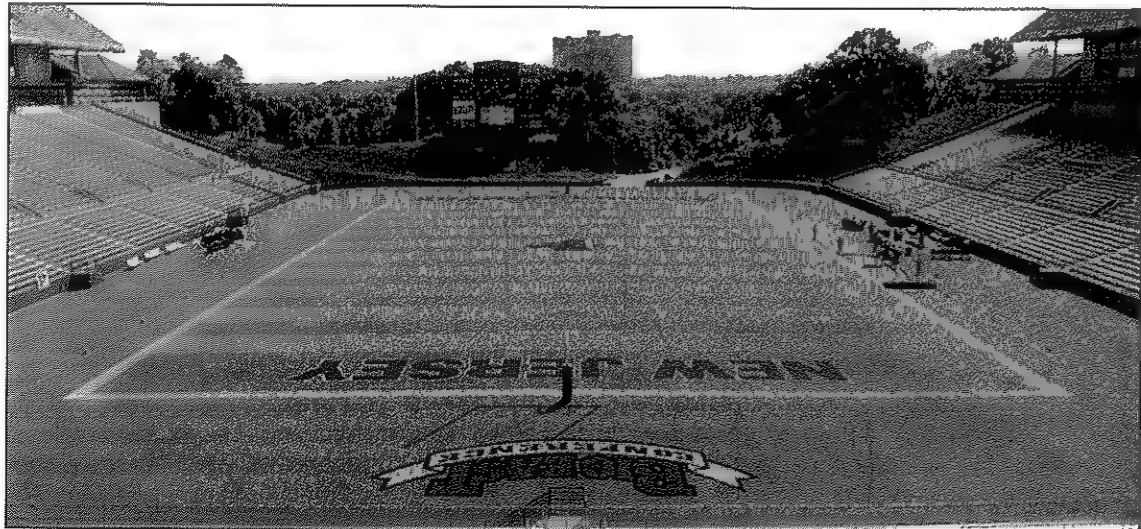

The conference also has an agreement with the HomePoint.com Music City Bowl. The multi-year agreement will allow the Nashville, Tenn.-based bowl to choose a fourth league squad.

In April, the BIG EAST reached a two-year deal to send a team to the Jeep O'ahu Bowl/Jeep Aloha Bowl Christmas Classics in Honolulu.

BIG EAST teams have enjoyed plenty of success in recent years. Virginia Tech is on a seven-year bowl streak, the longest active string in the conference. Miami won national titles in 1983, '87, '89 and '91. The Hurricanes played on New Year's Day every year from '84 to '95 before returning to Jan. 1 last season. Syracuse has been to the postseason in 11 of the last 13 years. West Virginia has gone to bowl games in five of the past seven seasons and Boston College has gone 'bowling' four times in the last eight years.

The '90s were a decade of unprecedented volatility in collegiate conference membership. Yet, the BIG EAST maintained its football structure with its charter eight-team alignment.

Some of the same elements that were in place when The BIG EAST Conference was born in 1979 are present in BIG EAST football. The football members are a group of schools that, for the most part, were traditional rivals, but were never a formal league. They are: Boston College, University of Miami, University of Pittsburgh, Rutgers University, Temple University, Syracuse University, Virginia Tech and West Virginia University.

BIG EAST AND THE BOWL CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES

The BIG EAST Conference is a partner in the unique Bowl Championship Series (BCS), an agreement designed to produce a national championship game and the best possible bowl matchups. The Tostitos Fiesta, FedEx Orange, Nokia Sugar Bowl and Rose Bowls have joined with the BIG EAST, Atlantic Coast, Big Ten, Big 12, Pacific-10 and Southeastern Conferences and the University of Notre Dame to form the Series.

In 2000, the four bowls will choose from among the champions of the above conferences to appear in their respective games. If an independent team or team from a conference without an automatic selection is ranked in the top six in the BCS standings, it will qualify for a spot in the Bowl Championship Series. The remaining at-large positions may be filled by any Division I-A team eligible for postseason competition that meets any one of the following criteria:

- The team has won at least nine college football games during the regular season, not to include wins in any exempted game (Kickoff, Pigskin, Eddie Robinson Classic, etc.)
- The team is ranked among the top 12 bowl eligible teams in the BCS standings

Team selection for the national championship game shall occur after the completion of conference championship games, with the announcement on December 4, 2000. When not hosting the national championship game or having a conference champion participating in the national championship, the Bowl Championship Series bowls will have a host team of first choice with the following conference champions:

- FedEx Orange - BIG EAST or Atlantic Coast
- Nokia Sugar - Southeastern
- Tostitos Fiesta - Big 12
- Rose Bowl - Big Ten & Pacific-10

If any BCS bowl loses its host team to the national championship game (FedEx Orange Bowl for the 2000 season), that bowl will then receive the first pick of the next team in the selection process. In a situation where two bowls lose teams, the bowl that sent the No. 1 BCS-ranked team to the championship game will select first. Consequently, once a bowl has selected its host team, the selections will be made on an at-large rotating basis.

The Bowl Championship Series standings will determine the teams for the 2001 FedEx Orange Bowl. The BCS standings are a statistical rating system that consists of four major components: subjective polls of the writers and coaches, computer rankings, schedule strength and team record. The two teams which have the lowest average point total in the four categories will play in the national championship game. All other team selections shall come from the pool of teams as specified above and will be at the discretion of the participating bowls.

THE BIG EAST BOWL LINEUP

In addition to the Bowl Championship Series, the BIG EAST Conference also sends other teams to postseason bowl games. The league is associated with the Toyota Gator Bowl, Insight.com Bowl, HomePoint.com Music City Bowl and Jeep Oahu Bowl/Jeep Aloha Bowl Christmas Classics for the 2000 season.

The Toyota Gator Bowl, played in Jacksonville, Fla., will select the second team from the BIG EAST after the Bowl Championship Series accepts the conference champion. The BIG EAST choice will be matched up against the second selection from the Atlantic Coast Conference. The Toyota Gator Bowl will be played on January 1, 2001 and will be televised by NBC. The BIG EAST has sent a team to the game five of the last six years.

The Insight.com Bowl will choose a team from the BIG EAST for the third year in a row. Moving to Bank One Ballpark in Tempe, Ariz., for the first time this season, the contest will be played on December 28 before a national television audience on ESPN. The game will match the BIG EAST choice against the fifth selection from the Big 12.

The HomePoint.com Music City Bowl enters its second year as a partner with The BIG EAST Conference. After Virginia Tech earned a win as an at-large selection two seasons ago, Syracuse followed with a victory in 1999. The contest will be played on December 28, when the BIG EAST squad will face an SEC opponent to be determined.

In April, The BIG EAST reached a two-year deal to send a team to either the Jeep O'ahu Bowl or Jeep Aloha Bowl in Honolulu, Hawaii. Both games would match a conference team against a Pac-10 opponent and be nationally televised by either ESPN on Dec. 24 (O'ahu) or ABC on Christmas Day (Aloha).

The BIG EAST and the University of Notre Dame have an agreement which allows Notre Dame the opportunity to be selected by the Toyota Gator Bowl, Insight.com Bowl or HomePoint.com Music City Bowl if the Fighting Irish are bowl eligible and do not qualify for the Bowl Championship Series. The Toyota Gator Bowl may select Notre Dame up to two times over a four-year span that began in 1998. The bowl chose the Irish that season. The Insight.com Bowl and Music City Bowl may select the Irish once over the same period.

All three bowls will adhere to the conference's one-win rule whether they select Notre Dame or a BIG EAST team. Any selection of a team with fewer victories must be within one win of all other bowl eligible teams. For example, a team with a 7-4 record cannot be chosen before a team with a 9-2 mark.

MICHAEL A TRANGHESE, COMMISSIONER

The BIG EAST Conference opened its doors in 1979. Mike Tranghese is the only person to have the office keys since day one.

Now, in his 11th year as Commissioner, Tranghese continues to guide one of the nation's most prestigious consortiums. While in the Commissioner's chair, Tranghese has led the BIG EAST through membership expansions, the formation of The BIG EAST Football Conference, television negotiations and the ever changing NCAA national landscape. In addition to guiding one of the country's top conferences, Tranghese has been a leader nationally since becoming Commissioner on June 21, 1990. He is in his fifth year on the NCAA Men's Basketball Committee and will serve as chair for 2000-01. Tranghese also is serving as chair of the NCAA Men's Basketball Subcommittee on Television. In 1999, he completed a two year term as chair of the Division I-A Commissioners and the Collegiate Commissioners Association. One of Tranghese's early accomplishments as Commissioner was the formation of The BIG EAST Football Conference in 1991. In response to the beginning of significant conference realignment nationally, he coordinated an expansion which included the University of Miami becoming a full league member and being a key addition to the unique football group. The BIG EAST is a charter member of the Bowl Championship Series, which is the group of major conferences and bowls that helps produce a national championship game and the best possible bowl matchups. In 1994, Tranghese guided the league through what many thought to be a critical stage that could have resulted in a permanent split among its members. In March, the conference added Rutgers University and West Virginia University as its 11th and 12th members and maintained its structure. Just four months later, the University of Notre Dame, clearly the nation's premier men's basketball independent, joined the BIG EAST. All three new members began BIG EAST competition in the 1995-96 academic year.

In 1999, Virginia Tech was admitted to the league as the 14th member. It begins competing in the BIG EAST in 2000-01. The league's athletic directors unanimously appointed Tranghese in 1990 after his 11 years of service, the last nine as associate commissioner. As Commissioner, he has led BIG EAST while adhering to the principles which have marked the conference's explosive rise to prominence; promoting and cultivating intercollegiate athletic programs in an environment of integrity and the pursuit of excellence at the highest possible level. Tranghese's career has flourished, coinciding with the focus upon Eastern college basketball and the tremendous growth of sports events on television. His career in college athletics began at American International College in his hometown of Springfield, Mass. He was the sports information director at Providence College where he publicized the immensely successful Friar teams of the seventies under Dave Gavitt, who would become The BIG EAST's first Commissioner in 1979 and would serve until 1990 when Tranghese took the helm. Under Tranghese, the BIG EAST championship slate expanded from seven men's championships in 1979 to 20 men's and women's events in 1993. The recent addition of women's lacrosse increases the number of sports total to 21 for 2000-01. His negotiating expertise also has resulted in a long term partnership with Madison Square Garden, host of The BIG EAST Men's Basketball Championship since 1983. Today, Tranghese is an acknowledged leader in the area of television, including negotiation and technical production. The BIG EAST has been a long time partner with CBS Sports and ESPN and has enjoyed multi-year agreements with both entities in basketball and football. Tranghese has negotiated a new television package for football with ABC. That contract will commence in 2001. Additionally, Tranghese was the force behind The BIG EAST Television Network which, for 10 years, was a benchmark for regional network television. In 1995, the league awarded ESPN, Inc. exclusive rights to all of its basketball and football games not broadcast on a national network. Tranghese is a 1965 graduate of St. Michael's College in Winooski, Vt. He is married to Susan Huntemann.

BIG EAST MediaTeamLink

The BIG EAST offers MediaTeamLink - a service that media can use to automatically receive documents via e-mail as soon as they are updated by the Conference office. Documents retrieved via e-mail are in original format, have a searchable text option and the ability to cut and paste to any other document. Files are received in Adobe PDF format and can be viewed with a free downloadable Adobe Acrobat Reader. Documents are available for league releases for all BIG EAST team sports. Media may visit www.mediateamlink.com and click on "College Conferences" to sign-up for the service. Please contact the BIG EAST communications office for more information.

DID YOU KNOW?

- Terry Shea was Stanford's associate head coach and offensive coordinator when the Cardinal defeated the Irish in South Bend 33-16 on October 3, 1992.
- Rutgers and Notre Dame have met just twice on the gridiron and never in the state of New Jersey. On November 8, 1921, ND defeated Rutgers 48-0 at the Polo Grounds in New York City. On November 23, 1996 in South Bend, Notre Dame again blanked Rutgers, 62-0.
- Although not BIG EAST Conference football rivals, Rutgers and Notre Dame are both members of the BIG EAST Conference and compete against each other in 18 other sports.

*BIG EAST Conference Games

STROHMAYER JOINS O'HARA AND HAMPTON AS CAPTAIN: Senior linemen Shaun O'Hara and Wayne Hampton were elected co-captains of the 1999 Rutgers football team by their teammates in pre-season, and were joined by OLB Dax Strohmeier, who was selected by his teammates in the week leading up to the final game of the season. O'Hara's and Hampton's selections marked the first time since Terry Shea has been head coach at Rutgers that co-captains were elected prior to the start of the season; in past years, game captains had been selected, and yearly captains were elected at the conclusion of the season. Game captains were also selected on a game by game basis. O'Hara was a starter on the Rutgers OL since the second game of the 1997 season, and earned All-BIG EAST honors last season. Hampton was a starter at DE since the 1997 campaign, and earned All-BIG EAST honors last year. Strohmeier has been a stalwart for the Scarlet Knights the past two years, starting at OLB.

Game captains this year have been:

California: Jacki Crooks
Texas: Dax Strohmeier, Ben French
Boston College: Dennis Thomas, Chris Washington, Karl Mayall
Wake Forest: Jabari Moore, Brian Bender
Virginia Tech: Mike DeLucia, Robert Crenshaw
West Virginia: Iosefa Puaauli
Pittsburgh: Shin Black, Phil Douglass, Charlie Titus
Temple: Jason Locke, Mike Belh, L.J. Smith
Navy: Mike Pridgeon, Lee McDonald, Charlie Titus
Syracuse: Ansel George-Shields, Phil Douglas
Miami: Dennis Thomas

SCARLET KNIGHTS POST-SEASON STARS

HAMPTON IN BLUE-GRAY GAME: Senior DE Wayne Hampton capped his outstanding senior season by appearing in the nationally televised Blue-Gray All-Star Classic on Dec. 25 in Montgomery, AL. Hampton saw significant action for the Blue team on the Christmas Day Classic. The last Rutgers player in the Blue-Gray game was DL Rashod Swinger (presently with the NFL's Arizona Cardinals), in 1996. Hampton concluded his senior season as the fourth leading tackler on the squad, with 75 stops (including 50 initial hits). Hampton led the Scarlet Knights with 11 tackles for loss (-56 yards), and eight sacks (-45). He also forced two fumbles, and recovered three others.

O'HARA IN HULA BOWL CLASSIC: Senior Shaun O'Hara, who primarily started at left tackle the last three seasons but also filled in at center when necessary, saw significant action at center for the North team in the Hula Bowl Classic all-star game on Jan. 22 in Hawaii. During his career at Rutgers, O'Hara played guard, tackle, and center, as well as holding down long-snapping duties, for the Scarlet Knights. A two-time All-BIG EAST selection, O'Hara was a starter on the offensive line since the second game of the 1997 season

SCARLET KNIGHTS FACE TOUGH SLATE: Rutgers faced one of its toughest schedules in recent years this past season. Six of the Scarlet Knights' 11 opponents finished with records above .500, with all six appearing in bowl games. The final Sagarin Football Ratings ranked the Scarlet Knights schedule as the 29th most difficult in the nation.

INJURIES PLAGUE RUTGERS: Rutgers' battle with injuries in the 1999 season was well documented. "Forty percent of our projected starting lineup has watched 90% of the season from the sidelines," head coach Terry Shea said in the final weeks of the season. Before pre-season practice even began, the Scarlet Knights lost starting DL Marcus Perry with a torn pectoral muscle (Perry saw his first action of the season, in Game 9, vs. Navy on Nov. 6). Starting DB Tarrell Freeney was lost with a torn ACL on the first day of practice, and later in pre-season the Scarlet Knights learned that S Garrett Shea (the son of Terry Shea) would be ruled out for the year with a burner. In the first game, starters Roger Wingate (LB) and DeWayne Thompson (DB) were both lost with torn ACLs, and first-team DE Raishard Crawford went down with a neck injury. Various players missed valuable time as the season has evolved, testing the Scarlet Knights' depth and causing numerous position changes. QB Mike McMahon, who had started 21 consecutive games, was lost for the season with a shoulder injury suffered vs. Virginia Tech. Injuries continued to play havoc with the lineup as Nate Colon (back) and David Griffin (shoulder), and DL Greg Pyszcymuka (burner) were lost for the season due to injuries suffered in the Navy game, while S Nate Leonard suffered a season ending shoulder injury vs. Syracuse.

INJURY BREAKDOWN:

DL	*Marcus Perry	Torn pectoral	Missed first 8 games
DB	*Tarrell Freeney	ACL	Out for season
S	*Garrett Shea	Nerve	Out for season
LB	*Roger Wingate	ACL	Out for season
CB	*D. Thompson	ACL	Out for season
DE	*Raishard Crawford	Neck	Out for season
LB	Ken Whiteside	Shoulder	Missed final 9 games
LB	*Wes Robertson	Foot	Missed 2 games
LB	*Dax Strohmeier	Knee	Missed 2 games
DT	*A. George-Shields	Ankle	Missed 3 games
S	*David Griffin	Neck/shoulder	Missed 4 games
S	*Peter Mendez	Knee	Missed final 6 games
QB	*Mike McMahon	Shoulder	Missed final 6 games
LB	Jerred Friday	Ankle	Missed final 5 games
DE	*Jack Bloom	Heel	Missed 3 games
FB	Seth Stanton	Back	Missed 1 game
S	*Nate Colon	Back	Missed final 2 games
S	*Nate Leonard	Shoulder	Missed 4 games
S	*Brian Bender	ACL	In final game of season
S	*Shahib White	Hip pointer	In final game of season

THE SAFETY FIX: Playing safety for the Scarlet Knights was a tough job in the 1999 season. A total of nine safeties were lost during the course of the year, including eight who were sidelined with injuries. It started in pre-season when it was determined that incumbent starter Ben Martin would sit out the 1999 season to concentrate on academics. In pre-season camp, Tarrell Freeney (ACL) and Garrett Shea (nerve) were sidelined for the season. Other safeties who were sidelined during the course of the year due to injuries included David Griffin (neck, shoulder); Peter Mendez (ACL); Nate Colon (back); Nate Leonard (shoulder); Brian Bender (ACL) and Shahib White (hip pointer).

MISSING MIKE: Junior QB Mike McMahon's streak of 21 consecutive starts was snapped when he was sidelined vs. West Virginia (Oct. 16) due to torn ligaments in his right shoulder. McMahon underwent successful surgery on Oct. 22 at a community hospital in the Pittsburgh area. The Wexford, PA., resident has begun his physical rehabilitation efforts immediately as he looks to return for his senior season. Coach Terry Shea said that he is expected to begin throwing on May 1 and should be 100% for the 2000 campaign. McMahon was second in BIG EAST passing yardage before suffering the shoulder injury. In his five games, McMahon threw for 989 yards, or an average of 197.8 yards per outing. He entered the Virginia Tech game averaging 230.5 yards per game before being sidelined in the second half. McMahon has also amassed 981 yards in total offense, or 196.2 yards per game, good for third place in the BIG EAST when his season ended. He entered the Virginia Tech game as the BIG EAST's leader, averaging 228.0 yards total offense per game.

SCHWENK EARNED STARTING NOD: True freshman Chad Schwenk was 1-2 as the starting QB for Rutgers and led the Scarlet Knights past Syracuse, 24-21, in OT on Nov. 13. Against the Orangemen, in just his second collegiate start, Schwenk completed 19-of-29 passes for 258 yards, ran for one TD and threw for another, with just one interception. He engineered a 12-play, 96-yard scoring drive in the final minutes of regulation to force a 21-21 tie at the end of regulation. Schwenk then guided Rutgers to its game winning drive in OT, gaining 17 yards in four plays to set up Lee McDonald's 25-yard field goal for the 24-21 win. He was selected as "Co-Offensive Player of the Week" by the BIG EAST Conference for his efforts vs. Syracuse. In his first collegiate start vs. Navy, Schwenk completed 17-of-32 passes for 149 yards. It was a tough go in his final start of the season, a 56-0 season ending loss to Miami. Schwenk completed 8-of-18 passes for 51 yards and was sacked 11 times. Schwenk broke into the starting lineup against Navy after playing in a reserve role behind Mike Jones for three weeks. Schwenk became the second true freshman in three years to start at QB for the Scarlet Knights; Mike McMahon earned the starting nod (vs. Army, Oct. 18, 1997) midway through his freshman season, and started 21 straight games before he was injured.

MORE ON CHAD: Chad Schwenk appeared in six games for the Scarlet Knights in 1999, making three starts. A year ago at this time, Chad was the starting quarterback for Whitehall (PA) High School, where he threw for 2,168 yards and 19 TDs while completing nearly 57% of his passes. Under Schwenk's leadership, Whitehall outscored its opposition 299-177 and compiled 3,336 yards total offense. Schwenk led the Zephyrs to their first-ever perfect regular season and the Mountain Valley Conference championship. Schwenk's Whitehall High School squad finished the year with an 11-1 record, and earned a berth in the District 11 4-A championship game. For his efforts, Schwenk was named "Player of the Year" by the Allentown Morning Call and earned All-State honors. Schwenk made the switch to QB after starting at WR as a junior, when he caught 48 passes for 772 total yards. Chad also played point guard for the basketball team, and third base for the baseball squad.

SCHWENK ON TARGET: Chad Schwenk boasted a team best passing efficiency of 115.90 in six games. His rating dropped 10 points following the final game of the season vs. Miami.

SAYING FAREWELL: It was a fitting home farewell for the Rutgers seniors on Nov. 13, who made their final appearance at Rutgers Stadium a memorable one with a 24-21 OT win over Syracuse. The Nov. 20 game vs. Miami marked the final college football game for 17 seniors on the Rutgers roster. Playing their final games for Rutgers against Miami were:

DL Mike Behl	PK Lee McDonald
TE Shin Black	LB Jabari Moore
C Mike DeLucia	DE Jason Locke
OL Ben French	OL Shaun O'Hara
DL Ansel George-Shields	OL Iosefa Puaauli
S David Griffin	LB Dax Strohmeier
DE Wayne Hampton	P Charlie Titus
DL Karl Mayall	FB Chris Washington
	LB Roger Wingate

Two other seniors, RB Jacki Crooks and LB Mike Pridgeon, did not make the trip to Miami, and played their final games vs. Syracuse. (A 19th senior, LB Roger Wingate, hoped to return this season for a sixth year after sustaining a season ending torn ACL in the first game of the year, vs. Cal (he sat out the 1998 campaign while recovering from a severe knee injury suffered against Temple in 1997.) Also serving the Scarlet Knights for the final time today will be senior manager R.J. Gimbl, a four-year veteran in the program.

SNAPPING A STREAK: The win over Syracuse snapped an 11-game losing streak for the Scarlet Knights. Rutgers last won on Nov. 7, 1998, when it took a 36-33 decision at Navy.

MORE FIRSTS: The victory over Syracuse was Rutgers' first win over the Orangemen since Sept. 27, 1986 (a 12 game losing streak) when the Scarlet Knights won in the Carrier Dome, 16-10. It was also the first win over the Orangemen at Rutgers Stadium since Nov. 19, 1975 when the Scarlet Knights posted a 21-10 victory.

OT VICTORY: The win over Syracuse was Rutgers' first overtime win in school history. It was Rutgers' second overtime game in its history, with the other being a 55-48 loss to Pittsburgh at Rutgers Stadium on Oct. 25, 1997.

HIG MAC: Lee McDonald's 25-yard game-winning field goal on the final play of the game vs. Syracuse was his first field goal attempt since he booted, and converted, a 32-yard field goal at Miami on Nov. 15, 1997.

SEASON HIGH FOR KING: Junior WR Walter King hauled in a personal season high 6 passes for 88 yards against Syracuse. King's previous high for receptions in a game this year was four vs. West Virginia (for a season high 115 yards).

KING'S CENTURY MARK: Junior WR Walter King gained 115 on four catches vs. West Virginia, becoming the first Rutgers player to surpass the 100-yard mark in receptions since Bill Powell caught eight passes for 152 yards against Navy on Nov. 7, 1998. The 115 yards on pass receptions was a season high for the Scarlet Knights.

ATTENDANCE UP: Rutgers drew a total of 155,188 in six home games in 1999, averaging 25,865 per game, an increase of 2,568 per game (a 10% increase) from the 1998 season.

JOHNSON TEAM LEADER: Junior WR Errol Johnson finished the season with 35 catches, leading the Scarlet Knights in his first season with the team. Johnson caught two TD passes and averaged 14.5 yards per catch. He caught at least one pass in every game. Johnson hauled in seven catches for 75 yards vs. Navy, a season high for Scarlet Knights receivers.

QUICK SCORE: QB Mike Jones' 80-yard TD pass to WR Walter King in the first quarter at WVU was the quickest score of the season for RU, taking place just 0:16 into the game.

FIRST QUARTER STANDOFF: Although the Scarlet Knights fell to powerful Virginia Tech on Oct. 9, they were able to play the then No. 5-ranked Hokies to a virtual standoff in the first quarter. Each team scored touchdowns on their first two possessions, as the Scarlet Knights battled Tech to a 14-14 tie at the end of the quarter.

OFFENSE SCORES: The Scarlet Knights' offense reached the end zone four times, and tallied 28 points, vs. Temple, the most points scored by Rutgers last season.

NATIONAL PLAY OF THE WEEK: Tight end L.J. Smith's spectacular catch of WR's Sean Carty's toss in the third quarter of the Pittsburgh game was cited as the "Compaq National College Football Play of the Week," as selected by a panel of sportswriters and sportscasters. On a first-down play, Rutgers QB Chad Schwenk handed the ball to RB Jacki Crooks who reversed the ball to receiver Sean Carty. Carty then cut back against the grain, throwing to TE L.J. Smith for the completion. Smith climbed over Pitt's Demetrious Rich, reaching over and around him, literally taking the interception away from him, to make the grab.

SMITH AMONG NATION'S TE LEADERS: First-year tight end L.J. Smith was among the nation's leaders at tight end. Smith caught 26 passes for 418 yards and three TDs. He was shutout in just two games (vs. West Virginia and Navy). Smith had long gains of 54-yards (for at TD) vs. Pittsburgh, and 40 yards vs. Texas. Smith caught four passes in his collegiate debut vs. California, including a long of 16 yards. Smith's first career catch (against Cal) was a memorable one, as he caught a 16-yard scoring pass from QB Mike McMahon in the first quarter. Smith hauled in a 36-yard TD pass from McMahon against Virginia Tech.

12TH MAN AWARDS: Selected by the coaching staff following each game, and presented to the individual player on each unit that came off the bench and had the biggest impact.

GAME ONE (Sept. 4)
CALIFORNIA 21, RUTGERS 7

BERKELEY, California – The Rutgers football team dropped its 1999 season opener as California scored a 21-7 win over the Scarlet Knights. Cal's Marcus Fields ran for 123 yards and a touchdown and Deltha O'Neal returned an interception for a score to lead California to a 21-7 victory over Rutgers. Fields carried 11 times and none was bigger than his first. On the first play from scrimmage, he went 49 yards for a 7-0 lead 22 seconds into the contest. O'Neal picked off a pass from Mike McMahon and returned it 75 yards to give the Golden Bears a 14-7 lead with 4:15 left in the second quarter. Kyle Boller completed 8-of-15 passes for 89 yards and a TD for California (1-0), which has won three straight season openers. McMahon was 15-of-29 for 183 yards and a TD for Rutgers, which was playing in California for the first time. Rutgers tied the game, 7-7, when McMahon tossed a 16-yard pass to tight end L.J. Smith with 6:30 left in the first quarter. Just over three minutes into the second half, Boller threw a 17-yard pass to Michael Ainsworth to make it 21-7.

GAME TWO (Sept. 11)
TEXAS 38, RUTGERS 21

PISCATAWAY, NJ – A record crowd 41,511 was on hand to watch Rutgers put a valiant fight before falling to No. 23 Texas, 38-21. Texas QB Major Applewhite threw for 244 yards and two touchdowns, and the Longhorns turned a pair of misplayed punts into two more scores to spark the victory. A week after routing Stanford by 52 points, Texas (2-1) built a 28-6 halftime lead but the Scarlet Knights (0-2) fought back with two TDs in the second half. Applewhite threw TD passes of 28 yards to Mike Jones and 21 yards to Montrell Flowers in a 3:10 span of the second quarter to put the Longhorns ahead 21-3. For Rutgers, Steve Barone kicked field goals of 23 and 41 yards in the first half, and fullback Seth Stanton scored on a 1-yard run in the third quarter and Mike McMahon threw a 5-yard TD pass to Rob Ring in the fourth. Texas wasted little time taking a 7-0 lead on a blocked punt on the fourth play of the game, when Terrol Dillon raced up the middle and blocked Charlie Titus' punt at the Scarlet Knights 10, and Jeremy Jones caught the ball on a bounce and ran 11 yards for the score 62 seconds into the game. Rutgers made it 7-3 on Barone's 23-yard field goal set up by McMahon's 40-yard pass to L.J. Smith. Just before the completion, Jacki Crooks ran 35 yards for an apparent TD, but the play was called back when the Scarlet Knights were penalized for holding.

GAME THREE (Sept. 25)
BOSTON COLLEGE 27, RUTGERS 7

PISCATAWAY, NJ -- Rutgers, forced to play without five suspended players, including leading rusher Jacki Crooks, was held to just 79 yards on the ground as Boston College scored a 27-7 win over the Scarlet Knights in the BIG EAST Conference opener for both teams. Cedric Washington ran for two touchdowns and John Match booted a pair of field goals for Boston College. Washington racked up 147 yards on 21 carries and Tim Hasselback completed 17-of-22 passes for 168 yards and a score for the Eagles (3-0, 1-0 Big East). Rutgers QB Mike McMahon completed 16-of-32 passes for 228 yards and a touchdown, but was intercepted three times. Crooks was one of five players suspended earlier in the week by Rutgers coach Terry Shea for a violation of team rules. None of the other four players had seen action this season. The Eagles raced to a 17-0 lead and never looked back. Match opened the scoring with a 31-yard field goal early in the first quarter and Washington scored from eight yards out midway through the second period. Match connected from 35 yards 5 1/2 minutes into the second half. Rutgers finally got on the scoreboard moments later when McMahon hit a streaking Errol Johnson with a 56-yard scoring pass. But the Eagles immediately answered as Hasselbeck and Dujuan Daniels hooked up for 21-yard score. Daniels caught three passes for 36 yards and Dedrick DeWalt totaled 71 yards on four receptions for the Eagles, who racked up 427 yards compared to 307 for Rutgers. Washington's 12-yard TD scamper 6:14 into the final period completed the scoring.

WAKE FOREST 17, RUTGERS 10

WINSTON-SALEM, North Carolina -- Wake Forest rallied from a 10-0 deficit to defeat the Scarlet Knights 17-10. Fullback Morgan Kane carried 34 times for 120 yards and a score and added a touchdown catch as Wake Forest (3-1) won for the second time in as many meetings with Rutgers (0-4), taking a 28-14 decision in 1997. Rutgers, which went 0-11 in 1997, has lost six straight games dating to last season and 16 of its last 18 away from home. The Scarlet Knights have two out-of-conference road wins since 1993. They led 10-0 nearly 6 1/2 minutes into the second quarter on a 35-yard field goal by Steven Barone and a 62-yard connection between quarterback Mike McMahon and Antonie Lovelace. Wake Forest began its comeback in the closing moments of the first half as Kane capped a 17-play, 90-yard drive with a 10-yard TD reception from Ben Sankey. His one-yard plunge midway through the third quarter gave the Deacons the lead for good, 14-10. Kane, a native of Ottawa, rushed for 147 yards and a career-high three TDs last week against North Carolina State. With 4:19 to play, Matthew Burdick capped the scoring with a 29-yard field goal. McMahon completed 16-of-33 passes for 256 yards with a pair of interceptions. Jacki Crooks returned from a one-game team-imposed suspension and rushed 21 times for 62 yards. Sankey was 14-of-25 for 167 yards while Jammie Deese caught six passes for 106 yards.

GAME FIVE (Oct. 9)
VIRGINIA TECH 58, RUTGERS 20

PISCATAWAY, NJ – Virginia Tech spoiled Rutgers' Homecoming Day with a 58-20 win over the Scarlet Knights. QB Michael Vick led No. 5 Virginia by throwing a school record tying four touchdown passes and running for another score. Vick completed 11-of-12 passes for 248 yards as Virginia Tech (5-0, 1-0 Big East) rolled to a 49-14 halftime lead. Virginia Tech scored on the first play from scrimmage as Vick found Andre Davis for a 74-yard score and a 7-0 lead just 18 seconds in. The teams traded touchdowns before Vick hooked up with Davis for a 13-yard TD that gave the Hokies a 21-14 advantage 2:53 into the second quarter. Mike McMahon ran for a score and threw a TD pass for Rutgers (0-5, 0-2) before leaving with a sprained right shoulder in the second quarter. Virginia Tech started in Rutgers' territory on four of its five second-quarter touchdowns. Seth Stanton scored on an 11-yard TD run for Rutgers with 4:36 to go in the fourth, but Virginia Tech cornerback Ronyell Whitaker returned the extra point attempt for a defensive conversion.

GAME SIX (Oct. 16)
WEST VIRGINIA 62, RUTGERS 16

MORGANTOWN, West Virginia – Brad Lewis threw for 138 yards and a pair of TDs as West Virginia defeated Rutgers, 62-16. Lewis, subbing for the injured Marc Bulger (finger), completed 9-of-14 passes without being intercepted. He threw for scores of three and five yards, the second going to Khorl Ivy and giving the Mountaineers (2-4, 1-1 Big East) a commanding 48-13 advantage with 12:06 remaining in the third quarter. With Mike McMahon (shoulder) sidelined for the Scarlet Knights (0-6, 0-3), Michael Jones was 13-of-18 for 191 yards and a touchdown with one interception. Jones opened the game in dramatic fashion by connecting with Walter King for an 80-yard touchdown pass on the first play from scrimmage. King caught four passes for 115 yards. But West Virginia scored the next 17 points in a 6:30 span as Avon Cobourne ran into the end zone from four yards, wide receiver Antonio Brown returned a punt 80 yards for a score and Jay Taylor booted a 36-yard field goal. Cobourne carried 25 times for 141 yards as the Mountaineers racked up 303 yards on the ground to take the pressure off Lewis, a 6-3, 225-pound sophomore making his second career start. Steven Barone's 36-yard field goal with 45 seconds left in the first quarter brought Rutgers within 17-10 before West Virginia exploded for 24 points in the second period. Cobourne and Cooper Rego both had short touchdown runs, Lewis hit tight end Anthony Becht for a three-yard score and Taylor was good from 31 yards. Becht caught three passes for 39 yards and Brown totaled 51 yards on three receptions for the Mountaineers.

GAME SEVEN (Oct. 23)
PITTSBURGH 38, RUTGERS 15

PISCATAWAY, New Jersey – David Priestley tossed four touchdown passes, including two in a 24-point second quarter, as Pittsburgh rolled to a 38-15 BIG EAST Conference victory over Rutgers. Priestley completed 25-of-36 passes for 375 yards, including seven-yard TD tosses to Latef Grim and Nick Goings in the second period, as the Panthers (4-3, 2-2 BIG EAST) opened a 24-0 halftime lead and never looked back. After Pittsburgh took a 10-0 lead on Nick Lotz's 32-yard field goal with 7:17 left in the half, Demond Gibson returned an interception nine yards for a score to make it 17-0 with 2:40 remaining. Priestley and Goings hooked up with 53 seconds left to complete the second-period barrage. Pittsburgh extended its lead to 31-0 on Priestley's seven-yard TD pass to Kirk McMullen with 10:25 left in the third quarter. The Scarlet Knights (0-7, 0-4) finally got on the board on Chad Schwenk's 54-yard scoring strike to LJ Smith 94 seconds later. Rutgers pulled within 31-14 on Schwenk's one-yard TD run with 3:34 to play in the third period before Priestley completed the scoring with a 35-yard TD pass to Goings early in the final quarter. Grim finished with eight receptions for 118 yards while teammate Antonio Bryant also had eight catches for 157 yards. Goings led Pittsburgh with 61 yards on 15 carries. Schwenk was just 11-of-20 for 151 yards for the Scarlet Knights, who were limited to 21 yards on the ground. Pittsburgh avenged last year's 25-21 loss to Rutgers and boosted its lead in the all-time series to 14-3. The Scarlet Knights never have won consecutive games against the Panthers.

GAME EIGHT (Oct. 30)
TEMPLE 56, RUTGERS 28

PHILADELPHIA, PA – Sophomore Devin Scott threw for 311 yards while setting a school record with six touchdown passes and Tanardo Sharps ran for 100 yards on 10 carries as Temple defeated Rutgers, 56-28, in a Big East Conference matchup. Scott completed a school-record 36 passes in 45 attempts as Temple (2-6, 2-2 Big East) rolled up 503 yards of offense. The Owls recorded 31 first downs and averaged more than six yards per play. Carlos Johnson led the Temple receiving corps with 133 yards and three touchdowns on 10 catches. Johnson caught scoring passes of seven and four yards 4 1/2 minutes apart in the second quarter, during which Temple scored three touchdowns to break open a 7-7 contest. Johnson and Scott hooked up again 95 seconds into the second half to extend the Temple lead to 35-7. Jacki Crooks ran for 89 yards and two touchdowns for Rutgers (0-8, 0-5), which scored twice in the final 11:10 to make the final score a little closer. Scarlet Knight quarterback Chad Schwenk completed 12-of-19 passes for 161 yards but was sacked three times and threw an interception. Rutgers does hold a 16-13 edge in the all-time series. Temple improved to 8-49 all-time in the Big East and their two wins tie their total from last season when they went 2-9.

GAME NINE (Nov. 6)
NAVY 34, RUTGERS 7

PISCATAWAY, NJ -- Quarterback Brian Madden ran for 167 yards and a pair of touchdowns as Navy scored a 34-7 victory over Rutgers. Madden, who last week became the starter after a season-ending injury to Brian Broadwater, opened the scoring with a seven-yard run 5:45 into the first quarter. He added a 29-yard TD run early in the second on one of his 30 carries. Navy (3-6), which runs the wishbone, had its way on the ground against the Scarlet Knights' defense, finishing with 383 yards on 52 carries. After Tim Shubza booted a 38-yard field goal midway through the third quarter to give the Midshipmen a 20-0 lead, Rutgers got its only points with 2 1/2 minutes left in the period when running back Jason Ohene returned a blocked punt three yards for a score. John Vereen ran 53 yards for a TD late in the third quarter and Raheem Lambert scored on a 61-yard run in the fourth for the final margin. Rutgers fell to 0-9 and is likely headed towards its second winless season in the last three years. The Scarlet Knights host Syracuse next week before closing the season at nationally ranked Miami. Making his first start of his career, Scarlet Knights freshman quarterback Chad Schwenk completed 17-of-32 passes for 149 yards without a touchdown or interception.

GAME TEN (Nov. 13)
RUTGERS 24, SYRACUSE 21 (OT)

PISCATAWAY, NJ -- Lee McDonald's 25-yard field goal in OT capped a stunning comeback as Rutgers posted its first victory of the season, a 24-21 triumph over Syracuse. In what is among Rutgers' biggest victories in recent memory, the Scarlet Knights snapped a 12-game losing streak against Syracuse (6-4, 3-3 Big East) and beat the Orangemen for the first time since 1986. McDonald lifted Rutgers (1-9, 1-5) to its first overtime victory ever by splitting the uprights after Syracuse's Nate Trout missed a 31-yard field goal attempt in overtime. Rutgers quarterback Chad Schwenk, filling in for injured starter Mike McMahon, completed 19-of-29 pass attempts for 258 yards. Jacki Crooks added 56 yards on the ground, including the tying touchdown late in the fourth quarter. Syracuse, which had its major bowl hopes dealt a death knell, converted just 6-of-17 third-down opportunities. The Orangemen committed 14 penalties and surrendered four sacks.

GAME ELEVEN (Nov. 20)
MIAMI 55, RUTGERS 0

MIAMI, FL -- Twenty-two years to the day after his late and legendary father set the NFL single-game rushing record, Miami true freshman Jarrett Payton had the best game of his young collegiate career. Payton, whose father Walter died from liver cancer on November 1, ran for his first career touchdown and 87 yards on 20 carries to lead the Hurricanes to a 55-0 shutout of Rutgers in a BIG EAST Conference game. It was a dominating performance by Miami (6-4, 4-1 Big East), which became eligible for a bowl berth. Miami put up 450 yards of total offense and limited Rutgers to a mere 64. The Hurricanes sacked Rutgers quarterbacks nine times for minus-59 yards in their largest Big East victory and their first shutout in 41 games since 1996. It was a big game for Payton's classmates. Quarterback Ken Dorsey made his first career start, subbing for the injured Kenny Kelly, while Clinton Portis once again starred while tailback James Jackson recuperated. Dorsey completed 19-of-26 passes for 194 yards and two touchdowns with no interceptions and also ran for a score. Portis carried 17 times for 133 yards, his fourth straight 100-yard game and his fifth of the season. On his sixth carry of the game, Portis broke Jackson's school record for rushing yards by a freshman of 597. With two games remaining, Portis has 674 yards. Dorsey found tight end Ivan Mercer for a 20-yard score 3:52 into the game to open the scoring and Payton scored his first career touchdown with 3:23 left in the first quarter on a 16-yard run. Payton has dedicated the season to his father, changing to No. 34. Andy Crosland connected on field goals of 30 and 43 yards in the first four minutes of the second quarter and Dorsey found fullback Mondriel Fulcher from seven yards for a touchdown to make it 27-0 midway through the second quarter. Santana Moss brought back a punt 67 yards for a touchdown and a 34-0 halftime lead. Portis made it 41-0 with a three-yard touchdown run and Dorsey scored on a one-yard plunge in the third quarter. Zachary Hart threw a seven-yard TD pass to Robert Williams in the fourth to account for the final margin. Chad Schwenk was 8-of-18 for 51 yards with one interception for the Scarlet Knights (1-10, 1-6), who could not build off their surprising 24-21 overtime win over Syracuse last weekend and are 0-7 all-time against the Hurricanes.

RUTGERS

THE STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW JERSEY

Immersed in a new millenium, the administration, boards, faculty and staff of Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey are committed to the academic success of each of the University's 35,308 students in New Brunswick/Piscataway. Long recognized for its excellence in teaching, research and public service, Rutgers takes very seriously its responsibility to prepare well-educated citizens and future leaders to meet the challenges that lie ahead.

Rutgers boasts a wealth of resources few universities can match, at a cost far less than most. To its more than 37,100 undergraduates on all campuses, Rutgers offers more than 100 major programs of study and a comprehensive range of educational opportunities in the liberal arts and sciences as well as many applied and pre-professional areas.

A leading research university with a renowned faculty, Rutgers has more than 4,000 undergraduate courses, laboratories that utilize state-of-the-art technology and instrumentation, and more than three million volumes in its extensive library system.

Comprising 17 small-to-medium-sized undergraduate colleges, the State University is structured so that students receive the attention necessary to achieve personal growth and academic success. While classes range in size from large lectures to small seminars, 60 percent of classes enroll fewer than 30 students. The student-to-faculty ratio of 14-to-1 compares favorably to many smaller liberal arts colleges.

FRANCIS L. LAWRENCE

Much of Rutgers' recent success can be attributed to our strategic plan, A New Vision for Excellence, adopted in 1995 with the goal of bringing Rutgers into the ranks of the nation's top public research universities by 2010. The themes of the plan include excellence in learning, research, and service; the importance of diversity, access, and affordability; responsiveness to emerging community, state, and societal demands; the need for interdisciplinary approaches, international perspectives, and intercampus collaboration; the essential nature of partnerships with government, business, and the schools to accomplish our strategic goals; and the integral part that information technology will play in academic endeavors.

Dr. Francis L. Lawrence, the eighteenth president of Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, came to Rutgers in the fall of 1990 from Tulane University, where he was the chief academic officer. At Tulane he had also held the positions of Acting Dean of Newcomb College, Deputy Provost, and Dean of the Graduate School. At Rutgers, President Lawrence has led the university in returning to its roots as a student-centered research university, with increased access and support for women and minorities, coupled with the highest level of academic excellence. Between 1989 and 1999, the total number of first-year applications increased by nearly 25 percent to an all-time high of more than 26,500. In fall 1999, the university enrolled the largest first-year class with the highest academic quality on record. Reflecting the diversity of New Jersey, first-year minority enrollment grew by 46 percent. Minority graduates grew by one-third to 35 percent of the total baccalaureates awarded in 1999. In recent years, Rutgers' excellence is attracting more students of the highest quality, a 37 percent increase in students with composite SAT scores above 1350 and rank-in-class among the top 15 percent.

The quality and productivity of the faculty are flourishing. Rutgers' memberships in the National Academy of Sciences, the National Academy of Engineering, and the Institute of Medicine have increased since 1989 nearly one-third. Total sponsored research and contracts have doubled from $90.7 million in 1989 to more than $180 million in 2000. The National Research Council report of 1995 ranked 13 Rutgers programs among the best 25 in the nation and ranked 16 among the top in improvement over the past five years. To date, more than 30 companies have spun off from Rutgers research. Rutgers ranks sixth nationally in the number of licenses and options yielding income in 1998.

Rutgers researchers are at the forefront of discoveries that are revolutionizing telecommunications, advancing rehabilitative and prosthetic technologies, leading to new understanding of brain function and new treatments for neurological disorders, and offering critical tools for unlocking the secrets of biological systems in pharmaceutical and medical research. At the same time, research and program initiatives in the arts and sciences and in education are thriving. Rutgers faculty are making significant discoveries about early hominid origins and behavior, mounting innovative programs that advance public discourse on matters of race, ethnicity and culture, and fostering research, teaching, and outreach to reform the teaching and learning of mathematics in the nation's schools. The arts at Rutgers enjoyed special recognition in 1999 as Crossroads Theater, founded by a Rutgers graduate, received a Tony for best regional theater, Tony nominations were made for two shows produced by a Rutgers faculty member, and several graduates of Mason Gross School of the Arts performed in featured roles or worked backstage in Broadway hits.

Rutgers' finances are also prospering. Growth in the university's budget from $620 million in FY 1989 to $1.2 billion in 1999 is in good measure attributable to growth in the percentage of the total derived from federal grants and contracts. The growth in federal funding reflects the ever-increasing competitiveness of Rutgers' faculty. Fundraising has soared as annual totals increased dramatically from 1989 to 2000, more than tripling, from $24.7 million in 1989 to $86.1 million in 2000. The university's endowment has almost tripled from $116 million in 1990 to $342 million in 1999.

Among notable recent private gifts have been a $5 million gift-in-kind from Sun Microsystems solidifying Rutgers' position among the top ten universities in supercomputing power in the nation; $2.4 million from the Fund for New Jersey to endow the Joseph C. Cornwall Center for Metropolitan Studies; $2 million from Jerome and Lorraine Aresty for undergraduate scholarship and research support; and $2 million from Alan V. Lowenstein to endow a professorship and support fellowships in corporate and business law at the School of Law-Newark.

Much of Rutgers' recent success can be attributed to our strategic plan, A New Vision for Excellence, adopted in 1995 with the goal of bringing Rutgers into the ranks of the nation's top public research universities. The themes of the plan include excellence in learning, research, and service; the importance of diversity, access, and affordability; responsiveness to emerging community, state, and societal demands; the need for interdisciplinary approaches, international perspectives, and intercampus collaboration; the essential nature of partnerships with government, business, and the schools to accomplish our strategic goals; and the integral part that information technology will play in academic endeavors. In order to jump-start the top priority areas of the strategic plan, Rutgers reallocated funds from administrative savings to academic purposes, generating a $4 million annual fund to be awarded competitively. In four years, the program leveraged $16 million to generate $174 million. With modest improvements in state support, Rutgers was also able to establish the Reinvest in Rutgers program in 1997 in order to inject much-needed funding into our core academic enterprise. Reinvest in Rutgers has directed $22 million to support new faculty hiring, enhance student honors programs, increase student scholarships and stipends, and expand key areas such as the libraries and electronic communications.

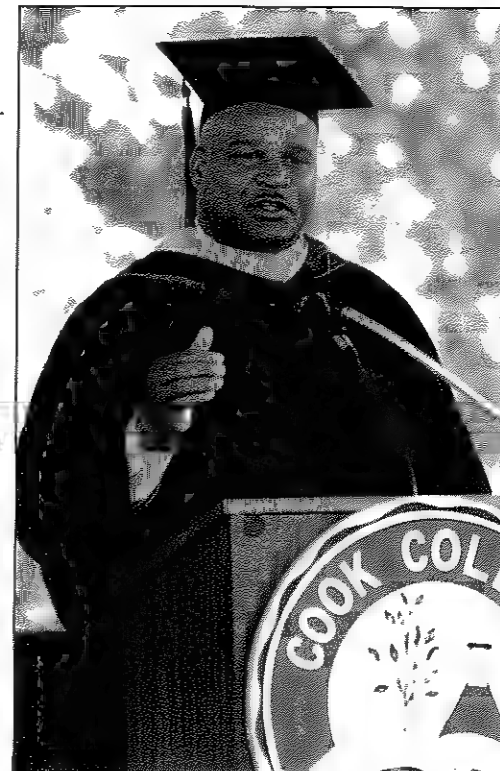

Born of the clear strategic plan articulation of the need for an advanced information technology infrastructure to support excellence, RUNet 2000 is Rutgers' multi-year project for a comprehensive network for data, video, and voice communications.

Rutgers is a charter member of Internet2, serving as the mid-Atlantic gigapop site, the central node for new high-speed links in our region. Our ambitious statewide networking project is proceeding in partnership with Bell Atlantic and has received substantial funding from New Jersey's Higher Education Facilities Trust Fund, the New Jersey Equipment Leasing Fund, federal grants, and awards from industry and foundations.

Among the most important offshoots of the strategic plan are the new academic programs that bring the results of our faculty's scholarship into the classroom to enrich the education of Rutgers students, preparing a new generation to conquer the challenges of tomorrow. Nineteen new degree programs have been approved at the undergraduate and graduate levels, including biomedical engineering, genetics and microbiology, cell biology and neuroscience, public health, and the visual arts. We can also point to thirty-two new centers and institutes that focus on ground-breaking interdisciplinary research and areas of critical social need.

In New Jersey, Dr. Lawrence has served on the Presidents' Council and on the New Jersey Commission on Science and Technology and the New Jersey-Israel Commission, among others. On the national level, Dr. Lawrence serves on the executive committees of the boards of both the Association of American Universities and the American Council on Education. For the Kellogg Commission on the Future of State and Land Grant Universities, he chaired a presidential committee that in 1999 released a report titled "The Learning Society," in which the members pointed out that now, for the first time, we have the technology to make lifetime learning a reality, precisely at the time when it has become a necessity. This spring, Dr. Lawrence was elected chair of the Big East Conference and representative of the Big East on the board of directors of the NCAA. Dr. Lawrence received his bachelor's degree from St. Louis University and his Ph.D. in French Classical Literature from Tulane University. An internationally known scholar, he has received an award from the French government. He and his wife, Mary Kay, have four children and eleven grandchildren.

History

Rutgers began its history in 1766 as Queen's College, the eighth institution of higher education to be founded in the American colonies. It became Rutgers College in 1825, honoring Colonel Henry Rutgers, a former trustee and Revolutionary War veteran. The University of Newark merged with Rutgers in 1946 and the College of South Jersey in Camden was incorporated into Rutgers in 1950. Legislative acts in 1945 and 1956 designated all its divisions as The State University of New Jersey. Rutgers is the only university in the nation to have been a colonial college, a land-grant college and a state university.

Rutgers Today

With 29 degree-granting divisions, Rutgers is New Jersey's only comprehensive public research university and a member of the prestigious Association of American Universities (AAU), a select group of 61 public and private research institutions. Under the leadership of President Francis L. Lawrence, Rutgers has embarked on an ambitious course to reach its goal of becoming one of the nation's premier public research universities by the year 2010.

Five years ago, in an exceptionally collaborative process, some 250 members of the faculty and administration developed proposals that support growth areas identified in the university's broad-ranging strategic plan, "A New Vision for Excellence." The initiatives seek to meet the present and future needs of the state for a highly skilled work force that will require access to lifelong education; to address needs for scientific and technological advances to stimulate the economy and provide New Jersey industries with a competitive edge; and to fulfill the service needs of the citizens of the state in an increasingly diverse democratic society.

The strategic plan, which capitalizes on the university's diverse strengths, moved forward during the 1999-2000 academic year under the stewardship of the Committee for the Future. The university has invested $20 million over five years to support the development of more than 100 innovative, multidisciplinary programs on all three campuses. These resources have provided excellent leverage; to date more than $174 million in external funding has been generated by these projects. Twelve implementation committees, representing business, cognitive science and neuroscience, creative arts, education, engineering, environmental studies, information science and technology, international studies, liberal arts and sciences, life sciences and agriculture, public policy and law, and women's scholarship and leadership, are continuing to generate and support new initiatives that will enhance Rutgers' leadership as a major research university.

Work on the communications infrastructure being built through RUNet 2000 will continue throughout the year, with the digging of trenches and the installation of internal building wiring and external cabling to link Rutgers' campuses. Believed to be the largest project of its kind at any American university, the four-year effort will provide data, video and voice services to approximately 260 Rutgers buildings.

As of this June, RUNet 2000 wiring had been completed in 12 academic buildings and 27 residence halls on the university's Busch, College Avenue, Douglass, Livingston, and Newark campuses. By the start of the new academic year, wiring is expected to be completed in an additional 16 buildings and 23 residence halls.

A glance at Rutgers' highlights shows why the State University of New Jersey has been the center of a great intellectual tradition for more than 225 years.

National Rankings

- Money magazine's 1998 college guide ranked Rutgers 14th nationally as the best value among public institutions. For best buys in the Mid-Atlantic region, Rutgers-New Brunswick was ranked fourth.
- The 2000 edition of "America's Best Values" by U.S. News and World Report ranked Rutgers 19th among all AAU public institutions. Rutgers-New Brunswick places 22nd on the list of the top 50 national public universities.
- The 1998 edition of Kiplinger's Personal Finance Magazine ranks the top 100 values among state universities. Rutgers-New Brunswick ranks 15th, Rutgers-Camden ranks 42nd, and Rutgers-Newark ranks 49th.
- Yahoo! Internet Life May 2000 ranked Rutgers 50th among America's most wired colleges.
- A 1997 National Science Foundation study of the undergraduate origins of science and engineering doctorate recipients revealed that Rutgers ranked 10th among public AAU institutions.

Students

- Approximately 10,000 Rutgers students graduate each year.
- Rutgers is sixth in the AAU in total minority student enrollment, second in African-American enrollment, eighth in Asian and ninth in Latino enrollment according to statistics through 1999. Rutgers in New Brunswick ranks fifth in the nation among predominantly white universities in awarding baccalaureate degrees to African-Americans.
- Minority student enrollment of 15,692 is more than any other college or university in the state. In 1999-00, it comprised 31.72 percent of Rutgers' student population.

Faculty

- Rutgers' student to faculty ratio is 14:1.
- Ninety-eight percent of faculty hold the highest degree in their field.
- Among AAU universities, Rutgers ranks third in percentage of African-American faculty and eighth in percentage of female faculty.
- Forty faculty have been elected to the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the National Academy of Sciences, the National Academy of Engineers, and the Institute of Medicine, the nation's leading honor societies.

New Brunswick, the home of Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, provides a perfect complement to the academic environment. A welcoming community with a small-city-feel, New Brunswick features an impressive amount of cultural and entertainment opportunities. Renown for its wide array of international cuisine, it is home to a myriad of shops, theaters, museums, clubs, taverns, cafes and more. The vibrant city is also home to Johnson & Johnson, the leading health care products firm in the world, as well as several other businesses and corporations. Exciting in its own right, New Brunswick also provides quick and convenient transportation by train to all of the cities on the eastern corridor, including New York, which is a short 45 minute ride away. And, for further travel, the Newark International Airport is just 30 minutes away.

Academic Support

- Learning Resource Centers on all campuses offer tutoring, study tips and general academic support to undergraduate students. The centers helped more than 13,000 students and made over 32,000 contacts during the 1998-99 academic year.
- Teaching Excellence Centers on Rutgers' three campuses provide support to faculty members in their role as teachers.

Financial Aid

- Undergraduate students received more than $184 million in federal and state grants and loans, work/study jobs and university scholarships in 1999-00.
- The average first year award was approximately $7,400.
- Seventy-six percent of the entering class received awards.

Impact on New Jersey

- The University's economic impact on New Jersey is more than $2 billion annually.
- Students have contributed more than 500,000 hours of community service through Rutgers' Citizenship and Service Education program since its inception in 1989. That's a minimum wage value of more than $2.6 million.
- More than 293,592 alumni have graduated from Rutgers and approximately 63 percent of living alumni reside in New Jersey.

NEW JERSEY... THE GARDEN STATE

From beaches to business, the mountains to the Meadowlands, New Jersey offers perhaps one of the most varied array of entertainment of any state in the nation.

There are countless reasons why the Garden State is such a popular destination, and all those reasons can be summed up in one word—diversity. One of the most inviting characteristics of New Jersey is its sheer variety of things to do and places to see. New Jersey offers a wealth of scenic beauty, entertainment, cultural and historic opportunities and first-rate attractions, including picturesque natural areas perfect for outdoor activities; Victorian towns; discount shopping outlets; ski and golf resorts; bed and breakfast inns and luxury casino hotels.

The most prominent attraction during the summer months is the vast New Jersey shore. Over 127 miles of sand stretch the coastline of the state, attracting visitors from all over the world. One of the most popular attractions of the Jersey Shore is the glitz and glamour of Atlantic City. Miles of boardwalk and numerous casinos provide something for everyone. Top entertainers frequent the many venues that Atlantic City has to offer as well as championship boxing and the world-famous Miss America Pageant.

New Jersey offers a remarkably diverse range of things to do, places to go and things to see. From the historic Cape May Light House in the south to the world-famous Meadowlands Sports Complex in the north, from the capital of Trenton in the west to Freehold, the birthplace of Rock N' Roll Hall of Famer Bruce Springsteen in the east—New Jersey offers something for everyone. Some of the most popular things to do and see:

- Acres and acres of recreational land for camping, hiking and picnicking, including 70 scenic miles of the Appalachian Trail.
- The Meadowlands Complex, offering professional sports, big name concerts and thoroughbred and harness racing.
- The Pine Barrens, comprising a million-plus acres of pristine scrub pine wilderness and wildlife sanctuary.
- Winter skiing ranging from novice to expert slopes at more than a dozen ski areas in the state.
- The statue of Liberty and Ellis Island, the nation's premier historical landmark.
- The Delaware River, offering boating, fishing, tubing and whitewater rafting along the state's western border.

The key to New Jersey's diversity can be found in its rich history. That history is one of cultural development, tumultuous revolution and booming industry. From its earliest beginnings, New Jersey has been the site of almost non-stop activity.

Much of that activity is due, in large part, to the state's enviable location in the northeast corner of the continent. As a seaport, the region has long welcomed new arrivals from around the world. These immigrants brought with them the cultural heritage of their native lands, resulting in the mingling of customs and cultures which is still apparent at the various ethnic festivals held throughout the year.

There are very few areas of the country that offer as many different types of landscape as New Jersey—beaches, mountains, forests, hills and valleys. Small in size but dynamic in its diversity, New Jersey is a place where you can enjoy first-rate cultural arts performances, spend sun-soaked days lying on famous beaches, crisp autumn afternoons hiking through pines and winter days enjoying fine skiing.

Close to Everything

Situated on the east coast, along the Atlantic Ocean, New Jersey is bordered by Pennsylvania to the west, Delaware to the south and New York to the north. Home to two major airports, Newark International and Atlantic City International airport, it is easily accessible from anywhere in the world. Newark International Airport is one of the major gateways to the United States and is among the most modern, fastest growing and busiest in the world. New Jersey is close to every major city in the eastern corridor. In a few hours, one could travel to any of the major east coast cities. Rutgers is only miles from New York City and Philadelphia and an afternoon's drive to Washington, D.C., Baltimore and Boston.

Powerful in Its Own Right

Despite its size, the fifth smallest state of the 50, New Jersey boasts the seventh highest gross state product and second highest per capita income nationally. Some of the largest and most influential corporations in the world are headquartered here, including Johnson & Johnson, Bristol-Myers Squibb and American Cyanamid. New Jersey is home to 16 major pharmaceutical companies and the state is home to the top seven producers of chemicals and petrochemical distillates nationally. Overall, the state ranks fourth nationally in high tech firms, making job prospects for graduates in these areas better than ever.

New Brunswick

New Brunswick is more than just a vibrant college town. There's something for everyone in New Brunswick. Convenient rail and bus service allows you to travel anywhere in the New Jersey/New York metropolitan area in a matter of minutes. Students can make the trip to New York City in 45 minutes. Travel time to Newark Airport is 30 minutes while "Philly" is just over an hour away.

2000 DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI INDUCTEES

Deron L. Cherry, Cook '81

The former Rutgers gridiron star rose steadily in the worlds of business and professional sports. He played defensive back for the Kansas City Chiefs, is a successful business entrepreneur, and is one of the first African-Americans to co-own a professional NFL football team, the Jacksonville Jaguars.

Jay Chiat, Educ '53

One of the world's 10 most influential advertising giants, a trailblazer whose creative genius revolutionized his industry. In March 1999, he was inducted into the American Advertising Federation's Hall of Fame. He is chief executive officer of Screaming Media, Inc., a New York City-based Internet content distributor to such major clients as America Online, Sun Microsystems, and Microsoft.

Alfred J. Kilmer, RC '08

Known and loved by generations as the heroic World War I soldier-poet, left a rich legacy of books and poetry, the most famous, "Trees," said to be inspired by a majestic tree that stood on the grounds of today's Cook College until the mid-1980s. After graduation, the young Kilmer taught school and worked for Standard Dictionary in New York City, before joining the staff of The New York Times Sunday magazine and Review of Books.

William English Kirwan II GSNB, '62, '64 Is currently the 12th president of Ohio State University. Ohio trustees sought after the former president of the University of Maryland to offer him the post, along with a five-year $1 million contract, based on his national reputation for raising academic standards, attracting outstanding faculty, and making minority diversity an institutional reality.

Barbara J. Krumsie DC '74

Manages billion-dollar portfolios of mutual funds. Ms. Krumsiek is president, CEO, and vice chair of the Calvert Group, Ltd., a mutual fund firm known for its socially responsible investments and refusal to deal with companies whose practices harm the environment, or undermine workers' health or human rights. She holds the distinction of being only the fourth female CEO in the mutual fund industry and is responsible for Calvert's $6 billion worth of investments among 26 mutual funds.

Beverly L. Malone, GSNB '72

A national leader in nursing, education, and patient's rights, was recently named one of the "Top 100

Most Influential African-Americans" by Ebony magazine. In January, 2000 she began serving as senior advisor to U.S. Surgeon General and Assistant Secretary of Health David Satcher, in policy, program development, and in setting legislative priorities. She also provides advice and counsel to Department of Health and Human Services Secretary Donna E. Shalala on public health and science issues.

Bernard Marcus, Pharm '54

As co-founder of The Home Depot, Inc., the world's largest home improvement retailer, Bernard Marcus is a classic rags to riches story. His dazzling ascent from a childhood in the tenements of Newark to the uppermost echelon of prosperity is legendary. A pharmacist-turned-retail sales executive, Mr. Marcus created a business that revolutionized the retail home improvement industry and made him a billionaire.

Peter Schultz, GSNB '67

One of the key inventors of the century, propelled us all into the Information Age when he and two colleagues invented an optical fiber that has become the basis of the Information Superhighway. This fiber carries 65,000 times more information than copper wire. Today, more than 90 percent of the United States long-distance traffic is carried through 15 million miles of optical fiber.

William Trager, RC '30

His seminal research in the laboratory culture of malarial parasites will surely lead to the development of a lifesaving vaccine to conquer malaria. Dr. Trager, a parasitologist, devoted his entire 50-year career to studying organisms that live in or off other beings. Now retired from the faculty of Rockefeller University, Dr. Trager's achievements are deemed by experts as an invaluable step in the search for a malaria vaccine and drug treatments have already resulted in many advancements in testing drugs to combat the disease.

Foster Voorhees, RC '1876

Left a lasting imprint on the social fabric of New Jersey and on Rutgers. As New Jersey's governor, the lifelong bachelor implemented reforms that benefited orphans, improved conditions for prison inmates, and protected the environment. As a philanthropist, he gave generously of his time and estate. Two stately buildings and the scenic promenade on the New Brunswick campus bear his family name: Voorhees Chapel, Voorhees Hall, and Voorhees Mall.

David Stern RC '63, NBA Commissioner

Commissioner of the National Basketball Association; under Stern's leadership, the NBA has added six franchises, its revenues have quadrupled, national television exposure has dramatically increased.

Bernard Marcus, Pharm '54 Co-founder of The Home Depot, Inc.

Co-founder of the world's largest home improvement retailer, Bernard Marcus ascended from a childhood in the tenements of Newark to the uppermost echelon of prosperity. # ATHLETICS

NEW — and third year as Department Chairman at Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey, Newark, in 1987, with a graduation cap. It is always a time of great interest and activity in the program. The recent developments in Rutgers Athletics will provide a means of expansion and should allow a strong support system for a representative coaching staff with a program of well-earning University students to make a great point.

Under his leadership, the Division has leading and implemented a Sports Program to guide Rutgers to the forefront of the increasing and increasing in the Department. A professional organization has provided the administration and support staff to operate the program.

Mulcahy has also placed much emphasis on the role of alumni support, which has been reflected by significant gains in the 1980s. The annual alumni support has included the addition of 17 full-time personnel, compared to 13 in 1980, and internal services. Programs such as the Comprehensive RFL Spring Dinner have been bolstered to help ensure a positive and meaningful experience for the Rutgers student-athlete. The Annual Report, which chronicles the university's achievements and was produced for the first time ever following the

Now, with about 100,000 students, Rutgers is a leading institution in providing the economic development and research that the state needs. Under his leadership, the University of Rutgers to the name of the state's educational system has gained efficiency.

In his first two years as President, Mulcahy has implemented a number of improvements in campus security, including the creation of a number of facilities, including the creation of a new space for the administration of the University of Rutgers. Mulcahy has also implemented a number of programs, which has been a major support for the state's educational system. # ACADEMIC SUPPORT SERVICES

The mission of Academic Support Services is to enhance the academic success and contribute to the development of a well-rounded student-athlete. Upon graduation, the goal is for each student-athlete to be equipped to pursue a career that is a tribute to both the athlete and the university.

Academic Excellence
The athletic department provides support and services to enhance the success of student-athletes in order that each student-athlete will have the opportunity to excel in his/her chosen field of study.

Athletic Excellence
The athletic department is committed to building a winning tradition in the BIG EAST Conference and the NCAA in all 30 of its sports. As such, Rutgers provides facilities, coaching, administrative and other services that will enable student-athletes to enjoy success in athletic competition. In an effort to further open lines of communication between administrators and student-athletes, the Student Athlete Advisory Council was established which serves as student-athletes' official voice.

A truly effective athletic program does not measure success solely on wins and losses, but takes into account the academic progress, personal development and career choices of each student-athlete. Hence, a quality experience both in the classroom and the athletic arena is the primary goal of the Academic Support Program at Rutgers University. The office of student-athlete academic support services is under the direction of the Associate Director of Athletics, Dr. Michael Mahan, who came to Rutgers in September of 1995 and has enhanced the services of the department. One of the first steps was the reorganization of the department into separate units. One unit is located in the Louis Brown Athletic Center, one in the College Avenue Gym and one in the Hale Center. Each of the units is responsible for the athletic teams housed in the three athletic areas. As a result, each student-athlete at Rutgers has an identified academic counselor, and each coach has one counselor for his/her team. In addition, closer relationships have been formed with the dean's offices on each campus.

- Academic Advising
- assists with the admissions process
  - assists with class registration
  - provides tutorial and time management assistance during time away from campus for competitions
  - monitors NCAA eligibility requirements
  - monitors academic progress, degree progress, grades and class attendance
  - assists in career and life goals
  - advises on time management, note taking, test anxiety and preparation
  - assists with applications for academic awards, scholarships and post-graduate scholarships

- Study Hall, Tutors and Computer Labs
- Study halls are scheduled to meet the needs of the athletes, including during travel.
  - Tutors are provided at study halls as well as other scheduled times.
  - Student-athletes have access to a newly renovated computer center featuring Apple Power Mac 7500/100's and Dell XPS P100c's, all connected to laser printers and with access to the Internet and e-mail.

RU STRONG Program
The RU STRONG program (Rutgers University Student-Athletes Total Resource Opportunities for Necessary Growth) was developed by Rutgers University Division of Intercollegiate Athletics to ensure the total development of each student-athlete. The program is designed to educate student-athletes and encourage them to bridge the gap between athletic participation and campus life.

Career Development
Student-athletes receive support and guidance in choosing a career and getting into his or her desired field. The RU STRONG program works cooperatively with the university's career services to acquaint students with the job search process, provide networking opportunities and assists with job placement.

Personal Growth
RU STRONG develops and implements seminars and programs which provide student-athletes with opportunities to explore life outside of athletics. It allows each student athlete to focus on issues such as value clarification, goal setting, fiscal planning, decision making and personal responsibility.

- The Learning Resource Center
The Learning Resource Centers are available to every Rutgers student and provide individual assistance in developing collegiate learning strategies. The center is equipped with computers, study tables for each subject and learning specialists who offer individual help.
- The Learning Resource Center offers:
- individual assistance in developing collegiate learning strategies
  - small-group, drop-in tutoring for numerous courses
  - assistance in planning, organizing and writing papers
  - supplemental instruction for selected courses
  - access to special course support materials such as computer-assisted instruction
  - workshops on learning strategies and effective study techniques.

The following are the Grade Point Averages for every Rutgers sport during the 1999-2000 Academic Year.

ATHLETICS MISSION STATEMENT
The mission of Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey is to offer instruction, conduct research, and provide service to the citizens of New Jersey. The mission of the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics is to provide and operate an intercollegiate athletic program that is an integral part of the university. In accordance with the university's mission, the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics operates all of its programs in a manner consistent with the pursuit of intellectual inquiry, educational discovery, and academic success. To this end, the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics conducts, supervises, and evaluates a broad-based, comprehensive program of intercollegiate athletic sports and operates an academic support program for student-athletes.

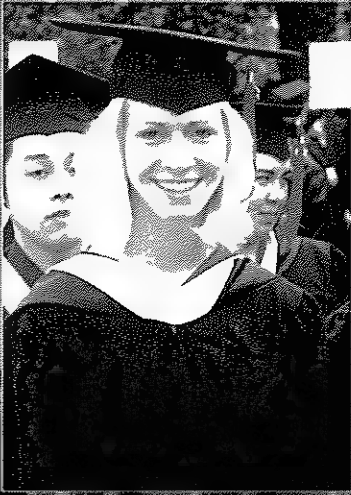

The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics supports equitable opportunities for all students and staff including women and minorities in its programs. The intrinsic value to the participant is the primary criterion by which the worth of the program is judged.

The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics provides the personnel and program, including community service, that are necessary to enable student-athletes to pursue excellence in developing personal, academic, and athletic skills and, in so doing, supports the university in achieving its mission.

1999-2000 Athletic Academic Highlights
The graduation rate of Rutgers student-athletes continues to rise. Rutgers has gone from just over 100 student-athletes graduating each year to over 150 Scarlet Knights wearing the cap and gown annually.

Close to 200 student athletes recorded a 3.5 GPA or higher and well over 300 recorded a 3.0 GPA or higher this year - numbers that continue to increase every year.

Softball player Quyen Tran was given the Student-Athlete Recognition Award by the National Association of Academic Advisors for Athletics. The honor goes to the student-athlete who exhibits overall excellence in the classroom, on the playing field and in the community. Tran, who began her career at Rutgers as a walk-on, worked her way up to being a co-captain and an All-BIG EAST performer in 2000.

Rutgers lacrosse midfielder Liz Chambers was an All-America selection for the third time this past spring. A two-time 4.0 student, Chambers finished her career at Rutgers in second place in all-time career assists with 66 and in fourth place in all-time career scoring with 121 goals.

REACHING OUT

In June, Rutgers center Tammy Sutton-Brown was named to the Canadian national women's basketball team which was one of 12 teams to qualify for the 2000 Sydney Olympics. Sutton-Brown will return next season with valuable international experience to help the Scarlet Knights reach their next goal - the National Championship.

During the 1999-2000 Academic year, the student-athletes and coaches in the Rutgers Family took part in a myriad of events off the playing field and outside the classroom. Student-athletes and coaches "reached out" across the state and the world to help spread goodwill and sportsmanship, and in doing so, helped spread the name of Rutgers University.

C. Vivian Stringer became just the third Division I women's basketball coach to reach the 600 victory plateau with a 68-64 decision over Texas on December 18, 1999. One of the most recognized and respected names in the game, Stringer remains the third winningest coach (621-191 record in 28 years) in women's basketball history.

For their efforts, the women's basketball team received a proclamation from New Jersey Governor Christine Todd Whitman (above), which reads in part: "WHEREAS, the Scarlet Knights made a tremendous run for the national title, defeating top seeded Georgia in the West Region Final, 59-51, to advance to the Final Four in Philadelphia, making Coach Stringer the only coach, man or woman, to take three different schools to the Final Four....and WHEREAS, your families and fans can take great pride in the good sportsmanship and intense training that led to this moment; NOW, THEREFORE, I, CHRISTINE TODD WHITMAN, Governor of the State of New Jersey, do hereby recognize and commend RUTGERS UNIVERSITY'S 1999-2000 WOMEN'S BASKETBALL TEAM and congratulate the team members and coaches, and extend best wishes for continued success, health and happiness in the future."

To help build a sense of family and community between each sport at Rutgers, the Athletic Department holds the Color Games. This annual event, which began in 1996, combines student-athletes from each intercollegiate sport into teams that compete in events from the tug-of-war to musical chairs. Nadia Rogala (left) of this year's yellow team was a co-captain of the women's lacrosse team while earning a 4.0 GPA in the spring semester.

Freshman center Kareem Wright travelled with head basketball coach Kevin Bannon to Greenbrook Elementary School in South Brunswick, NJ to read to children as part of Rutgers' Read Aloud Program (RURAP). Many Rutgers teams, including football, men's basketball and several Olympic sports travelled to local elementary schools to spend time with children. These Scarlet Knights visited 15 local elementary schools to enlighten over 1,200 children as to the importance of reading and the value of a quality education. (photo pg. 145).

The Rutgers Toy Drive, held each December, was again a huge success in 1999. Students-athletes and members of the administration teamed up to collect toys for less fortunate children in the New Brunswick area. Fans were asked to donate toys as well as several home basketball games. In all, hundreds of toys were collected and donated to the Head Start Program in Edison, NJ.

One of the best new programs for Rutgers student-athletes is the Student Athlete Mentor Program (SAM). SAMs serve as peer educators for their athletic team and are trained to assist other athletes with health related issues and concerns. In just one year, the SAM Program has made tremendous progress getting student-athletes involved. The Student-Athlete Mentor Conference was held to inform and educate student-athletes about various health issues, including Alcohol, Stress Management, Nutrition, and Sexual Assault. Keynote speakers, Saskia Webber, Olympic Gold Medalist on the US Women's Soccer team, and Tom Scott, Rutgers Head Strength & Conditioning Coach, spoke on issues that student-athletes currently face and will continue to face in the future.

In 1999-2000, the Rutgers Athletic department hosted well over 350 events, including 59 basketball games, 28 soccer games, 22 baseball games, 15 lacrosse games, seven high school football all-star games, the BIG EAST Outdoor Track & Field Championships, and many more athletic competitions, graduations and special events. Rutgers hosted several NCAA events, including the NCAA Women's Basketball First/Second Round, the NCAA Men's Soccer First Round, the NCAA Men's Lacrosse Quarterfinals and the NCAA Baseball Regional at Upper Montclair, NJ (Yogi Berra Stadium), the first NCAA Baseball Regional in the Northeast in over ten years.

The Rutgers CHAMPS - Life Skills Program...

Designed to provide Rutgers student-athletes with the education and experiences to assist them in bridging the gap from college life to professional life, the R.U. STRONG program stresses also the importance in making meaningful contributions to their communities. The program focuses on five commitments viewed as critical to personal growth:

1. Academic Excellence
2. Personal Development
3. Community Service
4. Athletic Excellence
5. Career Development

Throughout the year, RU STRONG focuses on "real life" skills and personal development through a series of scheduled programs. In addition, the final event of the year, the Color Games, is a non-competitive yet activity-filled social event that inspires athletic unity among the 30 varsity sports that Rutgers offers.

Knight Riders...

A unique and innovative program established by coach Terry Shea, the Knight Riders features Scarlet Knight football players riding in squad cars with on-duty campus police officers. Through this program, athletes gain an appreciation for the important role that campus law enforcement plays at Rutgers. This is just another example of how the Rutgers football program plays an important role in developing campus leaders.

Fan Appreciation...

Rutgers football players truly care about their fans. Two of the many ways they demonstrate that care are the annual Fan Appreciation Day, held on the eve of the season, and "FanFest", held at the conclusion of spring practice. On these days, the Rutgers football team interacts with their many supporters by signing autographs and posing for photos. At the 1997 FanFest, thousands of Rutgers football fans came out to "meet and greet" the Scarlet Knights. In addition to the autograph signings and photos, many interactive games and events were held with a particular focus on the younger set of Scarlet Knight fans.

1999-2000 YEAR IN REVIEW

Shaun O'Hara was named All-BIG EAST (first team) for his performance on the offensive line for the Scarlet Knight football program. A two-time All-BIG EAST selection, the Scarlet Knight co-captain signed a free agent contract with the Cleveland Browns of the NFL.

Senior shortstop Darren Fenster became the first Rutgers player to earn First Team All-America honors (The Sporting News) since Jeff Torborg in 1963. Fenster was also named First Team All-American by the National Collegiate Baseball Writers Association, making him one of 12 finalists for the prestigious Dick Howser Trophy. A consensus All-American, Fenster became the first RU player to be named BIG EAST Player of the Year, and won the BIG EAST overall batting championship.

The men's soccer team won the BIG EAST regular season championship and advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the ninth time in the last 11 seasons under head coach Bob Reasso. The team finished with an overall record of 12-6-3, including an 8-1-1 mark in the BIG EAST.

Shawnetta Stewart, a Kodak District I All-American, was the driving force behind the women's basketball team's journey to its first ever NCAA Final Four in 2000. Stewart led the team in scoring and rebounding for the second straight season and finished her career as the school's 10th all-time leading scorer with 1,346 points in just three years. A first team All-BIG EAST choice for the second straight year, she was named the MVP of the NCAA West Region.

Freshman Todd Billet averaged 12.8 points per game last season, set a Rutgers freshman record with 76 three-pointers made and led the Scarlet Knights in assists with 132. The Rutgers men's basketball team reached the NIT for the second straight season, marking the first time in eight years the Knights made back-to-back post-season appearances.

Head swimming coach Chuck Warner, in just his third season at the helm of the swimming and diving program, led the women's team to a second place finish at the BIG EAST Championships, seven places better than the previous year. The men's program also moved up two spots and finished third. For his efforts, Warner was named BIG EAST Women's Coach of the Year.

Lacrosse co-captain Keith Cromwell, in just three seasons, has become the Rutgers all-time leader in career points with 209. He was a second-team All-America selection (Street & Smith's), honorable mention STX/USILA All-American and a First-Team ECAC selection.

Rutgers women's volleyball player Lola Opadiran became the first Scarlet Knight to be named to the All-BIG EAST First Team in 1999. A four year starter, Opadiran earned BIG EAST honors in each of seasons at Rutgers.

Uchenna Bright of the women's soccer program earned both regional All-America honors and All-BIG EAST honors for the fourth time in 1999. A three-year captain, Bright was named to the All-BIG EAST first team three times during her illustrious career.

The gymnastics team closed out the season with a program-best 16-5 mark and earned its second-ever trip to the NCAA Regionals. During the season, junior Dawn Campbell scored the program's first-ever 10.0 on the uneven bars.

The Rutgers field hockey team finished the season 10-7, and Andschana Mendes was named third team All-American and first team BIG EAST All-Conference.

Heading into her junior year, she needs just 25 points to become Rutgers' all-time leading scorer.

The fencing teams, under the direction of Yefim Litvan, enjoyed another standout season and finished 10th in the NCAA Tournament this year. Following the season, Litvan was named head coach of the U.S. Olympic Fencing Team.

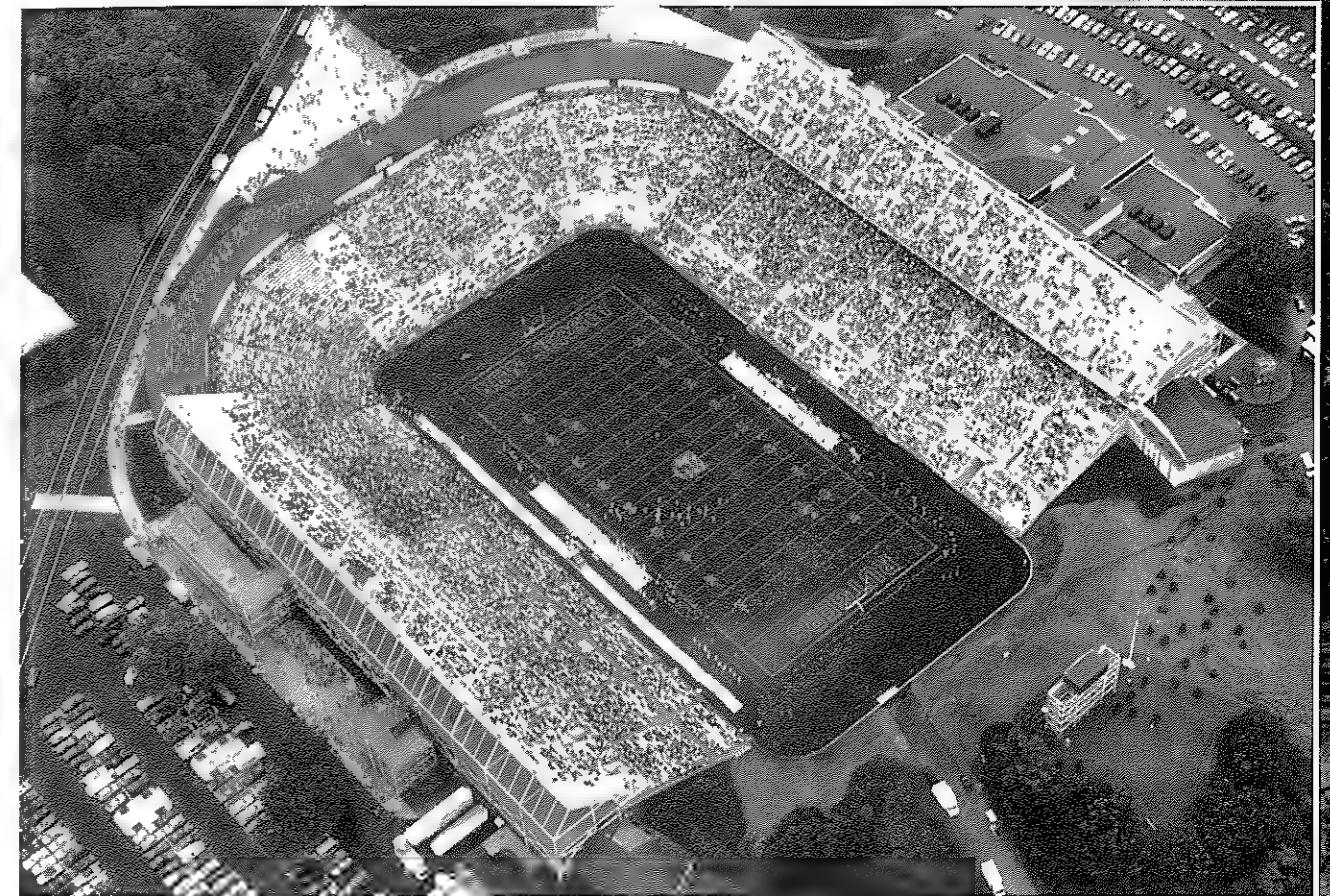

First baseman Kelly Crosson of the softball team finished her career at Rutgers as the greatest hitter (.383) and fielder (.988) in Scarlet Knight history. The Scarlet Knight softball team finished with a 24-16-1 record, for the nineteenth 20-win season in Head Coach Pat Willis' career.

The men's lightweight crew team enjoyed its best season in recent memory. The team finished 7-2 and had been ranked nationally as high as No.1 during the year.

The wrestling team finished 8-3 overall, led by junior Jon Forster, who was ranked in the top 15 nationally for much of the season at 149 pounds. Last season featured the 100th win at Rutgers for coach John Sacchi, achieved in just his 10th season here.

The men's golf team won Metropolitans and finished second at the BIG EAST Championships, while the women's team won the Northeast Championship. Sophomore Dan Lee finished second overall at the BIG EAST Championships, and was named to the All-BIG EAST team, shooting a BIG EAST best 66 on the second day of competition.

FOOTBALL FACILITIES

Rutgers Stadium, built in 1994, is one of college football's most modern stadiums.

The Beck Presidential Suite (above) offers a panoramic view of the game action

The 2000 season marked the 26th and final campaign for lacrosse Coach Tom Hayes. A legend in the game, Hayes finished his coaching career with a record of 194-156 at Rutgers and a career mark that stands at 238-182. A scholarship has been created in his honor and will go annually to a student-athlete on the men's lacrosse team who exemplifies loyalty, dedication and academic prowess.

The Rutgers baseball team, led by head coach Fred Hill, captured the BIG EAST Regular Season and Tournament Championships for the second time in three years, posted its first-ever 40-win season, (finishing the year 40-18) and advanced to its third-consecutive NCAA Tournament. Nationally-ranked for nine-consecutive weeks, the Scarlet Knights finished the season ranked fourth in the nation in team batting average (.344) and sixth in team ERA (.350), the only team in the country to be ranked in the top 10 in both categories.

Rutgers football players achieve their goals in a state-of-the-art facility known as the Hale Center. Located adjacent to Rutgers Stadium, it houses the weight room, football locker room, team meeting rooms, and the Academic Support Services advisors for the football team. It is also home to the Rutgers Football Hall of Fame lounge.

The weight room is a hub of activity on a daily basis. It is a place where good athletes become great athletes. Encompassing a spacious 4,500 square feet, it features the most modern of equipment as well as a high-tech stereo system, enabling superior athletes to reach their peak performances.

Encouragement and guidance are given by Strength & Conditioning coach Skip Fuller, Speed Enhancement coach Mike Johansen, and graduate assistant Jason Poeth. With their office located directly in the weight room, they are part of the action at all times and take a personal interest in each and every Scarlet Knight. They develop individualized programs tailored to the particular needs of each individual athlete.

ATHLETIC FACILITIES

Louis Brown Athletic Center (RAC)

The RAC rocks each winter to the tune of BIG EAST Basketball! 8,500 raucous fans consistently pack the RAC to cheer on the Scarlet Knights.

ESPN's Mike Tirico said, "The Rutgers Athletic Center holds only 8,500 but when they start jumping on those rickety benches, it's louder than a 757 from nearby Newark. Even the sight lines are trouble: At one end, you're looking at the freakazoid student section; at the other, you're staring into a busy concourse with fans moving back and forth like ducks in a shooting gallery."

The Soccer/Lacrosse Stadium, at Yurcak Field

Home of the perennially nationally ranked Rutgers soccer and lacrosse programs, this facility is one of the nation's finest of its kind. Used only for soccer and lacrosse, it seats 5,000 and features an expansive concession stand, an enclosed press box and game day dressing rooms.

The Sonny Werblin Recreation Center

Named for prominent alumnus David A. "Sonny" Werblin, this center houses an outstanding aquatic center featuring an Olympic-size pool with movable bulkheads and two auxiliary pools. Seating is provided for 1,000 spectators, including 400 chair-back seats. Not just a swimming facility, the Recreation Center also includes a fully-equipped weight room and fitness center, four basketball, eight racquetball and two squash courts, along with a 2,000-square-foot multi-purpose room for programs such as instructional dance and martial arts.

The Bubble

The Rutgers Indoor Practice and Conditioning Facility, commonly referred to as "the Bubble," is the nation's largest air-supported indoor structure, measuring 430 x 230 feet in length, it reaches 80 feet at its highest point. This facility allows many Scarlet Knight athletic teams to train and conduct practice sessions in all weather conditions. The New York Giants, after several years of using the Rutgers Bubble as their post-season practice facility, modeled their own indoor air-supported structure after this facility.

Class of 1953 Baseball Complex

This scenic baseball field, home of the nationally-ranked Scarlet Knights, has been the site of exciting college baseball since 1984, including many scholastic county and state playoffs, as well as the Garden State Games. The modern scoreboard in right centerfield was a gift from the Rutgers class of 1953.

Golf Course

A picturesque 18-hole golf course is home to the Rutgers golf teams. Its venerable layout is located on the Busch campus, within the shadow of the Rutgers football stadium and soccer/lacrosse facility. The golf course is open year-round and Rutgers students can play at a discount rate.

ATHLETIC FACILITIES

The College Avenue Gymnasium

The main gym at the College Avenue gymnasium, which served as the home court for both the men's and women's basketball teams until the 1976-77 season, is now the home site for the Scarlet Knight volleyball, fencing, wrestling and gymnastics teams. The former 2,800-seat arena, now accommodates up to 1,200 fans. The present makeup of the gym, with seating that is right on top of the action, provides a dual purpose - to inspire the Scarlet Knight teams and to create an intimidating atmosphere for RU opponents.

Bauer Track and Field Complex

Located directly behind the Louis Brown Athletic Center, the Bauer Track and Field complex is one of the finest in the nation. Specifically built for track and field, the facility boasts eight lanes, two shot put circles, four long/triple jump runways, two discus/hammer cages, two pole vault runways, two javelin runways and sprinting and hurdling areas on either side of the track. The complex was dedicated on May 15, 1998 to the Bauer family. William '42 and Barbara '46 Bauer made a significant donation to add the finishing touches to the facility, including a grandstand, making the complex one of the finest in the nation.

The Boathouse

The Rutgers Class of 1914 Boathouse, located adjacent to the Raritan River, has served as the home of the Rutgers crew teams since its construction in 1950. Located on Route 18 directly below the Cook/Douglass campuses, the boat house sits at the east end of Boyd's Park and hosts as many as five intercollegiate regattas each year and while also serving as the main training site during the fall and spring seasons.

SENIOR ATHLETICS ADMINISTRATION

JOSEPH A. QUINLAN, JR.

Senior Associate Director of Athletics

Joe Quinlan begins his third season at Rutgers as Senior Associate Athletic Director.

Quinlan, who holds a master's degree in physical education from Ohio State (1983) and a bachelor's in health science/sports medicine from Slippery Rock (1980), oversees the day-to-day operations of the department, all aspects of Rutgers' 27 Olympic Sports, Rutgers sports medicine, and NCAA Rules Compliance.

Quinlan, who directed the Meadowlands Organizing Committee for the 1996 NCAA Final Four, supervised all staff and subcommittee operations, was the primary contact among the NCAA, Rutgers and the NJSEA on all Final Four matters and was the principal liaison with more than 15 interstate agencies on matters of security, transportation and operations in New York and New Jersey.

Following the 1996 Final Four, he was promoted to Director of Operational Review and Analysis in the Office of the President/CEO for the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority. He served as primary advisor to the President/CEO on all college athletics issues and staff liaison to the NJSEA Board of Commissioners.

A native of Allegany, NY, Quinlan served from 1989-92 as the Assistant Director of the NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Championship. At the NCAA, he assisted the management team in the administration of the NCAA Championship, implemented the policies and procedures of the Division I Men's Basketball committee, directed the Final Four transportation system and worked closely with the host institution/conference on all NCAA matters.

Quinlan began his athletic administrative career as the Director of Sports Information at Loyola (MD) from 1984-86 and then served as an Assistant Sports Information Director at Seton Hall from 1986-87. In 1987, he was promoted to assistant athletics director at Seton Hall and served in that capacity until his move to the NCAA offices. Prior to his tenure with the Final Four, he served as assistant athletics director at St. Bonaventure University.

Quinlan, and his wife, Noreen, have an 8-year old daughter, Tess. They reside in Upper Montclair, NJ.

TERRANCE BEACHEM

Associate Director of Athletics / Chief Financial Officer

A 1970 graduate of Rutgers, Terry Beachem has worked in the Division for over 15 years, serving in the area of Finance and Administration.

In his role as Associate Athletic Director, Beachem oversees all aspects of the operating budget for the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics, including scholarships and personnel administration. Beachem also oversees all human resource activities for the Division, including recruitment and hiring, employee benefits, affirmative action and employment contracts.

Beachem serves as the liaison for the Athletic Division with the senior Vice President and Treasurer, the Vice President for Administration and the Office of the University Counsel.

Beachem earned his undergraduate degree in Economics and a master's of Business Administration from Rutgers in 1972. As an undergraduate, Beachem was a football manager for four seasons, serving as the head manager in the 1968 and 1969 seasons.

Beachem and his wife, Kathleen, currently reside in the Mercerville section of Hamilton Township. They have a son Mark, 13.

KEVIN MACCONNELL

Associate Director of Athletics for External Affairs

A 1980 Rutgers graduate, Kevin MacConnell is responsible for the marketing, promotions, corporate sponsorship, radio and television for Rutgers athletics. Additionally, he oversees the Sports Media Relations Office and the Ticket Office, and coordinates all aspects of the marketing and promotions for the entire athletic division.

While taking on these vast duties, MacConnell has served as the Tournament Manager for 11 NCAA Championships, including the 1996 NCAA Final Four at the Meadowlands. He has also been the Chair of the Men's BIG EAST Soccer Committee since 1995, a member of the Women's Basketball Committee and was a member of the NCAA Soccer Committee for the Mid-Atlantic Region from 1994-1996.

Before taking on the role as Associate Athletic Director, MacConnell served as Director of Media Relations for Rutgers from 1986-1988. Prior to coming to Rutgers, he served as the Director of Media Relations for the Atlantic 10 from 1984-1986, the Director of Public Relations for the New Jersey Generals from 1982-84 and Assistant Public Relations Director for the New Jersey Nets from 1980-82.

A native of Plainfield, MacConnell is a member of the Board of Directors for the Middlesex Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Board of Directors for the United Way of Central Jersey. MacConnell and his wife, the former Debbie Sake, are the parents of one-year old Kevin Cole. He also has a son Brett, 14.

BRIAN CROCKETT

Associate Director of Athletics for Development / Executive Director of Scarlet R Club

A 1982 Rutgers graduate and former Scarlet Knight stand-out tight end, Brian Crockett is the Associate Director of Athletics for Development and Executive Director of the Scarlet R Club. Crockett's main responsibilities are overseeing all fund-raising activities which support the 30 intercollegiate sports at Rutgers.

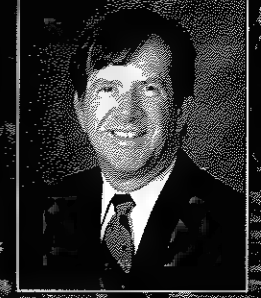

Since coming to Rutgers in 1993, Crockett has increased the fundraising to more than $3 million per year. He has also raised more than $3 million in gifts and pledges for the Campaign to Support the Rutgers Stadium Expansion and Women's Athletic Scholarships. Crockett is also the Second Vice President of the National Association of Athletic Development Directors (NAADD).

Prior to coming to Rutgers, Crockett was a Major Account Manager for Digital Equipment Corporation in New York City, a position he held for nine years. He also spent two years as a Senior Marketing Representative at Xerox.

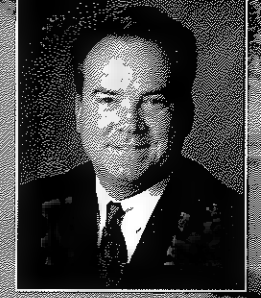

Crockett graduated from Rutgers with a BS in Health and Physical Education. Upon his graduation, Crockett joined the football staff as a graduate assistant for a year where he coached the tight ends and worked in the areas of recruiting and scouting.

DR. MICHAEL MAHAN
Associate Director of Athletics
for Academic Support Services

Dr. Michael Mahan has been at Rutgers for the past five years, during which time the Academic Support Services has become one of the fastest growing departments in the Athletic Division. In his tenure, he and his staff of nine professional counselors have coordinated the departments' expansion into the computer age in the areas of student services, problem solving and record keeping. The staff has also seen the expansion of the department to three campuses and new computer labs in the Hale Center and the Louis Brown Athletic Center to better serve the student-athletes.

Mahan, who holds a doctorate in Biology, a master's in Personnel Administration and an undergraduate degree in Biology from Ball State, came to Rutgers from Auburn University where he served as the Director of Academic and Compliance Services. While working at Auburn and Ball State, Dr. Mahan also taught a variety of courses including Human Health, Anatomy, General Biology, Comparative Anatomy and Immunology. In 1995, Mahan was elected the President of the Auburn Chapter of Sigma Xi. Research areas include Physical Stress and the Immune System, and "Tumor Immunology in Rodents."

An experienced academic counselor, Mahan has worked in this field for over 20 years. Dr. Mahan was the first athletic advisor at Ball State in 1978 and has published and presented workshops across the country. Serving on the National Board of Directors for the National Association of Academic Advisors for Athletics was a high point professionally.

Dr. Mahan and his wife, Pam, reside in Kendall Park, N.J. They have two children; Michael, 31, lives in North Carolina and Kristin, 30, lives in California.

Kathleen Hickey

Natalie Migliaro

Dr. Robert Monaco

KATHLEEN HICKEY
Assistant Director of Athletics

Kate Hickey joined the Rutgers staff in January, 1999 as an Assistant Athletic Director. Her responsibilities at Rutgers include overseeing NCAA compliance for the football and men's and women's basketball programs and day-to-day oversight for nine Olympic sports programs. Hickey also serves as the co-advisor for the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee and the Chair of the Division's Title IX Committee.

Prior to her appointment at Rutgers, Hickey served as Assistant Director for Compliance at the BIG EAST Conference. While at the BIG EAST, she had a broad range of responsibilities in the area of compliance, including serving as a primary liaison between the NCAA and the 13 member institutions of the BIG EAST, conducting NCAA rules education programs for coaches and administrators in the conference, working with the National Letter of Intent program, and serving as the primary liaison to the NCAA Clearinghouse. Hickey was also the staff liaison to the Conference's Student-Athlete Advisory Committee.

Prior to her appointment at the BIG EAST, Hickey was on the staff of the Southern Conference. She worked in both the championships and compliance areas, before being appointed Assistant Commissioner in May 1995, a post she held until moving to the BIG EAST in August 1996. In her role as Assistant Commissioner of the Southern Conference, she was the league's primary compliance officer. She also was responsible for developing and implementing the Conference's Student-Athlete Leadership Institute, a program designed to assist student-athletes in developing the skills necessary to become positive leaders and role models.

Hickey began her career in college athletics as an operations supervisor at the University of North Carolina in 1992 and as an intern in compliance and academic support.

Hickey, a native of Narragansett, RI, received her undergraduate degree in Health and Physical Education from the University of Rhode Island in 1992 and her master's degree in Sport Administration from the University of North Carolina in 1994.

NATALIE MIGLIARO
Assistant Director of Athletics

Natalie Migliaro has been a member of the Division's family since 1996 when she joined the staff as Assistant Business Manager. Her responsibilities include overseeing the budgets for various sports, supervising all travel logistics for Men's and Women's Basketball and all Olympic sports, overseeing the annual NCAA audit and administering the Division's car and van fleet and courtesy car program.

Before joining the Athletic Department, Migliaro was a senior accountant in the Rutgers University internal accounting department. Prior to coming to Rutgers, she served as a senior accountant with Deloitte & Touche, LLP.

A 1992 graduate of Wagner College with a BS in Accounting, Migliaro competed on the Wagner softball team, serving as captain her junior and senior year. She also played one year of varsity tennis and served as the women's basketball manager for four years. Migliaro had a stellar high school career as well, as she competed on the varsity tennis, basketball and softball teams, was named MVP for each sport in her senior year and was named outstanding athlete of her graduating class.

Migliaro is currently studying to receive her Masters degree in Higher Education from Rutgers. She is an avid golfer and a lifelong resident of Clark, NJ.

Assistant Director of Athletics/Director of Sports Medicine

Dr. Robert Monaco has been the team physician at Rutgers University since 1996. His primary responsibilities are to oversee the medical treatment of athletes for the 30 Division I sports in the Division, as well as supervise a group of ten full time certified athletic trainers and more than two dozen student trainers who work with each team on a day-to-day basis.

His educational background includes a bachelor's degree from Columbia University, where he competed in wrestling and captained the team his senior year. He went on to receive his medical degree from the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, where he was a member of the Alpha Omega Alpha Medical Honor Society. He completed his residency at UMDNJ Robert Wood Johnson Medical School and St. Peter's Hospital in New Brunswick, working with the Department of Family Medicine.

Dr. Monaco has also done postgraduate study and completed a fellowship in sports medicine at Robert Wood Johnson Medical School, which included work at Princeton University and the hospital for Special Surgery in New York City. In addition, Dr. Monaco holds a master's in Public Health from Rutgers and UMDNJ Robert Wood Johnson Medical School.

A native of Nutley, NJ, Dr. Monaco comes from a family of physical educators, coaches and athletes.

KATHLEEN SHANK
for Academic Support Services

Kathleen Shank begins her fifth year working in the Office of Support Services for Student-Athletes, after serving for 12 years as an assistant women's basketball coach. During her coaching career with the Scarlet Knights, Shank was an integral part of the winning tradition of the Knights, helping the team advance twice to the NCAA Elite Eight and once to the Sweet Sixteen, while coaching several All-Americans and Academic All-Americans. One of her main duties with the women's basketball program was also to serve as academic coordinator.

Shank also served as a team scout for the 1992 USA Women's Olympic Basketball team, which captured the bronze medal. With 17 years of experience as a collegiate coach, Shank is a 1981 graduate of St. Bonaventure University, where she earned a BS in mathematics. She also earned a Master's in Physical Education (Tests and Measurements) from the University of Iowa in 1984.

As Assistant Director of Athletics for Academic Support Services, Shank has supervised the Support Services Office that serves men's and women's basketball, men's and women's swimming and diving, baseball, men's and women's golf, men's heavyweight and lightweight crew, men's freshmen heavyweight and lightweight crew, women's crew and women's novice crew.

Shank previously served as the primary Athletic Academic Advisor for women's basketball, baseball and Women's Golf. Currently serving as the Athletics liaison to the Office of Undergraduate Admissions, Shank now serves as the supervisor for the football, baseball, men's lacrosse and men's soccer programs, with her primary responsibilities as the coordinator of football and baseball.

Shank and her husband, Chuck, currently reside in Somerset, NJ with their sons, Brian (6), Brendan (1) and infant son Kevin.

JOHN TERNYILA
Assistant Director of Athletics
for Finance and Administration

John Ternyila has been with the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics for 14 years. His responsibilities include overseeing the day-to-day financial aspects of all 30 sports within the Division. Ternyila oversees a six-person staff which coordinates budgets, travel and purchasing aspects for every team and the support services within the Division. He also coordinates all travel and related services for the Scarlet Knight football program. Additionally, he has served on the University Title IX sub-committee, NCAA Certification sub-committee and the University Travel Review Committee.

Before coming to Rutgers in 1986, Ternyila was an Assistant Accounting Manager for both the Electronic and Video Components Division in Secaucus, NJ.

A 1975 Trenton State College (now The College of New Jersey) graduate with a BS in Accounting and Public Administration, Ternyila served as the Director of Recreation in his hometown of Milltown, NJ for seven years, 1988-95, increasing the participation of youth and adult activities significantly.

Ternyila lives in Milltown with his wife, Karol, and their children Brian (19) and Jeff (17).

RITA KAY THOMAS
Senior Assistant Director of Athletics

Rita Kay Thomas begins her 27th year in the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics. She was hired in 1974 as the Assistant Director of Athletics/Director of Women's Intercollegiate Sports and Head Coach of Women's Tennis. Thomas worked extensively with the original seven women's sports of field hockey, tennis, swimming, basketball, softball, track, and gymnastics in the areas of scheduling and game management. She continues to serve the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics as the Senior Women's Administrator.

Thomas currently oversees all aspects of NCAA Rules Compliance for Rutgers' Olympic Sports programs. She also presents NCAA rules education programs for administrative staff, coaches and student-athletes throughout the academic year. A key component of the compliance program is the information contained in team rosters, NCAA squad lists, and the various consent forms needed for athletic participation, which Thomas coordinates.

Additionally, Thomas coordinates the publication of the Student-Athlete Handbook, an annual resource utilized by Rutgers student-athletes.

She has also served as President and Executive Secretary of the NJIAAW.

Previously a junior high school and collegiate teacher, Thomas has also served as a coach for women's basketball and tennis and has been a mentor for coaches and student-athletes. Thomas received a B.S. degree in physical education with a minor in psychology from Mt. Scholastica College and a master's of Education from Syracuse.

JOHN WOODING
Assistant Director of Athletics for Sports Media Relations

John Wooding is in his third year as Assistant Athletic Director for Sports Media Relations at Rutgers University. He is responsible for all day-to-day media operations related to the Scarlet Knight football program, and oversees the media operations for all 30 of the Division's intercollegiate sports while supervising a full-time staff of four.

Wooding returned to his alma mater after 12 years at Seton Hall University, including the last eight as Associate Athletic Director/Communications. While at Seton Hall, Wooding served as the primary spokesperson for the University's intercollegiate athletic program and coordinated the day-to-day activities of the sports information office. Wooding was also responsible for a variety of external duties as assigned by the Director of Athletics.

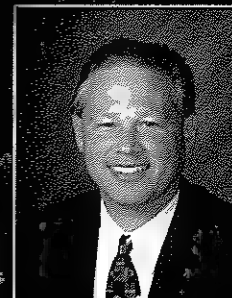

Wooding, a 1978 graduate of Rutgers, has been active in sports media relations throughout his career. He was named Sports Information Director at Seton Hall in 1982 after four years as a sportswriter at The News Tribune. Included among his regular assignments while at The News Tribune were the Rutgers football and basketball beats.

After four years as Sports Information Director at Seton Hall, Wooding was named Assistant Commissioner of the Atlantic 10 Conference in 1986, a post he held for four years before returning to Seton Hall in 1990. While at the Atlantic 10, Wooding coordinated the conference's communications efforts and was also Tournament Director for a number of the league's championship events, including basketball, soccer and baseball. He has worked in media relations and operations at a number of NCAA Championship events throughout his career, was also a member of the Northeast Baseball Consortium Committee that helped bring the NCAA Baseball Regional Tournament to northeast sites for three consecutive years. Wooding was the 1996 recipient of the Mike Cohen "Good Guy" Award, presented by the Metropolitan College Basketball Writers Association.

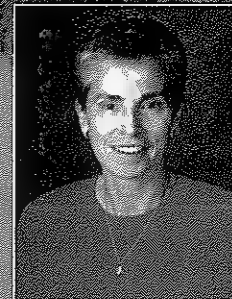

Wooding, a native of New Brunswick, and his wife, Terry, reside in Metuchen with their two daughters, Christine (9) and Jamie (5).

ACADEMIC LIAISONS

DEAN CARL KIRSCHNER
Chair, Academic Oversight Committee for Intercollegiate Athletics

Carl Kirschner, Dean of Rutgers College since 1994, was appointed Chair of the Academic Oversight Committee for Intercollegiate Athletics (AAOC) in 1997. The AAOC acts on the admission of student-athletes, monitors their general academic progress and makes recommendations on academic support policy and programming.

A professor of linguistics and former chair of the Department of Spanish and Portuguese, Dr. Kirschner majored in linguistics and earned his bachelor's degree from the State University of New York at Buffalo in 1970.

He completed his doctorate in linguistics at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst in 1976 and has been a member of the Rutgers faculty for 22 years.

Dr. Kirschner's research program focuses on syntax and semantics in both English and Spanish. He has two books and journal articles on topics in syntax, semantics and sociolinguistics and his current project is on syntactic shift in bilinguals.

Dr. Kirschner resides in Readington with his wife Bonnie, a psychologist and Rutgers alumna who received her doctorate from the Graduate School of Applied and Professional Psychology. They have two children, Emily, a former field hockey athlete and a 1999 graduate of Rutgers College and Jonathan, a second-year student in the Rutgers College General Honors program.

DR. JEFFREY RUBIN
NCAA Faculty Representative

Dr. Jeffrey Rubin was appointed as the NCAA Faculty Athletics Representative in 1996. During 1996 and 1997, he served as chair of the steering committee for the self-study of the University's intercollegiate athletics program. The self-study report is one of the components needed to satisfy the requirements for certification by the NCAA.

A professor of economics at the University, Dr. Rubin was recently appointed as the Director of Undergraduate Studies in the Department of Economics. He is also affiliated with the Institute for Health, Health Care Policy and Aging Research at Rutgers. A mathematics major, Dr. Rubin received his bachelor's degree from Rutgers in 1970. He earned his doctorate in economics from Duke University in 1975, and joined the Rutgers faculty in 1976. Dr. Rubin's primary research interest is in health economics, with a special focus on the financing and delivery of mental health care.

Dr. Rubin is a lifelong New Jersey resident who grew up in Hoboken and now resides in Piscataway. His wife Barbara, a Plainfield native, teaches in the Piscataway school system. They have two sons, Richard (23) and Michael (19).

PATTY DeSANTIS Athletic Equipment Administrator

Patty DeSantis has been a member of the Division's family since 1978 when she joined the staff as an Assistant Equipment Manager. Her responsibilities as Athletic Equipment Administrator include overseeing a staff of five people who handle the day-to-day equipment responsibilities for 30 Division I sports. Her department served as a key component for the Division's introduction of a new logo in May, 1997. DeSantis and her staff were instrumental in the transition of uniforms and other athletic apparel from the old logo to the new.

The equipment staff continues to update their inventory by staying current with the latest advances in equipment technology. Certified by the Athletic Equipment Managers Association, DeSantis' staff includes Pat Manning, Gene Wells, Celia Hill, John Reardon and Ulysses Molina.

DON KESSLER Coordinator of Athletic Training Services

A 14-year veteran at the Division, Don Kessler coordinates the athletic training services for all 30 Division I sports at the University and supervises a group of nine full-time certified athletic trainers and more than two dozen student trainers who work with each team on a day-to-day basis.

Recognized as one of the outstanding athletic trainers in America, Kessler has been working in the athletic training field for a quarter of a century. He is a past President of the Athletic Trainers Society of New Jersey, and was a President of the Eastern Athletic Trainers Association from 1993-1994. Kessler also serves as a member of the Board of Directors for the National Athletic Trainer's Association Research and Education Foundation. He has been recognized for distinguished service by both NATA and the Athletic Trainers Society of New Jersey in 1996, and was inducted into the Hall of Fame of the ATSNJ in March, 1998. Kessler has also been appointed by three governors to be on an advisory committee to the State Board of Medical Examiners, a position he has held for 14 years.

Originally a member of the Rutgers class of 1969, he was a 1970 graduate of the University of Ozarks in Arkansas and earned his master's degree from the University of Arkansas in 1971.

Kessler and his wife, Maggie, live in North Brunswick. Their son Gregg is a 1995 Cook College graduate.

GREG MENZEL Director of Ticket Operations

Greg Menzel was named Director of Ticket Operations at Rutgers University in May, 1999. He is responsible for all ticketing aspects of the Rutgers athletic program.

Menzel arrived at Rutgers after three years as Athletic Ticket Manager at Western Michigan University, where he was responsible for managing the Broncos' ticket operations. While at Western Michigan, he also supervised ticket operations for the 1997 NCAA West Regional Hockey Tournament.

Menzel also served as Director of Ticket Operations for the Orange Bowl Committee in Miami, FL, for two years, following a four year stint as Assistant Ticket Director. Menzel supervised the ticket operations for four national championship FedEx Orange Bowl Football Games, as well as additional events such as the King Orange Jamboree Parade and the Orange Bowl Basketball Classic.

A graduate of The College of New Jersey who originally hails from Blairstown, N.J., he began his career in college athletics as Supervisor of Events for the University of Miami's Campus Sports and Recreation Department. He also earned his masters degree with an emphasis in sports administration from Miami (FL).

The First Football Game

Rutgers University and its neighbor, Princeton, played the first game of intercollegiate football on Nov. 6, 1869, on a plot of ground where the present-day Rutgers gymnasium now stands in New Brunswick, N.J. Rutgers won that first game, 6-4.

The game, which bore little resemblance to its modern-day counterpart, was played with two teams of 25 men each under rugby-like rules, but like modern football, it was "replete with surprise, strategy, prodigies of determination, and physical prowess," to use the words of one of the Rutgers players.

William J. Leggett, captain of the Rutgers team who later became a distinguished clergyman of the Dutch Reformed Church, suggested that rules for the contest be adopted from those of the London Football Association. Leggett's proposal was accepted by Captain William Gunmere of Princeton, who later became Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of New Jersey.

At 3 p.m. on that memorable afternoon, the 50 combatants and about 100 spectators gathered on the field. Most of the assemblage sat on a low wooden fence and watched the athletes doff hats, coats and vests and use suspenders as belts. To distinguish themselves from the bareheaded visitors, 50 Rutgers students, including players, donned scarlet-colored scarfs which they converted into turbans.

The teams lined up with two members of each team remaining more or less stationary near the opponent's goal in the hopes of being able to slip over and score from unguarded positions. Thus, the present day "sleeper" was conceived. The remaining 23 players were divided into groups of 11 and 12. While the 11 "fielders" lined up in their own territory as defenders, the 12 "bulldogs" carried the battle.

Each score counted as a "game" and 10 games completed the contest. Following each score, the teams changed direction. The ball could be advanced only by kicking or batting it with the feet, hands, heads or sides.

Events leading up to the game were described by John W. Herbert, Rutgers '72, who was one of the players: "To appreciate this game to the full you must know something of its background," Herbert wrote in 1933. "The two colleges were, and still are, of course, about 20 miles apart. The rivalry between them was intense. For years each had striven for possession of an old Revolutionary cannon, making night forays and lugging it back and forth time and again. Not long before the first football game, the canny Princetonians had settled this competition in their own favor by ignominiously sinking the gun in several feet of concrete. In addition to this, I regret to report, Princeton had beaten Rutgers in baseball by the harrowing score of 40-2. Rutgers longed for a chance to square things."

A challenge for the game was issued by Rutgers. Three games were to be played that year. The first played at New Brunswick and won by Rutgers. Princeton won the second game, but cries of "over-emphasis" prevented the third game in football's first year when faculties of both institutions protested on the grounds that the games were interfering with student studies.

Herbert gave this detailed account of the play in the first game: "Though smaller on the average, the Rutgers players, as it developed, had ample speed and fine football sense. Receiving the ball, our men formed a perfect interference around it and with short, skillful kicks and dribbles drove it down the field. Taken by surprise, the Princeton men fought valiantly, but in five minutes we had gotten the ball through to our captains on the enemy's goal and S.G. Gano, '71 and G.R. Dixon, '73, neatly kicked it over. None thought of it, so far as I know, but we had without previous plan or thought evolved the play that became famous a few years later as 'the flying wedge'."

Herbert then related that his teammates failed to note a conference the Princeton's captain was holding with the giant of the Tiger team, J.E. Michael, '71, known to his mates as "Big Mike."

"Next period Rutgers bucked, or received the ball, hoping to repeat the flying wedge," Herbert's account continues. "But the first time we formed it Big Mike came charging full upon us. It was our turn for surprise. The Princeton battering ram made no attempt to reach the ball but, forerunner of the interference-breaking ends of today, threw himself into our mass play, bursting us apart, and bowing us over. Time and again Rutgers formed the wedge and charged; as often Big Mike broke it up. And finally on one of these incredible break-ups a Princeton bulldog with a long accurate, perhaps lucky kick, sent the ball between the posts for the second score.

"The flying wedge thus checkmated, Rutgers might have been in a bad spot had not Madison Ball, '73, come through. He had a trick of kicking the ball with his heel. All the game he had been a puzzle to the Princetonians. The ball would be rolling toward the Rutgers goal, and, running ahead of it instead of taking time to turn, he would heel it back. He made several such plays, greatly encouraging his team. Then he capped all this by one tremendous lucky backward drive directly to Dixon, standing squarely before Princeton's goal...Dixon easily scored, giving us a one-goal lead. Big Mike again rose, however, in a berserk endeavor, and, getting the ball, he called the Princeton men into a flying wedge of their own and straight-away they took the ball right down the field and put it over."

It was at this point that a Rutgers professor could stand it no longer. Waving his umbrella at the participants, he shrieked, "you will come to no Christian end!"

Herbert's account of the game continues: "The fifth and sixth goals went to Rutgers. The stars of the latter period of play, in the memory of the players after the lapse of many years, were "Big Mike" and Large (former State Senator George H. Large of Flemington, another Princeton player). Someone by a random kick had driven the ball one side, where it rolled against the fence and stopped. Large led the pursuit for the ball closely followed by Michael. They reached the fence on which students were perched, and unable to check their momentum, in a tremendous impact they struck it. The fence then gave way with a crash and over went the band of yelling students to the ground.

"Every college probably has the humorous tradition of some player who has scored against his own team. This tradition at Rutgers dated from this first game, for one of our players, whose identity is unknown, in the sixth period started to kick the ball between his own goal posts. The kick was blocked, but Princeton took advantage of the opportunity and soon made the goal. This turn of the game apparently disorganized Rutgers, for Princeton also scored the next goal after a few minutes of play, thus bringing the total up to four all."

At this point Leggett introduced strategy to turn the tide in favor of Rutgers. Noticing that Princeton obtained a great advantage from its taller players, Leggett ordered his men to keep the ball close to the ground. Following this strategy, Rutgers kicked the ninth and tenth goals, thus winning the match.

An analytical account of the game appeared in the November, 1869 issue of the Targum, Rutgers' undergraduate newspaper.

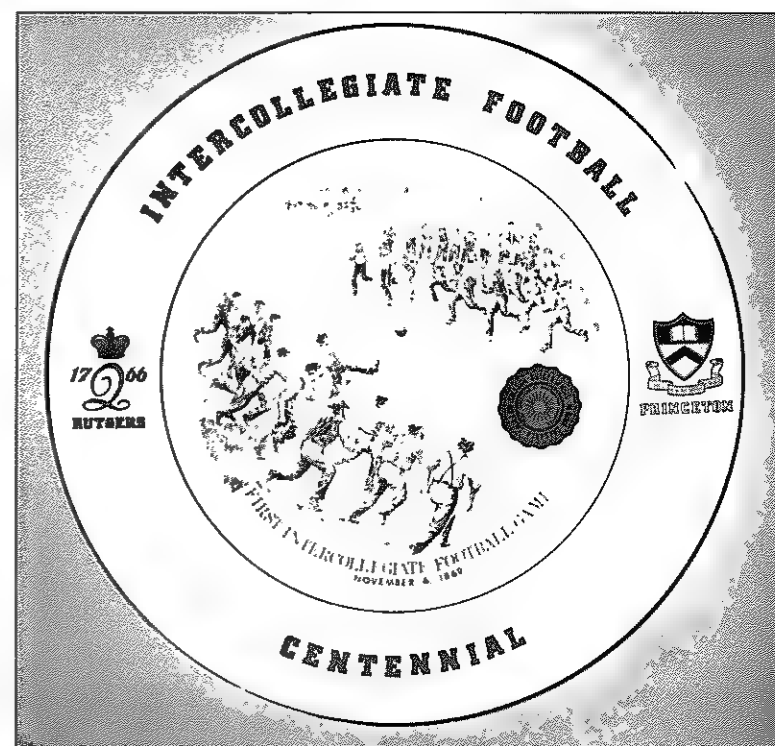

"To describe the varying fortunes of the match, game by game, would be a waste of labor for every game was like the one before," wrote the student re-porter. "There was the same headlong running, wild shouting, and frantic kicking.

"In every game the cool goaltenders saved the Rutgers goal half a dozen times; in every game the heavy charger of the Princeton side overthrew everything he came in contact with; and in every game, just when the interest in one of those delightful rushes at the fence was culminating, the persecuted ball would fly for refuge into the next lot, and produce cessation of hostilities until, after the invariable 'foul', it was put in straight.

"To sum up, Princeton had the most muscle, but didn't kick very well, and wanted organization. They evidently don't like to kick the ball on the ground. Our men, on the other hand, though comparatively weak, ran well, and kicked well throughout. But their great point was the organization, for which great praise is due to the captain. The right men were always in the right place."

One of the Princeton players, William Preston Lane, in 1933 contended in a newspaper interview that Rutgers "ran us Princeton men out of town. I never found out why they did that," he related. "But we don't ask any questions. When we saw them coming after us, we ran to the outskirts of New Brunswick and got into our carriages and wagons and went away as fast as we could."

Lane's contention is refuted in the Targum account. "After the match the players had an amicable 'feed together," the paper reported. "At 8 o'clock our guests went home, in high good spirits, thirsting to beat us next time, if they can."

The Daily Fredonian, a New Brunswick paper of that era, supported the Targum account in its issue of November 9, 1869.

"Though the generous liberality of the students of Rutgers College," the Fredonian reported, "a bountiful entertainment was prepared for our Princeton friends, at the favorite resort in Church Street known as Northrop's where 'mine host' and his estimable lady know how to get up a good supper."

Regardless of what actually happened after the first game, football was here to stay. Rutgers got Columbia University started in the grid sport the following season and in a few years most of the colleges and universities in the East were represented on the gridiron.

The foregoing account of America's first intercollegiate football game was prepared from material obtained from reliable sources. Previous drafts of the account were authenticated by surviving members of the first Rutgers and Princeton teams. The last surviving Princeton player, Robert Preston Lane (Class of 1872) died November 5, 1938. The last surviving Rutgers player, George H. Large (Class of 1872) died in the spring of 1939.

FIRST INTERCOLLEGIATE FOOTBALL GAME

WON BY RUTGERS OVER PRINCETON
BY GOALS TO FOUR GOALS

The following are the names of the players who took part in the first intercollegiate football game, played on the afternoon of October 3, 1869, between Rutgers and Princeton. The Rutgers team was composed of twenty-four players, and the Princeton team of twenty-five. The Rutgers team was coached by George Foster Sanford, and the Princeton team by John F. Hart. The game was played on a grass field in New Brunswick, New Jersey. Rutgers won the game by a score of 6-0.

When Rutgers defeated Princeton in the first intercollegiate football game ever played in 1869, the setting was quite different than it is today. The game was contested on a field along College Avenue in New Brunswick.

There weren't tens of thousands of cheering fans in a multi-million dollar stadium. There was no manicured grass field or electronic scoreboard. There was no elaborate athletic equipment or television cameras. But on that fall day in 1869, those students established a tradition of quality football programs, competitiveness and school spirit that continues at Rutgers, the birthplace of intercollegiate football.

On October 1, 1994, Rutgers celebrated that first team and all the teams that followed, as the 1994 squad played only its third game in the spectacular new Rutgers Stadium, hosting perennial national power Miami.

The game also continued 125 years of historical moments, outstanding athletes and memorable triumphs.

However, those historic moments were difficult to predict during the example, Rutgers won six of 10 games in 1882, but played only one game in 1885. Similarly, the Scarlet Knights went 8-6 in 1891, but two early years when intercollegiate football scheduling was inconsistent. For years later played only four games. By the early 1900's, scheduling had become more consistent and football became more popular across the country.

The eight wins of 1891 weren't matched until Rutgers went 8-1 in 1947 with one of the most successful teams of coach Harvey Harman in the Golden Era immediately following World War II. That team, quarterbacked by Frank Burns, who would later become Rutgers' most successful coach, lost its opener to Columbia and then swept through eight straight opponents.

In 1913, coach George Foster Sanford began a tradition of success among Rutgers coaches in their inaugural year by leading his team to a 6-3 mark. He then flirted with two perfect seasons, improving the team to 7-1 in 1915 and 7-1-1 in 1917.

Those two seasons, which featured All-American Paul Robeson, were among Rutgers' best. The Scarlet Knights outscored opponents by an average of 44-3 in 1915 and 33-2 in 1917. Sanford, a member of Rutgers' Hall of Fame, also helped to introduce Rutgers to the New York metropolitan area, playing games at the Polo Grounds against teams like Notre Dame, Nebraska, Louisiana

Neilson Field

Harvey Harman also had a successful first season, going 7-1 in 1938, the year Rutgers dedicated the original Rutgers Stadium. Rutgers won the dedication game, 20-18, over Princeton. Harman, however, was replaced by former coach Harry Rockafeller during World War II. His tenure included an 8-1 season in 1947 when Rutgers, dominated by WWII vet-

Rutgers to an 8-1 mark in 1958. The only loss of that season, 13-12 to the Quantico Marines, came when All-American tailback Billy Austin had to miss a game due to a broken hand.

Another first-year coach got off to an impressive start when John Bateman went 8-1 in 1960. That campaign was followed by Rutgers' first undefeated season in 1961, when the team went 9-0, capping the season with a fourth-quarter, 25-point comeback win over Columbia. That team included All-American center Alex Kroll, and was ranked 15th nationally. In his 11 seasons, Bateman led Rutgers to 73 wins in 124 games.

In 1973, Frank Burns took the reins of Rutgers football and became the most successful Rutgers coach ever by building teams recognized for fundamentals and defense. Burns himself was also known as a fierce linebacker and won the Most Valuable Player Award in the 1949 College All-Star

*In 1913, coach George Foster Sanford began a tradition of success among Rutgers coaches in their inaugural year by leading his team to a 6-3 mark. State and West Virginia. A few years later, in 1924, two-time All-American end and fullback Homer Hazel ended coach John Wallace continue the tradition of first-year coaching success, as Rutgers posted a 7-1-1 mark.

When John Stiegman coached Rutgers from 1956-59, he brought back the single-wing formation to the Scarlet Knight offense, and led erans, registered a combined record of 27-7 from 1945-48.

COLLEGE MATTERS

NOTHING is so established a custom in all institutions of learning, for the students to raise their hats to the Professors, as an act of recognition and due respect. It is a poor rule that won't work both ways, and common civility and politeness demand that the compliment should be always returned. We hope that our attention will not be directed to this again, and that "a word to the wise" will prove sufficient.

A serious and creditable Professor deigned to bring his sword and lily faculty of criticism to bear upon J. G. Whittier's "Garibaldi," which we published in our last issue, and pronounced it "scarcely below par." If the illustrious poet should see this, how badly he would feel. For this illustrious friend will hereafter supply our poets at columns from the rich effusion of his pen and a symmetrical brain. We fear that the names of W. H. W., Longfellow, Tennyson, and Burns, may yet be eclipsed by this rising star.

WHAT WE WANT.

Every one is willing to admit the power of music to soothe the feelings and emotions which it is capable of producing, how it soothes and soothes. Music speaks to us in tones of gentleness and love. It speaks to us in tones of the innermost soul, and the whole being soon gives way to its influence. And yet, in the face of all this, how few of us cultivate the art. How sensibly do we feel the want of it in our colleges. Brothers, we are greatly deficient in this respect; we have a lovely music talent enough to sustain our choir. Out of one hundred and fifty students we rarely have more than ten who can be depended upon to sing. We cannot be friends who understand the first principles of music. Where are our glorioles? our college songs? "Sopranos, an' all" let us hear your voices. Don't be afraid of College Professors—they won't hurt you. There are "Three black crosses," if you can't do any better. Oh, that the little round, latent, upon giving advice, and very, very much as possible. The appearance of the Princeton men was very different from that of our own players. They were almost without exception tall and muscular, while the majority of our twenty-five are small and light, but possess the merit of being up to much more than they look.

THE FOOTBALL MATCH

On Saturday, November 6th, Princeton sent twenty-five picked men to play our twenty-five in a match game of football. The strongest team up in the 1869-70 term, and brought a good number of blockers with them. After dinner, and a stroll around the town, during which stroll the players received a good deal of attention, the crowds began to assemble at the ball ground, which, for the benefit of the innocent, we would say, is a lot about a hundred yards wide, extending from the College Avenue to Second-street. Previous to calling the game, the ground presented an animated picture. Three-looking players were already stripping, each one surrounded by sympathetic friends, while around each of the captains was a little crowd, latent upon giving advice, and very, very much as possible. The appearance of the Princeton men was very different from that of our own players. They were almost without exception tall and muscular, while the majority of our twenty-five are small and light, but possess the merit of being up to much more than they look.

Very few were the preliminaries, and they were quickly agreed upon. The Princeton captain, for some reason or other, gave up every point to our men without contesting one. The only material points were, that Princeton gave up "free kicks," whereby a player, when he catches the ball in the air is allowed to kick it without hindrance. On the other hand, our practice of "bullying" the ball on the start was discarded, and the ball was mounted in every instance, by a vigorous "long kick."

Princeton, in Rutgers, it has been a custom for the Freshmen to treat the upper classes with some degree of respect, in deference to their superior advantage in years and scholarship. But this is a progressive age, and, behold, we now have a Freshman class whose chief characteristic is the remarkably high-toned manner in which they conduct themselves toward the upper classes. Do you see an elderly youth taking up the whole sidewalk, and treating every one with an ease of manner which would betoken intimate acquaintance—it is a Freshman. Another style of Freshman goes around as if the College were his own home, and him about; he answers all questions, either with an easy star, or as if his breath was too precious to waste on Seniors or Juniors. A third type, travels dividedly on his march—goes around like a prize fighter, swaggers through the halls, young destruction and death on any one who may in any way offend him, and turns out, as such gentry generally do, a much worse barker than he is.

Now, gentlemen of '73, just accord to the poor upper classes a degree of respect nearly equal to that which you would give to your betters. Treat them personally with a moderate degree of civility, and they will be contented. The Sophomores must take care of themselves.

After the match, the players had an amiable "feed" together, and at 8 o'clock our guests went home, in high good spirits, but thirsting to meet us next time, if they can.

PRINCETON VS. RUTGERS.

This record of the three games of Foot Ball between Princeton and Rutgers was won by the former at the 21, 24, 25, 26, and 27th. The seventh game would probably have been added to our score, but for one of our players, who, in his ardor, forgot which way he was kicking, a mistake which he fully atoned for afterwards. To sum up, Princeton had the most attacks, but didn't look very well, and wasted opportunities. They evidently don't like to kick the ball on the ground. Our men, on the other hand, though comparatively weak, ran well, and kicked well throughout. But their great point was their organization, for which great praise is due to the Captain, Leggett, '72. The right men were always in the right place. After the match, the players had an amiable "feed" together, and at 8 o'clock our guests went home, in high good spirits, but thirsting to meet us next time, if they can.

game, when he made 17 tackles against the New York Giants. The Burns defenses were led by line-backers Ed Steward, Jim Hughes, Jim Dumont and defensive end Nate Toran. Burns' first team went 6-5, while running back "JJ" Jennings set single-season records for rushing yardage (1,353) and touchdowns (21) which still stand.

Over the next five seasons, Burns' teams won at least seven games each season, including a five-season stretch from 1975-79 when Rutgers' winning percentage was .803 with a record of 45-11. The jewel in the crown of Burns' tenure as Rutgers' coach was the 1976 season, when the team was perfect at 11-0, establishing the best season ever at Rutgers. During Burns' 11 seasons at Rutgers, the Scarlet Knights won nearly two-thirds of their games (78-44). He also took Rutgers to its only bowl appearance, the Garden State Bowl, at Giants Stadium against Arizona State in 1978.

Doubtless, the biggest win of the

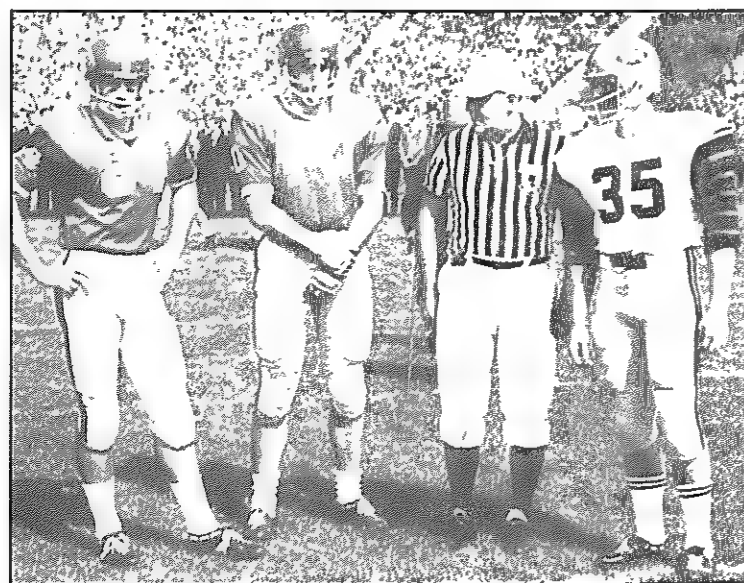

The following year, 1980, Rutgers had one of its great "near-misses" of its long history when the Scarlet bowed, 17-13, to a highly-favored Alabama team coached by Bear Bryant at Giants Stadium.

The gracious Bryant said, "We didn't beat Rutgers. All I can say is we won."

In 1984 when Dick Anderson was named head coach, a renewed commitment to football at Rutgers was backed by a $3 million state-funded package. Those funds helped finance the artificial surface prac-

Anderson won seven of 10 games in his inaugural season. Other highlights of his years at Rutgers include upset wins over such nationally-ranked teams as Penn State and Michigan State, and a nationally-televised victory over Northwestern in the program's 1,000th game. Anderson's teams produced some of the most exciting players in Rutgers history, including record-breaking passer Scott Erney, career tackles leader Tyronne Stowe and career kickoff return leader Eric Young. Anderson's last game at Rutgers, although a loss to Pittsburgh, was a memorable one. It was the 1989 Emerald Isle Classic in Dublin, the first time a Rutgers team played overseas.

Doug Graber became the Scarlet Knights' 23rd coach in 1990 and placed an emphasis on recruiting the best talent in the state of New Jersey. His first recruiting class included three first-team All-State selections and two second-team All-State selections among the 12 recruits from New Jersey.

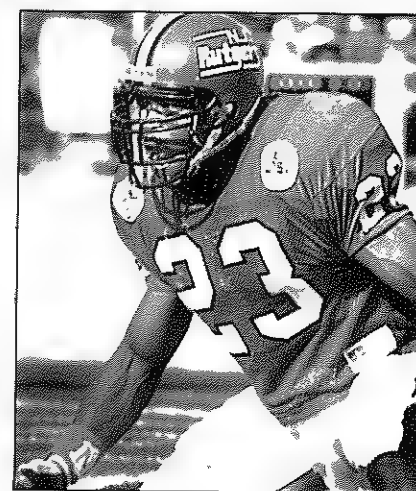

Another major boost for Rutgers came in 1991 when Rutgers joined the BIG EAST Football Conference. The team went 13-9 in its first two years in the BIG EAST, including a 4-2 BIG EAST mark in 1992, before slipping to 4-7 the following season.

The 1994 season celebrated not only the 125 years of college football, but also the return of the newly-renovated and expanded Rutgers Stadium. The return was a welcome one. Rutgers teams have been at their best at the stadium, compiling a 174-57-4 record here.

A brand new stadium is quite a different setting than that of the first college football game played 130 years ago. The Scarlet Knights are playing for their own place in history as they continue the college football tradition that was born "On the Banks of the Old Raritan." With Terry Shea bringing his modern "West Coast Offense" to the Banks in 1996, a new chapter of Rutgers history is now under way.

Kroll is 5th Rutgers Selection to College Football Hall of Fame, Hall of Fame doors finally swing open for Robeson Class of 1997

Alex Kroll, a consensus All-American center on Rutgers' first undefeated football team in 1961, is the Scarlet Knights' sixth inductee into the College Football Hall of Fame, as a part of the Class of 1997.

Kroll followed end Paul Robeson, halfback Homer Hazel and coaches George Foster Sanford and Harvey Harman into this most cherished of college football's honors. Former athletic director George Little is also among the all-time honorees.

Kroll, a 6-2, 228-pound center and linebacker, was a major force in Rutgers compiling a 17-1 record in his two years of play "On the Banks." In 1960, the Knights under coach John Bateman were 8-1 and followed up with the school's first undefeated campaign, going 9-0 in 1961. Team captain of the lauded 1961 squad, Kroll was a two-time first-team All-ECAC choice and won first-team All-American honors from Associated Press, United Press International, Newspaper Enterprise Association, Look, and the American Football Coaches Association. Known as a "coach on the field," he was credited with making the quarterback sneak an offensive weapon as Rutgers scored seven TDs on that play in 1961 with Kroll clearing the way into the endzone for the signal-caller.

He was also a first-team All-East choice by the AP in 1961 and played in the North-South game and the Senior Bowl. In 1960, he was an honorable mention All-American. Following his senior season, he was a second-round draft pick of the New York Titans, playing for one season in 1962.

Kroll earned a BA in English Literature in 1962 and was a Henry Rutgers Scholar with a perfect grade point average in his major. He received a National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame Post-Graduate Scholarship in 1961. In 1986, he was awarded the Silver Anniversary Award from the National Collegiate Athletic Association for his collegiate achievements.

Immediately following his last game with the Titans, he joined the workforce at Young & Rubicam, the world's largest independent advertising agency, as a copywriter. After a succession of writing and supervisory jobs in the creative department, he was named executive vice president and worldwide creative director in 1970. He was named president and chief operating officer in 1982 and, four years later, Kroll became chairman of Young & Rubicam. He is retired but still serves as Chairman Emeritus of Young & Rubicam. He resides in Charlotte, VT with his wife, Phyllis. They have three children.

Editor's Note: Paul Robeson was elected to the College Football Hall of Fame on January 7, 1995 and was inducted on August 25, 1995 in South Bend, Ind. On December 12, 1995, the 13-member class of 1995 was enshrined at the Hall of Fame's 38th Annual Awards Dinner at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York City. Robeson was Rutgers' fourth member of the College Football Hall of Fame, joining Homer Hazel (1951), George Foster Sanford (1971) and Harvey Harman (1981).

"He is the greatest end to ever trod the gridiron." - Walter Camp, player, coach, football historian, when he named Paul Robeson to his All-American team for the second time in 1918.

"I am invisible, understand, because people simply refuse to see me." - Ralph Ellison ("The Invisible Man" 1952)

From the moment Paul Robeson first walked onto the practice field at Rutgers University in 1915 to the day he was graduated as a Phi Beta Kappa, senior honor society member and valedictorian, no college football player ever had to climb a higher mountain. Afterward, he continued to climb it on the concert stage and in the theater. Politically, he spoke of the "real" America he had experienced, refusing to serve as confirmation for the "perfect" America in which much of the country preferred to believe. When that angered some and embarrassed others, America did what it often does when it neither understands nor questions: it created its own Paul Robeson.

The mainstream press took the odd quote or two out of context and tailored and twisted it until it fit the public's preconceived notions. Conversely, the Communist Party's Daily Worker quoted him regularly with a persistent inaccuracy designed to pander to its own fantasy version of history.

Rarely, if ever, were the words of a man of such deep integrity and courage so manipulated by twin self-serving political systems - from the hearing room of the House Un-American Activities Committee to the newsrooms of Tass and Izvestia. In the wake of both sides' rhetoric, the real Paul Robeson simply disappeared.

So did his football history.

When Robeson died in 1976, Tiny Tim, crutches and all, had a better shot of getting elected to the College Football Hall of Fame.

But, fortunately, William Shakespeare had it right when he wrote: "Time's glory is to calm contending kings, to unmask falsehood and bring truth to light."

For the electors to the College Football Hall of Fame, this is that time.

What follows is simply the evidence.

He walked onto the practice field at Rutgers for the first time in 1915, saw the cold, hard stares in the eyes of the men who he hoped to call teammates and never flinched. He may not have known it, but, as far the records show, in all of the East and probably most of America, he was one of three black men who had come this close to playing college football. There was Fritz Pollard at Brown, who along with the janitor was one of just two black men on campus, there was a guy at Harvard, and now there was Paul Robeson, the son of a runaway slave who had fled the South to become a minister in highly segregated Princeton, and one of two black students at Rutgers.

The coach was a man named George Foster Sanford. Traditionally, his weeding-out procedure for newcomers was to run play after play at them to see how they stood up. But this time, the physical contact was laced with malice. Years later, Robeson recalled it like this.

"They ran the first couple of plays right at me. After the third one, I was stretched out on the ground with my hand extended palm up. One of the players walked by me and deliberately stepped on it. I thought all the bones were broken. They weren't. But a couple of fingernails came off."

Robeson got up and took his position. He was furious. He moved forward to meet them. Players scattered like tenpins. After each sequence, they limped to their feet and Robeson smiled at them. Finally, Sanford had had enough. He cupped his hands around his mouth and hollered around across the field.

"Hey Robey, you just made the var-sity."

He was spectacular.

On offense, he played end. He caught passes and occasionally he ran the ball out of the backfield. But mostly he served as the point blocker, coming at the defense from as many as seven different positions, shredding the wall of flesh and opening enormous holes. On defense, he played a position that Sanford called "defensive quarterback," the rough equivalent of a middle linebacker today. He kicked off, he kicked extra points, he called the plays.

In his junior year, West Virginia came up to play Rutgers and Greasy Neale, the coach, warned Sanford that "we've got a lot of Southern boys on this team, and they don't want to play against your man Robeson."

A year earlier, Sanford had bowed to pressure from a Virginia school, Washington & Lee, and had declared Robeson injured and out of the game. This time, the Rutgers coach stood his ground. "If they don't like it, let them go home," he said.

All through the first half, the West Virginia players assaulted Robeson, whose defensive play was primarily responsible for their inability to score. At halftime, Neale, using the tortured logic of 1916 America, actually told his team:

"Any player who can take that beating, give as good as he gets, and isn't squealing to the refs, isn't colored. He's a white man. Go out there, play like hell, but give him a break."

At game's end Robeson was so battered that when he pulled down his socks, slices of skin came down with them.

The New York Sun's football columnist compared Robeson to Carlisle's Jim Thorpe and Army's Elmer Oliphant and said Robeson might even be the best of the three. His crowning moment may have come at Ebbets Field in 1917 when Rutgers upset the undefeated Newport (R.I.) Naval Reserve, a wartime service team heavily laced with the previous season's All-Americans. Robeson was the difference, shutting down their offense, catching a touchdown pass and unleashing the block that led to a second touchdown in the 14-0 victory.

Now, 77 years later, Paul Robeson finally appears on a College Football Hall of Fame Ballot. In life, he never lost his dignity even though he faced a wall of bigotry reminiscent of the words of the old spiritual:

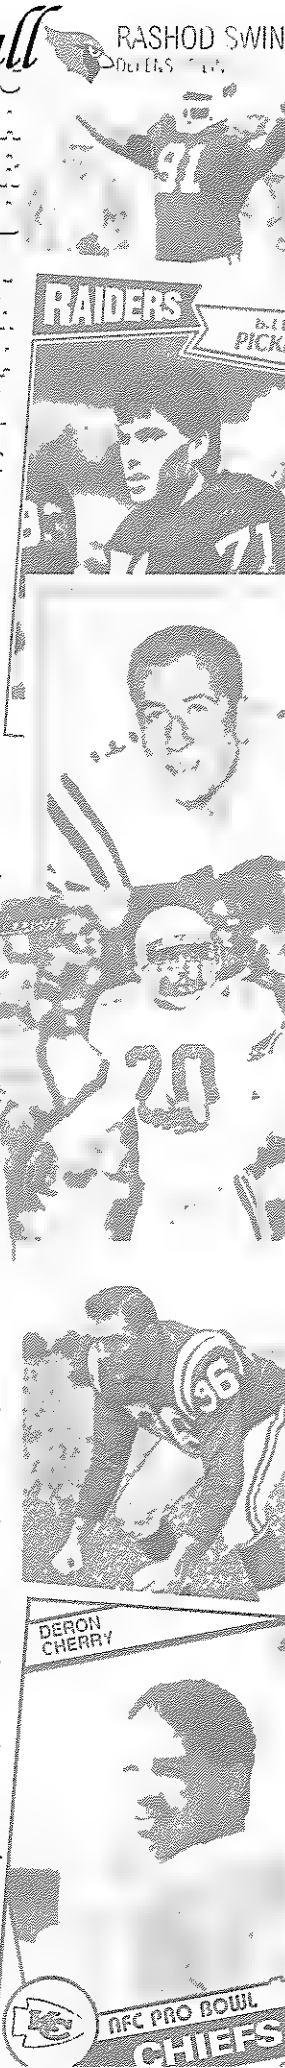

"So high you can't get over it. So deep you can't get under it. So wide you can't get around it. You must go in through the door."

It is time that the College Football Hall of Fame electors allow that door to swing wide open.

The following is the inscription found on Robeson's plaque in the National College Football Hall of Fame in South Bend, Indiana.

Paul Robeson played four years for the famous coach, G. Foster Sanford. Rutgers had a 22-6-3 record in that time. In 31 games, Rutgers scored 941 points to opponents' 191. Robeson was a powerful contributor to that record. In 1915 against Rensselaer he recovered an opponent's fumble and set up a touchdown. In 1917 he scored on 40-yard and 37-yard pass plays against Fort Wadsworth. Against Syracuse the same year he caught passes on two key plays and, on defense, intercepted a pass. Also in 1917 against Newport Naval Reserve he caught one touchdown pass, set up a second touchdown by taking the ball to the 5-yard line after catching a pass, and was outstanding on defense. This game was played November 24. Newport was undefeated and heavily favored because it had an All-Star lineup of former college stars. Rutgers won 14-0. Robeson was a two-time All-America end. Frank Menke named him All-America in 1917 and 1918. Walter Camp picked him in 1918. (Camp did not name an All-America team in 1917.) Following college, Robeson played three years as a pro - 1920 with Hammond, 1921 with Akron and 1922 with Milwaukee - in the American Professional Football League. Robeson was reported to make as much as $500 a game, and he used the money to pay his way through law school at Columbia University. He obtained his law degree in 1923. At Rutgers, Robeson was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and was valedictorian of the class of 1919. He won the college oratorical contest four straight years and gave the commencement address at graduation. Robeson won 12 letters in four sports - four in football, three each in basketball and baseball, and two in track. He stood 6-3 in height and his weight was listed at 191 in early years, at 215 his senior season. This man of many talents became an actor, singer and lecturer. He was on Broadway and in the movies. His rich basso made his signature song "Ol' Man River" a classic. He starred in plays - "The Emperor Jones", "Othello", "Showboat" and others - in the U.S., Europe and Africa. In 1925 he made a recording that sold 55,000 copies in four months. In 1972 he received the Whitney Young Memorial Award. Ebony Magazine called him "one of the 10 most important black men in American history." Rutgers named three buildings for him - a library on the Camden campus, a student center on the Newark campus and the Paul Robeson Cultural Center on the New Brunswick campus. A play, "Paul Robeson," was staged in 1982 with a Rutgers professor, Avery Brooks, in the title role. A biography, "Paul Robeson," by Martin Duberman was published in 1989. Paul Robeson was born April 9, 1898, in Princeton, N.J. His father, Rev. William Robeson, had escaped slavery in 1860 in North Carolina at age 15. His mother, Maria Bustill, was a teacher. When Paul was a high school senior, he won the statewide academic test and received a scholarship to Rutgers. In 1915 he was the third black to enter Rutgers and the first to play football. He died January 23, 1976. He was named to the Rutgers Sports Hall of Fame in 1988.

National Hall of Fame Inductees

HARVEY HARMAN

Few men loved the game with the fervor of Harvey Harman, a huge man with a grand smile and a fierce dedication to the sport.

A former president of the American Football Coaches Association, Harman received that group's Amos Alonzo Stagg Award, symbolic of outstanding service to the profession.

It was not surprising that Harman achieved such acclaim, for he learned his football lessons from two of the game's mentors - Glenn "Pop" Warner and Jock Sutherland - while at Pittsburgh.

Harman was a starting tackle for the Panthers before taking his first coaching assignment at Haverford. From there he moved on to Sewanee (the University of the South), Pennsylvania and Rutgers.

It was at Rutgers that he had his greatest success, directing the Scarlet Knights to a 26-7-1 record before interrupting his career to serve in the U.S. Navy during World War II.

Harman returned to Rutgers after the war and led the Scarlet Knights for another 10 seasons before accepting a position as Executive Director of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame, Inc. In that capacity, Harman became known as the goodwill ambassador for football, continuing to serve the game until his death in 1969. His career record lists a slate of 140-104-7.

HOMER HAZEL

He parted his dark hair down the middle, in the fashion of the day, and his deep-set eyes glowed with a competitive fire. Homer Hazel, Rutgers' first Hall of Famer, was, without doubt, the most versatile player the Scarlet ever produced.

A natural athlete, Hazel excelled in various sports and was most successful as a track and field star. His speed and quickness served him well, for he once recovered his own kickoff in the enemy end zone for a touchdown.

Homer led Rutgers to identical 7-1-1 records in his final two seasons, earning All-America laurels in each. He was an end in 1923, when the only Scarlet loss was to West Virginia (27-7). He had Rutgers on the way to an unbeaten finish in 1924 - this time as a hard-hitting fullback - when Bucknell untracked the Scarlet in the final game of the season, 12-7. During the 1924 campaign, Homer Hazel established school records for most points after a touchdown and longest completed pass.

He could do it all. Carrying 226 pounds over a 5-foot-11 frame, Homer lettered in football, basketball, baseball and track at Rutgers. He later served as Athletic Director, football and basketball coach at the University of Mississippi for more than five years. He was a golf pro for four years, and a labor relations manager for more than 20 years.

Hazel won his first letter in football at Rutgers in 1916. He left school because of a lack of funds. Hazel worked at various jobs and, at age 28, played football again at Rutgers. Walter Camp named him All-America end in 1923, All-America fullback in 1924. Hazel was born June 2, 1895, and died February 3, 1968.

GEORGE LITTLE

A graduate of Ohio Wesleyan, George Little opened his coaching career at the University of Cincinnati and produced a two-year record of 10-8-0 before moving up the road to Oxford, Ohio, home of the Miami Redskins, in 1916. There, Little brought the Redskins their first Conference Championship and a 7-0-1 mark.

After service in World War I, Little returned to Miami and directed the Red and White to yet another league crown and a three-year post-war record of 20-3-1. He also coached the Miami basketball and track teams, claiming a conference crown in the latter sport.

The 1922 and 1923 seasons found Little at Michigan under head coach Fielding Yost, the man he replace in 1924. That year, Little's Wolverines were 6-2. The next season, Little was in Wisconsin as the new Athletic Director and head coach of the Badgers, and he led his charges to a two-year mark of 11-3-2. His teams displayed imagination and strength on offense, a unique ruggedness on defense.

Little wound up his collegiate career as the Athletic Director at Rutgers, and then served as executive secretary of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

GEORGE FOSTER SANFORD

At the entrance to Rutgers Stadium, inscribed upon a bronze plaque, is a tribute to George Sanford. It was financed and installed by his players, the men "...he inspired to deeds beyond themselves."

Undoubtedly, Sanford was an inspirational leader of men, a gentleman who excelled as both player and coach. Sanford played center on the 1891 and 1892 Yale teams which held each of their 26 opponents scoreless. Though he was never chosen to an All-America team, a 1927 poll named him the all-time Yale center.

Sanford began his coaching career at Columbia (1899-1901), called in to revive the football program which had been abandoned after the 1891 campaign. His 1899 team defeated Yale for the first time ever, and it was at Columbia that Sanford developed the famous "Flying Hurdle Play" which saw Harold Weekes catapulted over the scrimmage line. Moving to Rutgers (1913-23), Sanford had marked success as his club rolled to a 56-32-5 record. He was hailed as a "miracle worker" in 1917, after his Rutgers team beat the heavily-favored Newport Naval Reserve All-Stars, 14-0. Between his teams at Columbia and Rutgers, Sanford devoted his energy toward a successful insurance brokerage business.

HEISMAN CANDIDATE BILL AUSTIN

Bill Austin, a Fanwood, N.J. native and graduate of nearby Scotch Plains High School captured the imagination of the college football community in the late 1950's. His twisting, elusive running style helped him lead the Scarlet Knights in rushing for three straight seasons.

Not blessed with great size at 5-11, 170, the speedy Austin amassed 2,073 yards rushing and scored 204 points. He was a prototype single-wing tailback who, in his day, had few peers. His 32-touchdown career ranks second in the Rutgers annals among all-time scorers and he had 13 interceptions from his defensive back position, which is one short of the all-time mark.

A member of the inaugural Rutgers Football Hall of Fame Class in 1988, Austin was a first-team AP All-American selection in 1958. The 1958 Rutgers football media guide referred to Austin as "a natural leader with an even temperament."

The Scarlet's team captain in 1958, Austin led Rutgers to an 8-1 record with the lone blemish being a 13-12 defeat at the hands of the Quantico Marines. Rutgers fans from this era will recall that Austin was forced to sit out the Quantico Marines game with a hand injury. The Scarlet's first undefeated season came in 1961. The 1976 team also posted a perfect record. If not for an injury suffered by the team's best player, 1958 may have been Rutgers' first undefeated season.

An honorable mention All-American lacrosse player for two seasons, Austin was selected by the Washington Redskins in the 1959 NFL draft.

ALL-AMERICAN MARCO BATTAGLIA

In 1993, Marco Battaglia caught 27 passes. In 1994, that number swelled to 58. By 1995, he was being hailed as the nation's best tight end. Following a 69-catch, 894-yard, 10-touchdown season in 1995, there was no longer a debate as to who was the nation's best.

He was a consensus First-Team All-America, having earned first-team honors by the Football Writer's Association, the Walter Camp Foundation, the Associated Press and the American College Football Coaches Association and appeared on the Bob Hope Christmas Special. Battaglia was also named the BIG EAST Offensive Player of the Year. He played in the prestigious East-West Shrine Game.

The signature game of his career came at Giants Stadium against Penn State. In a game televised nationally by ESPN, Battaglia showed the nation what he was all about. He grabbed a school-record tying 13 catches for 184 yards (third-best all-time at RU) and scored three touchdowns.

Combining speed, strength and the heart of a lion, this 6-3, 245-pounder was the second tight end taken in the 1996 NFL draft, a second round draft choice of the Cincinnati Bengals.

For his career, Battaglia finished with a school record 171 receptions for 2,221 yards, a figure which places him second on the all-time list. His seven 100-yard plus receiving games is also a Rutgers record.

ALL-AMERICAN ALEX KROLL

The great Alex Kroll took a rather circuitous path on his way to Rutgers football stardom. The 6-2, 228-pound center excelled for two seasons at Yale before serving two years in the Army. After forming a friendship with 1957 Scarlet co-captain Art Robinson at Fort Campbell, Ken., Kroll transferred to Rutgers.

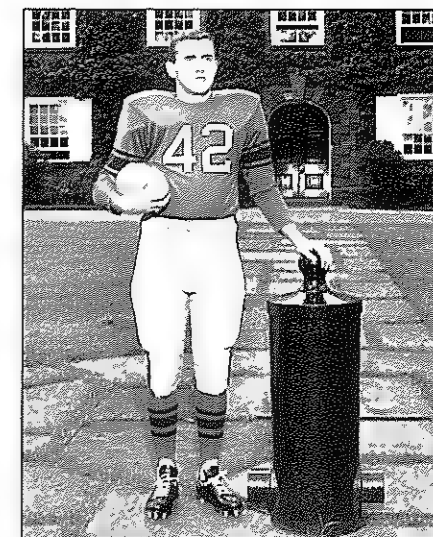

The Leechburg, Pa., native immediately gained the notice of the Rutgers coaching staff with his physical prowess, an asset that was only overshadowed by his keen intellect. The captain of the undefeated 1961 team, Kroll's senior biography in the 1961 Rutgers football media guide included the following anecdote: "his performance and leadership in 1960 helped Rutgers to a season which surpassed even the most optimistic of the previews. He has size, speed, hustle, and an uncanny ability to call defenses best equipped to stop the enemy."

It is no small coincidence that, in his two years "On the Banks," the Scarlet Knights amassed a 17-1 record.

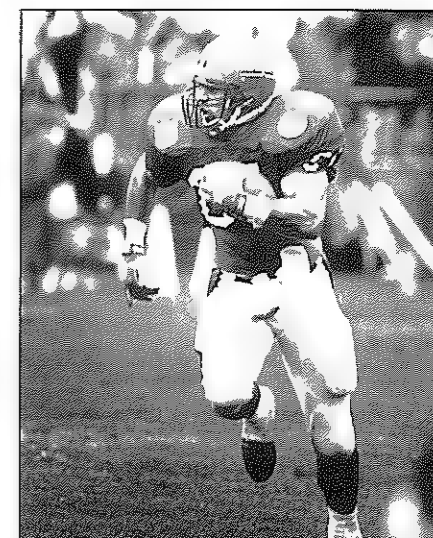

An AP first-team All-American in 1961, Kroll, who was also a top-notch linebacker, was regarded as the finest center in the nation. A draft choice of the AFL's New York Titans, Kroll had a brief professional football career. However, his uncanny intelligence, leadership qualities and savvy, traits that he honed on the gridiron, have served him well in his long and prosperous business career.

A Henry Rutgers Scholar with a perfect grade-point average, Kroll served as the president and CEO of Young and Rubicam, the world's largest advertising company and credits much of his success to his football days at Rutgers.

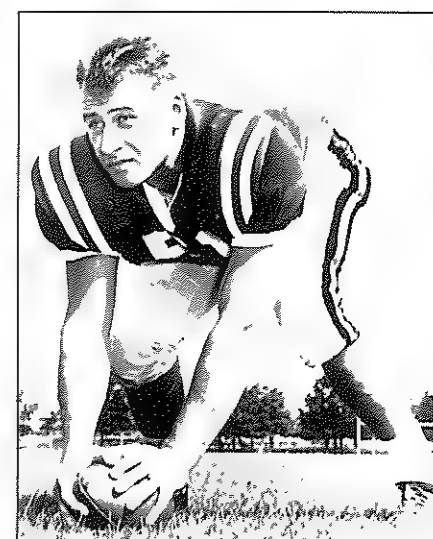

Kroll was a member of the inaugural Rutgers Football Hall of Fame Class of 1988, and was also selected to the College Football Hall of Fame.

CLASS OF 1999 INDUCTEE

Jim Guarantano -- Class of 1993

Jim Guarantano, a standout for Rutgers from 1989-92, became the 79th member of the Rutgers Football Hall of Fame. He finished his career with 158 catches, second only to Marco Battaglia (now with the NFL's Cincinnati Bengals), who had 171 receptions in his career. Guarantano, who played at 5-9, 172-pounds, is also third in all-time reception yardage, with 2,065 yards, and tied for fifth with 11 career TDs.

Guarantano was a two-time All-BIG EAST performer for Rutgers. He was a first-team All-BIG EAST selection in his senior year (1992) after hauling in 56 passes for 755 yards (13.5 yards per catch) and six touchdowns. He was also a first team All-East selection (Associated Press), and was a honorable mention All-America selection by UPI following his outstanding senior campaign.

As a junior, Guarantano earned second team All-BIG and second team All-East (Associated Press) honors after grabbing 62 for 740 yards and two touchdowns. Guarantano caught 11 passes for 113 yards against Duke that season, tied for the third highest single game total in BIG EAST history, and his 62 catches in 1991 is the eighth best single season mark in BIG EAST annals.

In his sophomore season, Guarantano hauled in 26 passes for a team-leading 386 yards and two TDs. He caught eight passes against Pittsburgh that season, including a 78-yard TD reception, the Scarlet Knights' longest pass play that season. Guarantano accounted for 155 total yards through the air against Pittsburgh, and also added nine yards on a reverse.

Guarantano showed promise of his bright future during his freshman season, when he caught 14 passes for 184 yards. His one TD that season came against Pittsburgh when he hauled in a 14-yard scoring toss in the Emerald Isle Classic in Dublin, Ireland.

Lawrence "Larry" Pitt

Class of 1939

In 1969, to commemorate the centennial of college football, Pitt literally "wrote the book," putting the finishing touches on a highly-informative 163-page piece of work entitled Football at Rutgers, A History, 1869-1969. His passion for Rutgers University and its athletic teams is unparalleled and he was a noted speaker and historian for Rutgers football. A charter member of the Football Hall of Fame committee, Pitt was a varsity letterwinner in 150-pound football and lacrosse. He served as an assistant dean of men at Rutgers as well as teacher in School of Education from 1947-1963 and was also the freshman lacrosse coach at Rutgers. For years, Pitt entertained radio audiences with his historical reports on WRSU, the campus radio station, and he provided on-air commentary for history and statistics of Rutgers football on WCTC, where he also served as engineer of broadcasts. He has a long-time family connection with Rutgers. Pitt's grandfather, Sherman, from the class of 1888, played in the first Rutgers lacrosse game in 1887 and served as athletic association president. In addition, his father John graduated in the class of 1917 and his uncle Malcolm was in the class of 1919.

Ken Smith

Class of 1981

Smith was a key performer on Frank Burns' highly-successful teams from 1977-1980. Smith played an integral role in helping the Scarlet Knights achieve a record of 32-13 and four winning seasons and played in the 1978 Garden State Bowl. Smith, a local product, was a star scholastic quarterback at Franklin High School. For the Scarlet Knights, he was one of the best defensive backs in school history. Always in the right place at the right time, consistency was the hallmark for this 1981 First-team AP All-East selection and 1979 honorable mention AP All-East choice. A quad-captain in 1980, Smith was also a dynamic and electrifying return man with 29 career punt returns to his credit, 10th best all-time, and 384 punt return yards, which is seventh-best all-time. He had a 97-yard kickoff return for a touchdown vs. Army in 1980, which is tied for the second-longest kickoff return in Rutgers history. He also had an 84-yard punt return vs. Princeton in 1979, which is the third-longest in RU history, and a 41-yard punt return late in the game in Rutgers' near upset of No.1-ranked Alabama in 1980.

Lawrence "Larry" Pitt

Ken Smith

Tyrone Stowe

Class of 1987

One of the most accomplished players in Rutgers history, Stowe was named honorable mention AP All-American in 1985 and 1986. In addition, he was a 1st-team AP All-East choice as an inside linebacker in 1985 and 1986, a first team All-ECAC choice in 1986 and a 2nd team AP all-East selection in 1984. He began his 10-year NFL career as a free agent with the San Diego Chargers in 1987 and also played with the Pittsburgh Steelers, Phoenix Cardinals and Seattle Seahawks. Stowe was a two-time Homer Hazel Award winner as team MVP in 1985 and 1986 and was a 1986 Blue-Gray game participant. He holds the single game tackles mark with 27 vs. West Virginia in 1986 and is the Scarlet Knight career leader in tackles with 533. He also holds single season marks for total tackles (157 in 1985), assisted tackles (81 in 1986) and is second in unassisted tackles (106 in 1985). Stowe was the Sports Illustrated Player of the Week for his 16-tackle, one fumble recovery, two sack effort at Florida in 1985. He is the only player in Rutgers history to record four 100-tackle seasons (107 in '83, 119 in '84, 157 in '85 and 150 in '86).

Class of 1926

Served as team captain in 1925, Terrill was a four-year letterwinner (1921, 23-25) and helped lead teams to a 7-1-1 record in both 1923 and 1924. He was regarded as a dangerous punt and kickoff returner and a reliable punter, who went by the nickname of "Bus." Among his many honors was being named honorable mention New York Herald All-East in 1923, and 1st-Team New York Sun All-East in 1924. He played in the same backfield with fellow Rutgers Football Hall of Famers Homer Hazel and Henry Benkert. In 1923, he had 997 return yards and averaged more than 8 yards per carry (50 carries, 407 yards). He had 44 attempts for 250 yards (5.7 avg) in 1924. One of his career highlights was an 82-yard TD run vs. NYU in 1923. Terrill was voted best athlete by the Rutgers Class of 1926 and was class president. Following his playing career, he joined Homer Hazel at the University of Mississippi as quarterbacks coach in 1926. In 1938, he was selected Second Team All-Rutgers Football by Earl Reed Silvers.

Anton "Tony" Hoeflinger Class of 1964

An All-East ECAC 1st team member in 1963, he was the team captain that year and the winner of the David Bender trophy as the team's top lineman. He started in all but three games in his three-year career (27) and was a Williamson All-America. He was considered by many as the best guard in the East as a senior. Hoeflinger advanced from a fifth-string freshman fullback to starter in 1961. He was the starting right guard on the 1961 undefeated team. Also a linebacker on defense, this history major's speed was his best attribute on the playing field. He played at 6-1, 185 pounds and hails from Butler, NJ. A three-year letterwinner, Rutgers was 17-11 in his playing career.

Glen Kehler Class of 1979

An honorable mention AP All-East selection in 1978 as a fullback, Kehler's 2,567 rushing yards is currently fourth all-time at Rutgers but was second-best upon the completion of his career (most by a fullback. he was a three-year starter and Rutgers' overall record was 28-6 over that span. He was the team's leading rusher in 1976, 1977 and 1978 with 764, 866, and 883 yards, respectively. He ranks fifth in career carries with 537, and averaged 4.8 yards per career in his career. This sturdy back had five 100-yard games in his career (159 vs. Cornell in 1977, 137 vs. Holy Cross in 1978, 121 vs. Princeton in 1976 in his first career starting assignment, 125 vs. Connecticut in 1976, and 100 vs. Massachusetts in 1978.) He also rushed for five career touchdowns (4 in 1978). He was a star player at a vaunted Westfield High School program where his father, Gary, was the legendary coach. He earned all-state, all-Metro, and all-county honors in high school.

Kevin Kurdyla Class of 1981

An Associated Press All-East selection in 1978, 1979, and 1980, Kurdyla is one of only two offensive linemen in the modern era to win three All-East accolades. In addition, he was an honorable mention Associated Press All-American in 1980, winner of the David Bender trophy in 1979 and 1980, and a four-year letterwinner. He earned the starting left tackle berth midway through his freshman season of 1977. The Scarlet Knights were 32-13 in his time as a player. Following his career, he was a free agent for the NY Giants. Kurdyla was a tremendous offensive tackle who, at 6-3, 250, had the best assets of quickness, power, and blocking ability. He is a product of Newark East Side High School, where he earned all-county, all-city, and all-state honors.

Elnardo Webster Class of 1992

A first-team All-BIG EAST, AP All-East and ECAC All-Star as an outside linebacker in 1991, Webster was also the Homer Hazel Award winner in 1991, the Bender Trophy winner (defense) in 1989 and 1990. He was also the first winner of the Frank Burns Mental and Physical Toughness Award in 1990. He also earned honorable mention All-East honors from AP in 1991. Webster was drafted by the Pittsburgh Steelers in the ninth round in 1992, and made the team before his career was ended with a knee injury. A co-captain in 1991, Webster ranks 10th in career fumble recoveries with four. He led the team in tackles in 1990 (99) and 1991 (81). A four-year letterwinner, his hometown is Jersey City, where he played at St. Peter's Prep.

John "Mike" Wittpenn Class of 1918

A halfback and end who was characterized as an "outstandingly effective" player, Wittpenn continues to hold the interception return record of 99 yards against Stevens Institute in 1915. He earned four letters from 1913-1916, served as an assistant coach in 1917, a volunteer assistant coach from 1918-20 and coached the freshmen team from 1925-27 under Jack Wallace. A member of Harry Rockafeller's varsity staff in the late '20's and early '30's, Wittpenn was elected to the mythical Rutgers Athletic Roll of Honor by a Committee of Six as an honorable mention. He scored two touchdowns versus Muhlenberg in 1913, a season which was interrupted by a knee injury, and scored six TDs in 1915. He tossed a long TD pass to Homer Hazel which helped forge a 13-13 tie with Washington and Lee in the University's 150th Anniversary game in 1916. A Rutgers Loyal Son recipient, he came to Rutgers from Newark Central HS and played his college ball at 6-2, 172 pounds, and maintained a lifelong and active interest in Rutgers throughout his life.

Elmer "Toady" Bracher Class of 1918

A halfback for his three years "On the Banks", Bracher also played baseball and basketball before the First World War cut short his career. The diminutive Bracher, at 5-5, 140-pounds, left Rutgers after his junior year to join the United States Army Infantry. During the 1913 season, he totaled 11 touchdowns. In 1915, he carried 183 times for 1,021 yards (for seven TDs), which stood as the Rutgers single season mark for 52 years until broken by Bryant Mitchell in 1968. That 1915 total still stands as the fifth-best single season and garnered him All-

American mention. He held the school single-game rushing record which he set with 220 yards against Stevens in 1915. As a senior, he also gained over 1,000 yards. Bracher, a native of Rahway, was named to the "mythical" Rutgers Athletic Hall after a career which spanned 1913-16 and saw him score 26 touchdowns. Contemporary resident historian Pop Hart's statistics credited him with over 3,000 career rushing yards.

Tim Odell Class of 1981

An honorable mention All-American and first-team Associated Press All-East pick in his record-setting senior season of 1980, Odell was also an honorable mention all-East selection in 1979. In 1980, he set the school mark with 49 catches (for 718 yards), which now holds the eighth spot on the single seasons list. His receiving yards that year are still the seventh-best single season performance. His 112 career receptions stands fifth-best on the all-time list as does his 1,702 career receiving yards. At the finish of his career in 1980, he was the career leader in receptions and receiving yards. A speedy and reliable receiver, his nine career scoring receptions ranks in a tie for ninth all-time. A four-year starter, the Summit, NJ native signed a free agent contract with the Cincinnati Bengals. The New Jersey Sports Writers Association named him their Amateur Athlete of the Year in 1980.

Bill Pickel Class of 1983

Pickel retired from the NFL after a successful 13-year career with Raiders and Jets, and holds the longest NFL tenure of any Rutgers football player. A starter with the Raiders and Jets, he is the owner of a Super Bowl championship ring with the Raiders in 1984. Pickel won four letters at Rutgers from 1979-82. He earned honorable mention Associated Press All-East honors in his junior year (1981), despite missing five games with a back injury, but still recorded 58 tackles and four sacks. The defensive lineman followed it up with a 40-tackle, 3-sack year in 1982, which was also shortened by his nagging back injury. In his sophomore campaign, he recorded 90 tackles and six sacks and also earned honorable mention AP All-East laurels. Selected in the second round of the NFL draft (54th pick overall) in 1983 by the Raiders, he was a Scarlet Knight tri-captain in 1982. The winner of the David Bender Trophy as the team's best lineman in 1982, the Cronin Trophy (most improved) in 1980 and the Touchdown Club Trophy in 1982, he ranks sixth in career sacks with 16 as well as 10th on the career unassisted tackles list with 160.

Earl Read Class of 1950

A stalwart, starting offensive guard on the "Golden Era" teams, Read won three letters from 1947-49. During that time the Knights compiled a sterling 21-6 record when he blocked and opened holes for the likes of Frank Burns, Herm Hering, Harvey

Grimsley and Hank Pryor. During the 1947 season, Rutgers won eight games by a margin of over three touchdowns per contest. His speed and power earned him an All-East selection by nationally-known writer Stanley Woodward. The coaches of the time recognized his play when he was chosen to play in the North-South All-Star game, for the nation's top college seniors. He was converted from tackle in his freshman year and played at 215 pounds. A Merchant Marine veteran and a native of Phillipsburg, he was captain of the 1949 Scarlet squad.

Steve Simms Class of 1962

A first-team all-ECAC selection in 1960, Simms led the 1960 and 1961 teams in rushing with (613) and (614) yards, respectively. Described as the East's best fullback in his senior year, his best asset was his power running ability. He paced the 1960 team in scoring with six TDs, five via the rush with one scoring catch. In 1960, he scored five times to give him 10 rushing scores for his career. Perhaps his most famous end zone appearance came when he scored the go-ahead touchdown vs. Columbia to ensure the win and preserve the undefeated season in 1961. With 205 career rushes, he gained 1,240 career yards for an astounding 6.0 yards per attempt. Usually counted on to come through with the tough yardage, Simms rarely failed to pick up the necessary ground and lost only 15 yards in three seasons. Two older brothers, Gene and Bob, attended Rutgers and Bob was standout receiver and is a 1990 Hall of Fame inductee. A native of Charleston, WV, Simms earned three letters as Rutgers went 23-4 from 1959-61.

Scott Erney Class of 1989

The most prolific passer in Rutgers football history, Erney was an honorable mention AP All-American in 1988. This Mechanicsburg, Pa., native was a three-time Homer Hazel Award winner and a co-winner of the Leslie Coursen Award. Erney holds every Rutgers major passing category record - yards (7,188) and completions (614). He holds the school record with 436 yards passing vs. Vanderbilt in 1988. He threw for more than 300 yards in a game on four occasions. He is also the single-season leader in attempts (374 in 1989), completions (208 in 1989) and yards (2,536 in 1989). A starter for the final three and a half years of his Rutgers career, Erney earned the starting quarterback spot with the Barcelona Dragons of the World League before a leg injury ended his professional career.

Jim Hughes Class of 1978

One of the best linebackers in Rutgers history, Hughes was a heady ballplayer who had a real nose for the football. The Verona, N.J., native was an honorable mention AP All-American selection in 1976 and was a first-team ECAC selection in 1976 and 1978. He was the co-captain of the team in 1977 and had 10 career interceptions for 222 yards. Hughes' 113 tackles made him the leading tackler on the undefeated 1976 team and he added five interceptions (eighth-best single-season mark) for 133 yards. The 1976 Scarlet defense led the nation in total defense, rushing defense and scoring defense. He was named the ABC Defensive Player of the Game in the season-ending win over Colgate. Hughes was also the 1976 Cronin Trophy winner.

John "By" O'Hearn Class of 1954

O'Hearn was rated as one of the East's outstanding linemen. The sturdy 6-0, 210-pounder was an honorable mention AP All-American as a center in 1954. O'Hearn was a Colliers' first-team All-East in 1954 and was the winner of the David Bender Trophy, emblematic of the team's top lineman. He served as co-captain of the 1954 team and played three years at guard before switching to center as a senior. Throughout his Rutgers career, O'Hearn was also a key cog in the Rutgers defense from his linebacker position. O'Hearn was known as a quick-charging blocker on offense and covered plenty of territory at linebacker. A native of Maplewood, N.J., O'Hearn was regarded as a powerful, aggressive player, supplying important punch up front on offense and steady, consistent play on defense.

Kennan Startzell Class of 1980

A reliable placekicker who combined great accuracy with tremendous leg strength, Startzell parlayed these assets into becoming Rutgers' all-time leading scorer with 261 career points. The Levittown, Pa., native is also the school's all-time leader in field goals with 46. His field goal percentage of .590 (46-of-78) is sixth-best all-time. Startzell led the Scarlet Knights in scoring in 1976 and 1978 and was the Touchdown Trophy recipient in 1979, a year where he was named first-team AP All-East. Throughout his Rutgers career, Startzell was a poised, intelligent athlete who was one of the Knights' most valuable players. The four teams he played on posted a combined record of 36-9. Startzell's kicking exploits played a major role in many of those wins.

John Toohy Class of 1915

Regarded as a rugged, intense performer, Toohy was an All-American defensive tackle in 1914, a season which saw him serve as captain of the Rutgers team. Toohy played both offensive and defensive tackle and excelled on both sides of the line.

Toohy possessed all of the attributes needed to be an outstanding tackle. He had great size and was a rangy athlete as well. He was selected to the Rutgers Athletic Hall of Fame by the Committee of Six. Toohy was named to the Rutgers All-Time Football Team in the 1940's along with fellow Rutgers Hall of Famer Bob Nash.

Alan Andrews Class of 1985

A second-team AP All-American selection as a tight end in 1984 and a second-team AP All-East choice in 1983, his 106 career receptions is the fifth-best mark all-time and his 1,224 yards receiving is the eighth-best total in school history. He also caught nine touchdown passes, which is tied for the eighth-best total in school history. His 48 receptions in 1983 is tied for the fifth-best mark. A co-captain of the 1984 team, Andrews came to Rutgers as a quarterback and was also a fine punter.

Larry Christoff Class of 1973

An honorable mention All-American in 1972 as a tight end, he shared the Homer Hazel Award that year with "JJ" Jennings as team's Most Valuable Player. He was a first-team AP All-East selection in 1972, and hauled in 68 career passes, and snared eight touchdown passes in 1970, which is tied for tenth in the single-season chart. He also caught three touchdown passes vs. Holy Cross. He signed a free agent contract with the Baltimore Colts in 1973.

Dan Gray Class of 1978

A defensive tackle, Gray won the David Bender Trophy, emblematic of the team's top lineman, in 1977. He was an integral member of the 1976 undefeated team. His 29 career quarterback sacks is second-best all-time and his 224 yards lost on those sacks is also second-best. He totaled 80 tackles in his senior season, including seven quarterback sacks. A durable performer, Gray started all 33 games over his last three seasons.

Frank Kelley Class of 1919

Kelley was a third-team Walter Camp All-American in 1918 and was an honorable mention choice on the mythical Rutgers Athletic Roll of Honor by the Committee of Six. He scored 10 touchdowns in 1917, including four in one game. One of those scores was a six-year sneak through center in a tough, exciting 7-7 Neilson Field tie with West Virginia. He transferred to Yale in 1920 but returned in 1921 to become an assistant coach at Rutgers under George Foster Sanford.

Sam Mudie Class of 1962

One of the most versatile players in Rutgers history, Mudie passed for 23 touchdowns in three seasons. He began his career as a single-wing tailback for two years; he also punted and was the leading pass defender with six interceptions. He completed 23-of-64 passes for 300 yards and four touchdowns in the 1961 undefeated season. He also gained 403 yards on 80 carries, scored 70 points, had six interceptions for 167 yards and returned a kickoff for 20 yards. Mudie was the Homer Hazel Award Winner in 1961, and was president of his junior class and president of Phi Gamma Delta. He was the 1962 Courten Award winner and also served as co-captain of the 1961 lacrosse team.

Henry Pryor Class of 1950

Pryor was one of the top players in the late 1940's, the "Golden Era" of Rutgers football. He played and won a letter in 1946, left school for the 1947 season and returned to play in 1948 and 1949. He entered Rutgers after serving two years in the Marines. He averaged 6.1 yards and led team with 340 yards in 1948. He ran back 24 punts and six kickoffs for total of 643 yards, averaging 21.3 yards on runbacks, and led team in scoring with 36 points.

Lee Schneider Class of 1970

A rugged linebacker, Schneider served as co-captain of the 1969 team and played in the famed Centennial Game vs. Princeton. He was a defensive mainstay for three years "On the Banks." He was an honorable mention AP All-East selection in 1969 and winner of the 1969 Touchdown Trophy Award. He later played with the New York Giants and the New York Titans (later the Jets) of the AFL. An assistant coach at Rutgers from 1970 to 74, Schneider is currently the Dean of Students at Cook College.

Deron Cherry Class of 1980

A second-team AP All-East selection in 1979 and 1980, a 1980 co-captain and the Homer Hazel Award winner as the team MVP in 1979, Cherry recorded nine career interceptions and punted for a record 39.4 career average. His 12-year career with the Kansas City Chiefs was highlighted by six Pro Bowl appearances, all as a starter. His commanding presence made the Chiefs' secondary the NFL's top unit. The Palmyra native received the Byron White Humanitarian award for his distinguished service to his team, community and country.

Harvey Grimsley Class of 1950

The leading scorer with 168 points for four varsity seasons during the "Golden Era" between 1946 and 1949, Grimsley tallied eight touchdowns in three of his four seasons, when the Scarlet Knights posted a 28-8 record. In 1947, the 26-year old Army veteran averaged over five yards per carry and scored 48 points for the third time in an outstanding career. He capped his career by racing 63 yards in characteristic fashion for a touchdown against Fordham in his final contest. He scored two or more touchdowns in a game 11 times, and had 28 touchdowns for his career.

Ed McMichael Class of 1980

McMichael was a second-team AP All-East selection in 1980 after receiving honorable mention All-East honors in 1979. He engineered the stunning 1979 victory over Tennessee and established new passing marks in a two-year career. Also at the helm in the 1980 thriller against Alabama, McMichael passed for 3,584 yards and completed 292 passes for 61.6 completion percentage. A 1980 squad captain, he threw for 20 career touchdowns, four of which came in the 1980 Princeton game, the last scheduled against the Tigers. He also played briefly for the New Jersey Generals in the USFL.

Sam Picketts Class of 1972

A tri-captain of the 1971 Scarlet Knights, won first-team ECAC linebacking honors in 1970 and 1971, along with second-team AP notice that year. The Homer Hazel Trophy winner in 1971, he was a prototype of the modern linebacker and he made the width of the field his province. He recorded seven career interceptions and led the team with five in 1971. He returned a theft 54 yards for a score against Harvard and also blocked a punt for a safety in a 9-0 victory over Lehigh in 1970.

John Powers Equipment Manager (1931-75)

Powers enjoyed a Rutgers career that encompassed four athletic directors and eight head football coaches. Considered "an institution of the University" by the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics, he was a one-man staff proud of the services he warmly provided to thousands of athletes. His close relationships with coaches and players and his continuing interest in Scarlet Knight football endeared him to all as a gentle man in all respects.

Arnold "Arnie" Truex Class of 1936

An honorable mention All-American and an All-East selection in 1934 as a triple-threat tailback, he went on to a remarkable 39-year teaching and coaching career in New Jersey. One of the nation's top punters and field goal experts during his playing career, Truex posted a 137-51-6 scholastic coaching record with six undefeated seasons and six state and conference titles. Co-founder of the Shore Conference, he also coached basketball, profoundly influencing thousands of students and athletes.

John Alexander Class of 1977

Alexander achieved honorable mention All-America honors in 1975. A first-team All-East selection in 1976, he teamed with Hall of Famer Nate Toran to head a Scarlet defense which was first in the nation in rushing defense, total defense and scoring defense. Alexander played on teams that amassed a 33-10-1 record, including the 11-0 mark in 1976. Drafted by the Miami Dolphins, he began his short-lived professional career with a broken foot and then had a career-ending shoulder operation in 1978.

Jack Emmer Class of 1967

An honored lacrosse coach for 25 years, Emmer once held the game, season and career records for receptions at Rutgers. While his record for catches in a game has been tied (by Eric Young with 13 against Vanderbilt in 1988), his 237 receiving yards in the 1966 Holy Cross game remains a Rutgers record. Emmer, currently the lacrosse coach at Army, was a second-team lacrosse All-American in 1967 and was an All-East selection in football, as well as the team captain and MVP in 1966.

Dr. Joel Fertig Team Dentist for 45 Years

A fixture on the Rutgers athletic scene for nearly a half-century, Fertig entered the Hall of Fame for his impact on the program. A Mississippi State graduate, he is credited with being the first dentist in the East to introduce mouthpieces to high school athletes. He endowed a football scholarship and was a past president of the Touchdown Club.

Herman Hering Class of 1950

Hering led the Scarlet Knight rushers in 1946 and 1947, a period known as the "Golden Era" of Rutgers football. He gained 510 and 528 yards in back-to-back seasons and was named an honorable mention All-East tailback in 1947. His 80 points in 1946 ranked third-best in the East ahead of both of Army's Mr. Inside and Mr. Outside tandem of Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard. A four-year letterwinner as a baseball outfielder, he won 11 games as a pitcher, including two victories in the 1950 College World Series. His son, Bob, was the Knights' starting quarterback in the late 1970's.

Dino Mangiero Class of 1980

Now a restaurateur in Staten Island, Mangiero co-captained the 1979 Scarlet squad and was a key force in the celebrated victory at Tennessee that season. A third-team Associated Press All-American and a first-team All-East pick, Mangiero contributed 288 career tackles and 26 quarterback sacks, figures that rank eighth and third, respectively, on the all-time lists. He went on to play with four NFL teams in Kansas City, Seattle, San Francisco and New England.

Bryant Mitchell Class of 1969

Mitchell led Rutgers in rushing and scoring for three consecutive seasons and gained 2,286 career rushing yards, running 495 times, scoring 21 touchdowns and scoring 132 points, all marks still among the top 10 in Scarlet history. A first-team AP All-East selection in 1968, he was the Homer Hazel Trophy winner as a senior. In 1968, Mitchell gained over 100 yards in nine of 10 games, averaging an even five yards a carry and completing his career with a 4.6-yard average.

Leon Root Class of 1951

The recipient of the David Bender Trophy twice as the team's leading lineman, Root was named the senior athlete of the year in 1950 and was presented with the Donald Leslie Coursen Award. An honorable mention All-East selection in 1950, Root played in the 1950 North-South Shrine game. Considered one of the nation's top centers after beginning his career as a running back, Root was also a top-notch linebacker. He served as president of the Class of 1950 and captained the 1950 squad.

Ed Steward Class of 1981

Steward was an AP honorable mention All-American and a first-team All-East pick in 1978 as a middle guard. Asked to move to a linebacking post for his final two seasons, he played with the same intensity that won him those honors. A veteran of Desert Storm and still in the U.S. Army, he had two key interceptions in the victory over Tennessee in 1979 and also had 15 tackles in the Garden State Bowl game against Arizona State in 1978. In his three seasons, Rutgers posted a 25-9 record as he contributed 222 career tackles and 13 quarterback sacks.

Walter Winika Class of 1936

He was considered one of the East's top ends during the 1930's, is a member of the all-time All-Rutgers football team which was selected in 1940. He scored the only touchdown allowed by the celebrated 1933 Princeton team and was credited with winning, virtually single-handedly, the Boston University game in 1935. Compared often to Paul Robeson, Winika was killed in a plane crash at Trinidad in 1942, the first varsity athlete from Rutgers to perish in World War II.

Andrew Baker Class of 1984

Known as "Shake and Bake," the Trenton native graduated as the all-time record holder for reception yardage (2,268) and receptions (127). The yardage record still stands and his 127 catches now places him third all-time. Baker, an Associated Press Honorable Mention All-American and first-team All-East selection in 1984, received the Homer Hazel Trophy as the team's most valuable player that year. His 857 receiving yards in 1983 is still the all-time single-season record. Baker was known for the acrobatic, leaping catches that he routinely made.

John Bateman Head Coach (1960-72)

Bateman directed the Scarlet Knights to an 8-1 record in his first season and followed that with an unblemished 9-0 mark in 1961, the first undefeated season for Rutgers. In his 13 seasons as head coach, Rutgers posted a mark of 73-51. Fondly known as "Dr. John," Bateman had a storied coaching career, which was highlighted also by the 1969 Centennial Game victory over Princeton.

Philip Brett Class of 1892

Brett captained the 1892 Rutgers team and later served as acting president of the University in 1930-31. A longtime Trustee, he was, at one time, identified as the author of the famous statement, "I'd die for dear old Rutgers." Brett embraced the University and was singularly influential in major decisions made by the State University.

Al Garrett Class of 1929

Garrett captained the 1919 Rutgers squad and starred at several positions on both offense and defense. Tabbed a "human bullet" by his coach, George Foster Sanford, Garrett was a third-team Walter Camp All-American in 1916. He later played and coached at the professional level and taught at Rutgers-Newark for 20 years while also gaining fame as an official.

William "Bucky" Hatchett President of the Class of 1950

Hatchett established records in football, basketball and track and is considered one of Rutgers' greatest all-around athletes. The first basketball player to score over 1,000 points and a record-setter in the high hurdles and the high jump, Hatchett shared the record with three touchdown receptions in a game for more than 40 years. He was inducted into the Rutgers Basketball Hall of Fame in 1994. He currently lives in Spotsylvania, Va.

Mike Kushinka Class of 1949

Kushinka was the first recipient of the David Bender Trophy, as the top lineman on the 1949 squad. An All-East selection in 1947, he played on teams that combined for a 22-5 record. Kushinka now serves the Bender Trust as treasurer. He and his family have close ties to Rutgers. His wife has a Rutgers doctorate and two daughters have master's degrees from the State University. One daughter earned two letters as a Rutgers football manager and another covers Rutgers football for radio station WTCB. The Kushinkas live in Bridgewater.

Mike Stang Athletic Trainer for 33 Years

Stang was revered for his concern for the athletes under his care. Stang coached baseball at St. Peter's High School and was also a highly-respected and well-known official for many years. Retiring in 1966, he was twice given testimonial dinners attended by hosts of former Rutgers athletes.

Vinnie Utz Class of 1942

Utz captained the 1941 Rutgers squad and was an honorable mention All-American that season, when he led Rutgers in rushing and keyed a 7-2 season. One of the most colorful of Rutgers athletes, "The Wizard of Utz" was also a member of the 7-1-1 team in 1939. A decorated war hero, he remained a flamboyant follower of Rutgers football during his professional career at Johnson & Johnson.

Bruce Van Ness Class of 1970

Van Ness was the ECAC Football Sophomore of the Year in 1967 and played sensationally at five different positions for the Scarlet Knights. He accounted for 2,216 all-purpose yards over his collegiate career, which was capped by his selection as the most valuable player in the 1969 North-South All-Star game. Van Ness, now living in Rumson, was named Rookie of the Year in the Canadian Football League in 1970 and enjoyed an outstanding career with the Montreal Alouettes.

Thomas Turner Barr Class of 1913

Judged too small to play football at Rutgers after a tryout as a freshman, he became a manager of the team as a senior in 1913. Upon his death in 1949, Barr bequeathed much of his estate to Rutgers. The fortune was held in trust for his wife with the stipulation that, upon her death, the money would go to the university to provide football scholarships. Mrs. Barr died in 1966. In 1967, the first Barr scholarships were awarded to four student-athletes - Murray Bakst, Steve Ferrughelli, Leo Smith and Kevin O'Connor. He originally established his trust fund, it is said, in 1931 with the thought of helping Rutgers build a football stadium.

David T. Bender Class of 1925

A native of Bethlehem, Pa., Bender entered Rutgers in 1921 and played four years of football and lacrosse. He was a tackle and center on the famed 1923 and 1924 squads, which posted identical 7-1-1 records. He received All-America recognition in lacrosse in 1924. He later became an assistant coach at Rutgers under both Harry Rockefeller and Harvey Harman. The David Bender Trophy has been awarded each year since 1947 to the squad's top offensive and defensive linemen. He was elected posthumously.

John DeWitt Class of 1886

DeWitt captained the 1884 football squad and earned seven letters in two periods of play. The New Brunswick native played on teams between 1883 and 1886, and, returning from railroad work in Iowa to become a mathematics instructor and an assistant in English composition, played again between 1889 and 1891. The gifted athlete also captained the baseball team as a shortstop, was a talented tennis player and was a "first rusher" on the polo (roller hockey) team. On the gridiron, DeWitt gained fame as a runner and dropkicker and starred in the first game on Neilson Field in 1891.

James Dumont Class of 1884

A third-team All-American linebacker in 1983, he was a co-captain of the 1983 Rutgers football team and received Associated Press first-team All-East honors in 1982 and 1983 after receiving honorable mention All-East recognition in 1981. He was an honorable mention All-American in 1982. Dumont, whose twin brother, Bob, won three football letters as a Scarlet Knight defensive end, arrived at Rutgers as a 170-pounder. His career produced 405 tackles, a Rutgers record until broken by Tyrone Stowe in 1986. Drafted by the Cleveland Browns in 1984, Dumont played in 17 games for the Browns that year and then with the New Jersey Generals of the USFL in 1985.

Harvey J. Harman Head Coach (1938-43, 46-55)

A native of Selingsgrove, Pa., Harman was a four-year starter as a tackle for Pittsburgh (Class of 1922) teams under Glenn "Pop" Warner. He arrived at Rutgers in 1938 and produced a 25-7-1 record in his first four seasons before receiving a commission as a lieutenant commander in the U.S. Naval Reserve and serving in several sea campaigns in the Far East. Harman returned to Rutgers in 1945 as head football coach and, in the next 10 seasons, posted a 48-37-1 mark. Overall, his record for 14 seasons at Rutgers was 73-44-2. Active in football for over half a century, Harman retired in 1955 and headed the National Football Foundation, then located in New Brunswick, until his death on December 17, 1969.

Edward Jones Class of 1975

The Middletown (N.J.) HS graduate still shares the Rutgers all-time interception record with 14. A co-captain of the 1974 squad, Jones was an Associated Press Honorable Mention All-East selection in 1972, and a second-team AP All-East choice in 1973. He led the Scarlet squad with seven interceptions in 1974 and was drafted by the Dallas Cowboys in the ninth round in 1975. He started at strong safety for the Buffalo Bills in 1975 and continued his brilliant career in Canadian football with the Edmonton Eskimos and the British Columbia Lions from 1976 until 1985. He led the league with 11 interceptions in 1980, was an All-Conference choice for four consecutive seasons and played on five Grey Cup championship teams.

James F. Monahan Class of 1952

"Mighty Mo," who was named to the first-team All-East squad in 1951 by Collier's Magazine and by the American Football Coaches Association, captained the 1951 Rutgers team and was the squad's leading rusher in 1950 and 1951. His 81-yard run against Temple in 1951 remains the longest run from scrimmage in Rutgers football history. The West Haven, Conn., native earned three letters in baseball and helped Rutgers post a 17-5 record in 1950, when the diamond squad won the District 2 title and finished as co-runner-up in the NCAA Tournament.

Richard F. Policastro Class of 1970

A first-team All-East selection in 1969, he tossed 14 touchdown passes that season and led Rutgers to a 29-0 victory over Princeton in the nationally-televised Centennial Game, celebrating the 100th anniversary of football. A year earlier, in his first season after transferring from VMI, Policastro established six passing marks - 15 touchdown passes, 994 yards, four TD passes in a game, 17 completions and 30 pass attempts in a game, and 309 yards in a game. In 1969, the Highland Park native threw a record five TD passes against Colgate.

Robert Simms Class of 1960

Simms led the Scarlet Knights in reception yardage for three consecutive seasons, gaining 180, 468 and 345 yards for the years between 1957 and 1959. The 993 career yards ranked eighth-best on the all-time Scarlet charts for years. In 1958, Simms caught a single-season record nine touchdown passes and was second on the charts with 13 for his career. His 64 points in 1958 ranked 10th in the nation. A first-team All-East selection after getting honorable mention recognition in 1957, Simms was a ninth-round draft choice of the New York Giants as well as a fourth-round choice of Houston of the AFL, in 1960.

William Tranavitch Class of 1940

Known as "Big Train," the Norwood, Mass., native captained the 1939 Rutgers team and was the nation's third-leading scorer with 90 points that year. He was the author of numerous memorable performances and in the Rutgers Stadium Dedication Game in 1938, he scored the first Rutgers touchdown in the celebrated 20-18 victory over Princeton. The Knights went on to post a 7-1 record, the best-ever to that point in Rutgers football history.

Henry Benkert Class of 1925

A consensus newspaper All-American in 1924, "Heinie" led the East in scoring with 100 points. Also a second-team All-American in lacrosse, Benkert gained 2,124 yards during his career, still the sixth-best figure in Rutgers history. He served on the Rutgers football staff between 1944 and 1949 and played professionally with the New York Giants and three other pro teams. Benkert was elected posthumously.

Frank Burns Class of 1949

The winningest coach in Rutgers football history, "Flinging Frank" quarterbacked the Scarlet Knights to a four-year, 27-7 record in the late forties. An honorable mention All-American, he was named the MVP of the 1949 College All-Star game, amassing 17 tackles as a linebacker against the New York Giants. As head coach between 1973 and 1983, he recorded a masterful 78-43-1 mark.

Dr. Hyman B. Copleman Class of 1929

"Copey" gained the respect and admiration of thousands of Rutgers athletes in his 50 years as team physician. One of the nation's most highly-decorated physicians of World War II, the humanitarian and philanthropist became known as the Dean of Sports Medicine in New Jersey. "Copey" received the Rutgers Medal and the Loyal Son of Rutgers Medal and established the Copleman Scholarship Fund for scholar-athletes majoring in the biological sciences and pre-medical studies. Copleman was elected posthumously.

John "Jack" Grossman Class of 1932

A prototype triple-threat tailback, Grossman, now living in Chile, received honorable mention All-American recognition in 1931 and went on to play with the Brooklyn Dodgers of the NFL for four seasons. He also played professional baseball and soccer in Latin America. Grossman captained the 1931 Rutgers squad.

James "JJ" Jennings Class of 1975

This crunching runner led the nation in scoring in 1973, tallying 128 points, earning All-America honors and establishing Rutgers records with 2,935 career yards, 605 attempts and 33 touchdowns. He also owns the single-game marks of 40 attempts, and held the record of 230 yards for nearly 20 years. Still a resident of Holyoke, Mass., Jennings, who played professionally with the Memphis Southmen and the Philadelphia Bell of the World Football League, was the league's Rookie of the Year in 1974.

William T. Leggett Class of 1872

Leggett served as captain of the first Rutgers football team. While many of the Rutgers and Princeton players were socializing before the inaugural game on November 6, 1869, Leggett and the Princeton captain, William S. Gummere, developed the afternoon's rules of play. Under Leggett's leadership and tactical guidance, the Scarlet eked out a 6-4 victory. Leggett later became a distinguished clergyman of the Dutch Reformed Church.

Harry Rockefeller, Class of 1916 Head Coach (1927-30, 42-45) Director of Athletics (1953-61)

"Rocky" recorded a 33-26 overall mark. One of the founders of the Eastern Intercollegiate Lightweight Football League, he coached the 150-pounders between 1933 and 1937, posting a 22-3-1 record. Associated with the university in various capacities for nearly 40 years, the 1915 All-American end served as director of athletics between 1953 and 1961. Affectionately known as "Mr. Football," Rockefeller also served as mayor of Piscataway for two years. Rockefeller was elected posthumously.

George Foster Sanford Head Coach (1913-23)

Sanford was elected to the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame in 1971. A legend for his innovations and strategies, he also coached at Columbia at the turn of the century and is remembered with a plaque at Rutgers Stadium for his lasting influence on the character of his players. From 1913-1923, he led Rutgers to a fine 56-32-5 record. This period is recognized in Rutgers sports lore as the "Sanford Era." Sanford was elected posthumously.

Howard Parker Talman Class of 1936

"Tal" captained the 1915 Rutgers squad and scored a single-game record of 48 points on six touchdowns and 12 extra points against RPI. That season, he scored 138 total points, at the time, a Scarlet record. On various All-America teams, Talman was recognized as a guard in 1913, as a halfback in 1914, and as a fullback in 1915. The versatile athlete played professionally for the Detroit Heralds and the Massillon Tigers. Talman was inducted posthumously.

William W. Austin Class of 1959

A first-team All-American in 1958, Austin, though diminutive at 5-11, 170, amassed 2,073 yards and scored 204 points as he led the Scarlet in rushing for three years from his single-wing tailback spot. His 32 touchdowns rank second among the all-time scorers and he had 13 interceptions. Austin was also a two-time honorable mention lacrosse All-American at Rutgers.

Homer H. Hazel Class of 1925

Hazel was elected to the National Football Hall of Fame in 1951. He won All-America honors in 1923 as an end and repeated in 1924 as a fullback. The father of three children, "Pop" was an honor society member and president of his class and performed Bunyan-esque feats on the field. Hazel was elected posthumously and the Rutgers Team MVP is named in his honor.

Alexander Kroll Class of 1962

An All-American at center and linebacker in 1961, Kroll led the Scarlet to its first undefeated season in 1961 (9-0) and spearheaded a two-season mark of 17-1. He was known for his smarts, toughness and savvy in the trenches. A Henry Rutgers Scholar with a perfect grade-point average, Kroll was the president and CEO of Young and Rubicam, the world's largest advertising agency.

George E. Little Director of Athletics (1932-53)

Little was inducted into the coaching ranks of the National Football Hall of Fame in 1955. He coached at four colleges, including Michigan and Wisconsin, before coming to Rutgers where he was the dynamic force in the construction of the original Rutgers Stadium. Little was elected posthumously.

Robert A. Nash Class of 1926

Known as "Nasty," Nash was named to Walter Camp's 1914 second-team All-American list in his junior season and went on to a superb 10-year professional career. In 1921, he was traded by Akron to Buffalo in the first such NFL transaction and later had the distinction of being the first captain of the New York Giants in 1925. Nash was elected posthumously.

William Pellington Class of 1952

A versatile player for the Scarlet for two years, Pellington earned major acclaim as a 12-year member of the Baltimore Colts. Pellington was the Colts starting inside linebacker in the famous 1958 NFL Championship game, which saw Baltimore defeat the Giants in overtime at Yankee Stadium. Also a member of the 1959 World Champion Colt squad, he played through the 1964 season, when the Colts again went to the title game, however, losing to Cleveland. He operated a Baltimore restaurant for 20 years. He died in 1994.

Paul L. Robeson Class of 1919

A 12-time letterwinner at Rutgers, Robeson was chosen an All-American in 1918 by Walter Camp, who called him the greatest end to "ever trod the gridiron." The second-highest ranking student in his graduating class, he was the first Rutgers player chosen a first-team All-American. After receiving a law degree from Columbia, Robeson went on to become a world renowned singer, athlete and social leader. Robeson was elected posthumously.

Nathaniel Toran Class of 1977

A third-team All-American in 1975, Toran was a second team choice in 1976 and a Kodak first-team All-American when he led the Scarlet to an undefeated season. He captained a defensive unit that topped the nation in three defensive categories and his 52 sacks in three seasons seems a career record beyond the reach of mere mortals.

David A. "Sonny" Werblin Class of 1931

The former president of the Rutgers Foundation, Werblin launched his business career as a freelance newspaper reporter while still a student and went on to become president of the Music Corporation of America from 1952 until 1965. After serving as president of the New York Jets until 1968, he was the guiding light of the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority for seven years and then took over the leadership of Madison Square Garden in 1978. He died in 1991.

The following is a list of players who earned varsity letters at Rutgers University. This is NOT to be considered a complete listing of all-time players, nor a membership roster of the Rutgers Letterwinners Club.

The Old...

Rutgers celebrated its 55th season in Rutgers Stadium in 1992 and, at season's end, had played 225 games in the revered facility which was undoubtedly one of the most esthetic in the country. Dedicated in 1938 on November 5, the original Rutgers Stadium seated 23,000 but in 1988 the Temple game attracted a record 31,219, a Homecoming gathering, and the 1989 Homecoming game with Syracuse was seen by 29,276. The 1969 Rutgers-Princeton clash had 31,000 in the stands and the 1947 game with the Tigers, 30,426. In 1987, the Boston College game attracted 30,253 and the Army game in 1966 drew an even 30,000.

The completion of the Hale Center in the spring of 1987 significantly altered the complex. Attached to the "old" Stadium, the multi-purpose Athletic Training Center gave Rutgers a comprehensive facility that included a state-of-the-art training area, coaches offices and player accommodations.

The rich history of the "old" Rutgers Stadium included 168 victories with just 53 losses and four ties. Forty of the campaigns, including 1992's 4-0 mark, have been winning ones and there have been 10 stalemated seasons. The Stadium has seen 12 undefeated seasons, the 7-0 and 6-0 campaigns in 1975 and 1941 topping the win chart. This record includes 1946 (4-0), 1947 (5-0), 1950 (3-0), 1961 (4-0), 1976 (4-0), 1977 (4-0), 1982 (2-0), 1984 (4-0), 1990 (2-0), 1991 (4-0), and 1992 (4-0). There have been just four losing seasons - 1951, 1953, 1955 and 1989. Between 1974 and 1978, the Scarlet Knights won 20 consecutive Stadium games. At the start of play in 1938, Rutgers put together a 19-game unbeaten streak (including a 1939 tie with Richmond) through 1942. Rutgers has not lost more than once in the Stadium since 1980 and the most recent three-loss season was in 1971. There have been 22 single loss seasons, nine dual loss campaigns, three years in which Rutgers lost three games and one four-game losing season (1954).

...And The New

In the year of college football's 125th anniversary, it was fitting that the place where it all started opened a new stadium which ushered in the future of Rutgers football.

Rutgers Stadium has always been a place where students, alumni and friends could get together on a crisp Saturday afternoon in the fall, and cheer on their Knights. In recent years, the stadium had become affectionately known as "ouR hoUse."

With great care and attention, the same Rutgers atmosphere still exists. That's not to say things haven't changed, though. The new Rutgers Stadium holds 41,500 fans and etches itself high into the New Jersey sky. This striking new structure can be seen rising majestically above the treetops as one travels from New Brunswick to Piscataway via the John Lynch Bridge.

A pair of 5,000-seat upper decks is the first thing that captures the eye and announces that Rutgers Stadium is ready for the future. While this commanding edifice may be intimidating at first, once through the gate, one realizes that it's still the same house, even cozier.

This is the most important aspect of the new stadium, the atmosphere that surrounds it, the aura it creates. It's still the same - only better. During a recent spring game festivity, 40 letterwinners were brought onto the construction sight to get their impressions. Unanimous approval was received. Their comment was one and the same - "...it's still Rutgers Stadium - and that is very important."

The track which used to surround the field was removed and the field itself was moved 25 feet to the west in order to bring the fans even closer to the action. The first row of the lower deck is only a few yards from the action and the steeper angles make for much-improved sightlines.

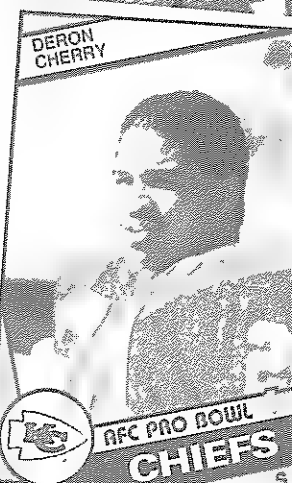

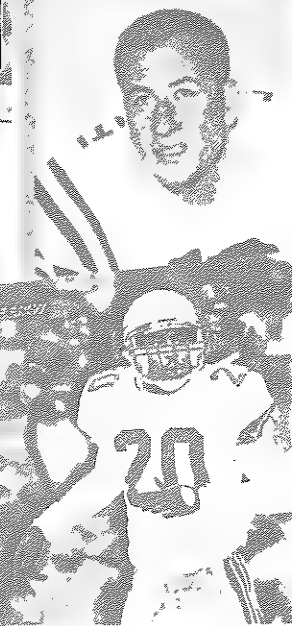

The upper decks, twin monoliths, are the most visible difference between the old and the new. A seat upstairs not only bestows a perfect angle to view the action, it allows for a revealing glimpse of the sprawling landscape. From the top of the east deck, one can see the hills of Pennsylvania, the top of the World Trade Center and gaze across the Raritan River all the way out to Raritan Bay.

Two Looming above both upper-decks are light stantions that will bring the stadium up to par for night games and allow for network television broadcasts.

Eight 1,000 square-foot concession stands are strategically located throughout the stadium.

There is nothing physical that remains from the old structure. But this sparkling new facility still keeps its majesty in the natural ravine which only serves to enhance the stadium's beauty. It has been, and will remain, a great place to watch exciting college football.

Rutgers Stadium:

Old 1938-1994

New 1995-Present

by Bob Smith

Far removed from midwestern corn fields where Hollywood created a baseball dream, Rutgers realized a football dream when the new Rutgers Stadium opened for the 1994 season. The completion of the stadium, expanded to accommodate 41,500 fans, coincided neatly with the celebration of the 125th year of the game which, Rutgers and Princeton inaugurated in 1869.

The new stadium, financed by a New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority bond issue proposal, which was approved by the legislature and then Governor Jim Florio in January of 1992, was kicked off officially on March 9, 1993.

The historic groundbreaking ceremony drew over 500 as a host of state dignitaries spoke glowingly of the meaning for the University and the state. The stadium project would include expansion to nearly 42,000 seats with all the amenities of a first-class facility. Permanent lights, lit to a level of 150 foot-candles, will make possible night games and television broadcast. A two-tiered press box seats over 200. The main concourse includes eight concession stands and the stadium will be equipped with a state-of-the-art sound system. A huge, new scoreboard towers over the south endzone.

Perhaps not readily noticed is that the field, itself, has been moved. The field, in order to make the playing surface large enough for national and international soccer matches, add seating and get fans closer to the action, was shifted 25 feet to the west.

At the groundbreaking ceremony, then-governor Jim Florio said "there is no doubt that what is good for Rutgers is good for New Jersey." Rutgers president Francis L. Lawrence noted that "this grand old stadium...has been of great service to the people of New Jersey and this new project will provide 800 jobs in New Jersey. New Jersey is a great state that deserves the best in every aspect, in every area, including athletics." Athletic Director Fred Gruninger called the event a "real happening."

Former Rutgers head football coach Doug Graber was "awestruck" and declared "the sky is the limit for this program." Later, as the project proceeded, Graber would remain awestruck. Standing in the last row in the upper deck of the nearly completed stadium, Graber told a group of touring writers, "It's unbelievable. The view from up here is something else. You can see all the way out west to the Watchung Hills and to the Verazzano Bridge the other way. It's breathtaking."

In addition to the stadium, the $28 million Rutgers portion of the $418 million NJSEA bond refinancing, provided a soccer/lacrosse complex on the Busch Campus and a track and field facility on the Livingston Campus. These two cutting-edge facilities have already drawn rave reviews from athletes and coaches as top-notch bases from which to train and compete. State, regional and national championships on the intercollegiate and scholastic levels can now find a home on the Rutgers campus.

"Old man winter" almost disrupted the stadium construction schedule with an extra dose of harsh elements. However, spring and summer climes cooperated and major progress was made. One of many important steps was accomplished when the final concrete stands were put in place by a giant crane. Next came the sophisticated drainage and irrigation systems for the actual playing surface. Finally, the sod was installed, ahead of schedule, in late June.

The turf, a blend of Kentucky bluegrass and Bermuda, has as its major component, a blend called Princeton 104. And, given the oft-told tale of football's early days and the rich history of the long-standing Rutgers-Princeton football rivalry, that's entirely fitting.

One hundred and twenty-five years ago on November 6, 1869, Rutgers and Princeton played the first intercollegiate football game in New Brunswick on College Field, which is now the site of the College Avenue Gymnasium and its parking lot. And, while Rutgers won that initial contest, 6-4, Princeton would dominate the early days of this intrastate rivalry.

The Tigers won the second game at home a week later and went on to win the next 24 games through 1897, holding the Scarlet Knights scoreless in 22 of the 25 victories. Getting together again in 1911, Princeton added five more wins before the series lapsed in 1915. A leap of 18 years, a tumultuous time in this country's history, elapsed before the next meeting, but the pattern did not change as Princeton took the 1933, 1935, 1936 and 1937 games, all on its home grounds, as were all but six of the 34 games.

Fifty years after their historic inaugural game, members of the 1869 Rutgers football team were honored at Homecoming ceremonies in 1918.

Those six games had been played at the site of the original game, College Field, where contests were staged through 1891, after which Neilson Field became the home of the Scarlet until 1938.

The stage was set for "the game that would live forever" (according to Jimmie Fleming, sports editor of the New Brunswick Home News) and a game that a New York news commentator rated one of the four principal historical events of 1938, along with the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia, the Munich agreement and the wars in China and Spain. But, the story began a few years earlier.

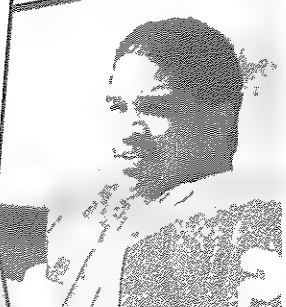

Through the presidency of John Martin Thomas (1925-30) and the brief 18-month tenure of Philip Milledoler Brett, Rutgers experienced a severe identity crisis. "For a quarter of a century," wrote historian Richard P. McCormick, "Rutgers had been in the throes of transformation from a small college to a multi-dimensional university, from an essentially private institution to an instrumentality of the state." That drama would continue even while the athletic picture began to improve. It would play itself out against a background generally called the Great Depression.

Robert C. Clothier was named president in December, 1931, and George E. Little became the athletic director in April, 1932. It is with these two visionaries that the story of Rutgers Stadium begins.

Both saw that the effectiveness of the instruction in physical education was being seriously hampered by lack of space and deteriorating facilities. Neilson Field, the football home site that had replaced College Field and the home of the Rutgers football since 1892, was in disrepair. Though indoor facilities were sufficient (College Avenue Gymnasium was completed in January 1932 and held athletic contests as well as a concert by Paul Robeson '19) but if the overall program was to be strengthened, space had to be found.

Feeling that the University had weathered the initial phases of the Depression, Clothier dispatched Little on a survey of suitable land and on November 7, 1934, the determined athletic director recommended the purchase of a tract of land covering 256 acres across the Raritan River that included the disbanded New Brunswick Country Club golf course and the Adrian Vermeule properties. The Board of Trustees, noting that it was a daring move, nevertheless adopted the proposal and bought the land for less than $100,000.

Clothier would prove to be profoundly prophetic when he said, "In years to come, units of the University may be transferred to this new location. New buildings and stately towers may rise from the heights across the river...It is at one time an outlet for our program of physical education, a financial investment which we expect to increase in value with the return of good times, and a pledge to that future of which we can now be only dimly aware, but in which we have unwavering confidence."

Though the stadium area, a natural ravine, was included in the purchase, the original proposal did not include construction of a stadium. The development of the area would provide recreational areas for students and considerable acreage for future needs. The Federal government approved an initial grant of $320,000 on November 13, 1935, and work men began the enormous job of developing the River Road campus. The project was to carry a cost of $418,514 with the University contributing $98,390. It would provide work for 387 workers for one year.

The Depression Years

A year later, November, 1936, a second Works Progress Administration grant of $143,841 was approved with Rutgers adding $107,530. In January, 1938, an additional grant of $237,000 was made by the WPA which brought the total of the three grants to $995,707 while Rutgers had appropriated $239,000, including the cost of the site.

All this played out against the background of the Depression. Franklin D. Roosevelt's Second New Deal had created the Works Progress Administration, a massive relief program that derived from the administration's belief that "human dignity was diminished under direct relief programs but enriched by programs that provided work in exchange for relief."

Though controversial, the WPA program was far more comprehensive than earlier relief efforts. The program would spend more than $411 billion before it was canceled in 1943. According to historian Edward Ellis, the WPA, employing more than 8.5 million people on nearly a million and a half projects, "built 651,087 miles of highways, roads and streets; constructed, repaired or improved 124,031 bridges; erected 124,110 public buildings; created 8,192 public parks; built or improved 853 airports."

With Little monitoring the project so closely that the site virtually became his office, the stadium neared completion as the 1938 season approached. John J. Hall, for his sports column for the Elizabeth Daily Journal, had visited the construction site and wrote of the finishing stages: "Then the other day I went back to New Brunswick and met Harry Rockafeller at the Rutgers gymnasium. We crossed Landing Bridge and hurried along River Road to the project office, where Mr. Little was found still huddled over his beloved blueprints with Mr. Clifford V. Barrett, project

"The men had laid aside their hand shovels and their picks and were piling into big motor trucks...Here, sure enough was a great dream coming true and you forgot time until finally lights began to twinkle in the university buildings a mile away across the Raritan River, lending new enchantment to the scene...You could hardly hold back a cheer for a vast job that will have been completed before the next football season."

The Big Mud Hole

The "big mud hole," after three years of construction and an even longer period of research and planning, was a transformed marvel. The Class of 1939, dubbed "The Stadium Class," would honor Little by dedicating its yearbook to him. The dedication reads, in part, "We acclaim all that George Little has done - Sponsored large-scale intramurals to provide 'athletics for all' - conceived and developed a vast athletic plant...traveled, dreamed, and fought for Rutgers...thoughtful, creative, impulsive, dynamic, generous - bubbling over with ideas and enthusiasm - unflagging in labor and effort - a champion of progress." A plaque in Little's honor would later adorn the stadium entrance beneath the press box.

The 1938 season would open not only with a new stadium but also with a new coach. Upon the resignation of J. Wilder Tasker, who had been the head coach since 1931, Harvey Harman took over the reins. Arriving from the University of Pennsylvania, one of his first efforts, in concert with President Clothier and athletic director Little, was to have Princeton agree to shift the game from Palmer Stadium. The Tigers had not visited the Rutgers campus since 1888 and a span of 17 games, but they agreed to make the short trip on November 5, the seventh game of the season for the Scarlet.

The Rutgers-Princeton clash would come one day short of the 69 years since the historic first intercollegiate game between the teams. It would fall also on Harman's 38th birthday.

Rutgers opened the season with four games on Neilson Field defeating Marietta (20-0) and Vermont (15-14) before losing to NYU (25-6) and then edging Springfield, 6-0. The first game in the new stadium was against Hampden-Sydney before an estimated crowd of 10,000. Rutgers took an early 7-0 lead on a Burt Hasbrouck two-yard run and Len Cooke added the extra point for the first scores in the stadium. The game's most exciting play came after the Scarlet took a 26-0 halftime lead. Art Gottlieb hit Moon Mullen on a short pass at the Rutgers 43-yard line and the senior end raced 57 yards for the game's final score. A Hampden-Sydney threat was turned away on a Gottlieb interception in the Scarlet end zone at the end of the third period and the final score was Rutgers 32, Hampden-Sydney 0.

On October 29, Rutgers traveled to Bethlehem and came home with a 13-0 victory over Lehigh. Meanwhile, Princeton would enter the Dedication game coming off a loss to Harvard which put the Tiger record at 3-2 to go against the 5-1 Rutgers mark.

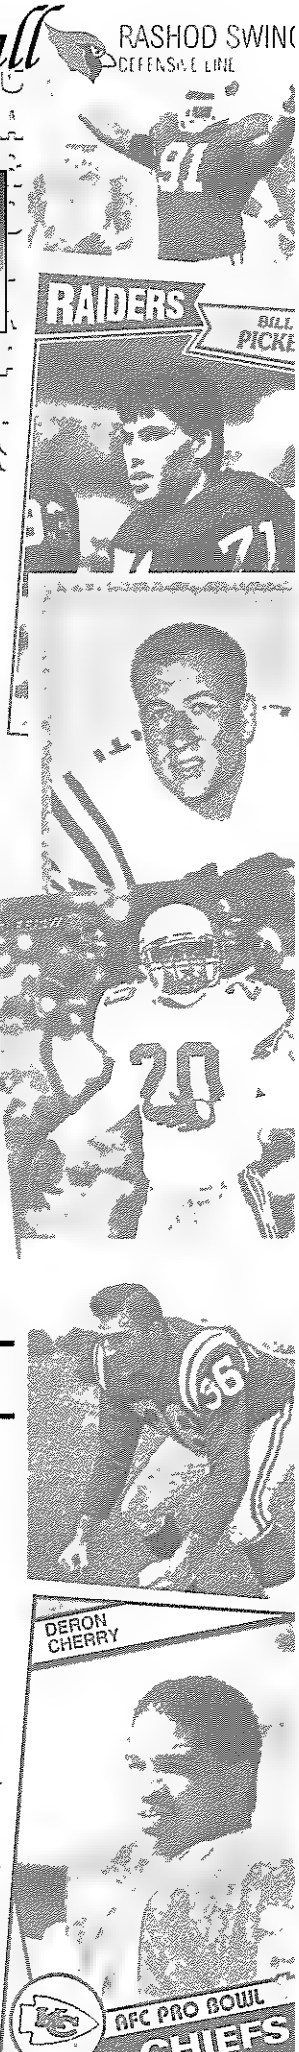

At halftime of the Dedication game, Judge George H. Lane, the sole Rutgers survivor of the first contest in 1869, would be honored. On a sad note, William Preston Lane, the only Princeton survivor of the first game, passed away that very morning.

"These Fine Enthusiasms"

At halftime also, President Clothier delivered a telling address that defined what he felt to be the athletic ideal. He looked both backward and into the future as he expressed the idea of athletics-for-all.

"For today we welcome our friends from Princeton again to New Brunswick as we did in 1869, and today we dedicate these new playing fields and this stadium..."

"We are happy in the possession of this new stadium and these surrounding playing fields which will do so much to strengthen our program of 'athletics-for-all'. We thank, with deep sincerity, every man who has planned and worked for it. We are proud of the simplicity and beauty of the stadium itself and its environment. As the years pass and trees and ivy grow, we trust that its present newness will yield to a mellow age which will in turn add to its charm."

"On these playing fields our students will compete in intramural sports. There is room for all...What the lecture hall and the laboratory are to the student in the academic and professional development, these playing fields will be in his development in health and physical vigor. This program of athletics for all will stress the enjoyment of the participant as well as his physical well-being; one goes with the other. Mens sana in corpe sano!

"The importance of athletics must be apparent to everyone who has an understanding of the love of physical activity and of competition in skill which is the heritage of our young American manhood, it is our responsibility to capture these fine enthusiasms, guide them into wholesome channels, and utilize them in the student's own educational development...

"We have said goodbye to Neilson Field with gratitude to the donor and with a touch of nostalgia, for great teams have represented the Scarlet there in years gone by and Rutgers athletic history was made there. But with a quick look back, we turn to face the future. We are happy in the possession of this new stadium...And always, we have faith, it will prove the theater of athletic competition which is amateur in spirit as well as in letter, in which emphasis will be placed on sportsmanship rather than on the statistics of victory and the welfare of the player esteemed above everything else."

Fittingly, he concluded his remarks with these words: "...Only one name will suffice to pay honor to all those whom honor is due.

"And so, on behalf of the people of the state of New Jersey and the Trustees, alumni and faculty of Rutgers University, I dedicate this, the RUTGERS STADIUM and these adjacent playing fields..."

The Dedication Game

First-half play, before a crowd of 22,500, had been as masterful as the words. But, in the halftime dressing room, the Scarlet squad, at an 18-13 deficit, wondered if the 69-year-old jinx would continue to hold. One writer's account of the game imagined that "Over them hung the most grotesque hoodoo in the history of football."

Princeton had opened the scoring after blocking a punt and recovering the ball at the Rutgers seven-yard line. Jack Daniel scored the game's first TD two plays later, but the extra point was partially blocked and the score read 6-0. Hope was revived for Rutgers when Art Gottlieb returned the ensuing kickoff to the Princeton 40 and then completed a pass to Parker Staples at the Tiger eight-yard line. Bill Tranavitch then tied the game with an off-tackle one-yard run. Len Cooke's placement gave the Scarlet the first-period lead. Princeton scored twice in the second period, on a recovered fumble in the end zone by Dick Purnell and on a short plunge by Stan Pearson following his own 40-yard pass completion. Both extra point tries were missed.

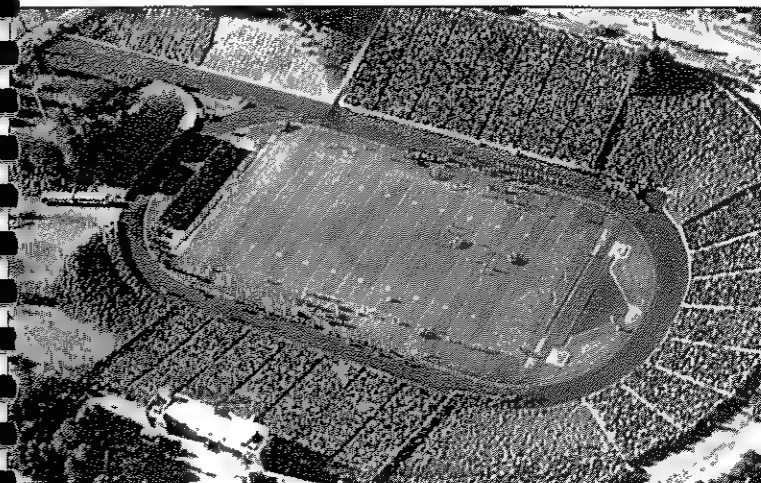

Down 18-7, Rutgers stormed back as Herm Greif, who had worked on the WPA crew three years before, replaced Gottlieb and quickly completed a pass to Joe Varju who was tackled at the Princeton one-yard line with just 59 seconds remaining in the half. After three passes, Greif ran for the score to bring the Scarlet to within five points at halftime.

The day deserved a storybook ending and that was to follow. Princeton penetrated to the Rutgers 15-yard line in the third period but the drive was stopped by the Scarlet. The game's golden moment came with five minutes remaining. Rutgers center Doug Hotchkiss recovered a Princeton fumble at the Tiger 12. But, in two plays, Rutgers had lost 10 yards. Gottlieb and Tranavitch combined on a nine-yard pass completion and, on fourth down, Gottlieb found Mullen at the goal line for the go-ahead score. The extra point by Walt Bruyere was good, Rutgers had taken a 20-18 lead.

The ensuing Princeton possession saw the Tigers take to the air, but Mullen shut down the drive at the Rutgers 30 with an interception. That left time for only a last line plunge and the game was over, the hex was gone. Rutgers had defeated Princeton for the first time in 69 years.

Harman, who was named among the nation's top coaches for the year by a coaches' poll, summed up the victory by telling his team that it "was the supreme moment of my life."

The Coaches

Under Harman, Rutgers would go 14-1-1 in its first two years including an undefeated string of 13 straight games, including a tie, before losing at Brown in 1939. He then tacked on seven consecutive stadium victories before entering the Navy in 1942, going 26-7-1 overall and 21-1-1 in the stadium.

Only six other coaches have taken the Scarlet into stadium battles. They combined to win 170 of the contests while losing just 60 and tying four. All had winning records in stadium games during their tenures and their teams produced a host of memorable moments.

When Harman entered the Navy, his place was taken by Harry Rockefeller, returning for a four-year period after having coached Rutgers between 1927 and 1930 and then later guiding the Rutgers lightweight football team to national prominence. "Rocky" posted an overall 14-10-1 record during the war years and was 8-5-1 in stadium games. Harman returned to

Associated Press writer George Bowen struggled to write an appropriate beginning for his newspaper and settled on "Ring the bells of Old Queens College, Paint the town as ne'er before," an obvious steal from 'Loyal Sons', the favorite postgame song. He agreed that the best composed by Dan Parker of the New York Mirror - "The Raritan flowed upstream yesterday for the first time in 69 years."

Though anticlimactic, Rutgers concluded its season by defeating Lafayette in the Stadium by a 6-0 score for a 7-1 record for the season, the best to date and the first of 13 undefeated seasons in the stadium.

John Stiegman succeeded Harman and between 1956 and 1959, had a 22-15 record with a 13-7 slate in Rutgers Stadium. He was followed by John Bateman, who would give Rutgers its first undefeated season in 1961.

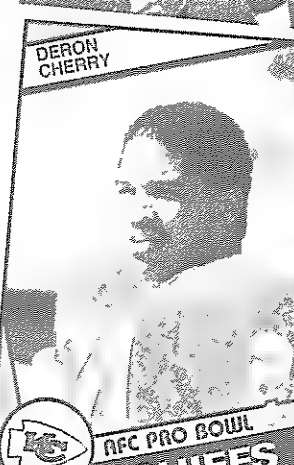

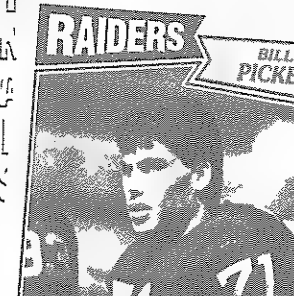

Bateman came on board in 1960 and posted a 17-1 record in his first two years with seven of the victories (and the lone defeat) coming in the stadium. During his 13 year tenure, Bateman's squad were 73-51 overall and 44-18 in the stadium. Seven of his teams lost just once on the home grounds and three, the 1968, 1969 and 1972 squads, won five times before the home crowd.

Frank Burns, who quarterbacked Rockefeller's final squad and three of Harman's teams between 1945 and 1948, and who led the Scarlet to a 27-6 record, succeeded Bateman in 1973. His 11-year overall mark of 78-43 made him the winningest coach in Scarlet history and his 36-10 record in stadium games included 20 straight victories between 1974 and 1978. The winning streak included three consecutive unbeaten years with seven victories in 1975 and four each in 1976 and 1977. Burns' 1976 squad gave Rutgers its second undefeated season, going 11-0 and finishing with a 17th-place national ranking.

Dick Anderson took the helm in 1984 and in six seasons won nine of 15 games in Rutgers Stadium with one stalemate. His overall mark was 27-34. During his tenure, Rutgers football facilities underwent a large-scale upgrading with the addition of new practice fields (including AstroTurf), the indoor practice facility commonly known as the "Bubble" and the Hale Center, which incorporates the entire football operation. The Hale Center is named for contributing alumnus Dick Hale, whose father W. Robert Hale, was a member of the Middlesex County Board of Chosen Freeholders that worked closely with the construction of the original Rutgers Stadium in 1938.

Terry Shea and his staff are looking toward carving their own winning niche at Rutgers Stadium as they embark on a new era of Scarlet Knight football.

Stadium Sensations

The 1938 Dedication game was certainly of storybook stature, but there have been many more that rival that first contest.

None more so, perhaps, than that on another Princeton visit. Never has there been such preparation for a game in Rutgers Stadium that there was for the Centennial contest in 1969. All the elements of great sports drama were there - proclamations were issued; a special commemorative stamp was issued; a re-enactment of the first game drew 10,000 fans; pennants from some 350 football-playing colleges waved above the stands; an unscheduled protest march by Afro-Americans; introductions of celebrities, including the oldest living Rutgers football captain, William VB Van Dyck and Master of Ceremonies, Ozzie Nelson; the coin toss, or rather the three coin tosses, first with a 1869 silver dollar and then with a pair of Centennial medallions.

The game would be the first Rutgers home football contest ever televised as Chris Schenkel and Bud Wilkinson manned the ABC booth.

The Centennial Game

A crowd of 31,000 was on hand for the game, the largest in Scarlet history to that point, and later eclipsed only by the 31,219 for the Rutgers-Temple game in 1988, a Homecoming affair.

Princeton provided the game's opening salvo as Robinson Bordley returned the kickoff 63 yards to the Scarlet 24-yard line. Rutgers successfully repulsed the attack. Both teams missed field goal tries, but, after an interference call at midfield, Rutgers took a 7-0 lead on Rich Policastro's rollout and Chris Stewart's PAT near the end of the first period. The Scarlet upped the lead to 21-0 by halftime on a Bruce Van Ness TD and Bob Stonebraker's reception from Policastro.

Rutgers scored again on a 27-yard Mike Yanceff-to-Joe Barone pass, and, because the goal posts had already been dismantled, the Scarlet scored on a two-point conversion by Yanceff. The 29 points were the highest ever recorded by a Rutgers team against Princeton. The victory was Rutgers 10th in the 60-game series. The teams would go into their second centuries, once again having made football history.

Other stadium games cry out for attention, of course.

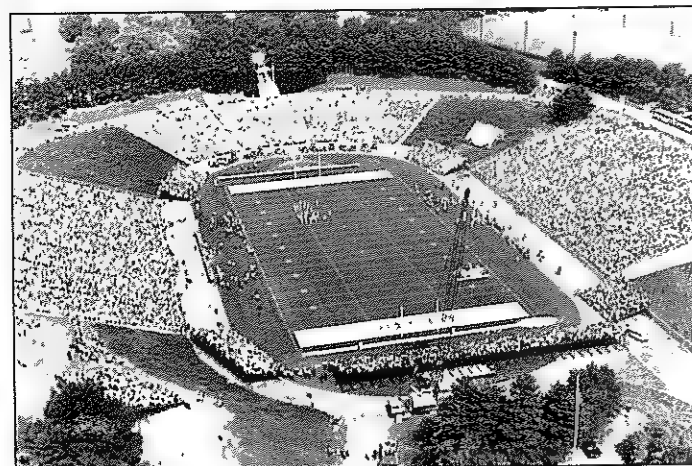

One certainly worthy of recollection is the finale of the 1961 season, the victory that preserved the first undefeated campaign. After eight straight victories, the Scarlet hosted a twice-beaten Columbia team in the season finale before 25,000 in Rutgers Stadium. The Lions had spoiled the perfect season bid in 1947 and, leading 19-7 on a field goal, a deflected pass and an interception return, appeared ready to repeat that role. But, as football historian Larry Pitt wrote, "Then came 12 minutes of the most explosive and thrilling football the Stadium has ever seen."

Stadium.

At the start of the fourth period, Dave Brody's 58-yard kickoff return set up a Bill Speranza-to-Lee Curley TD. Moments later, Pierce Frauenheim intercepted a Lion pass and the Scarlet scored on the last of six line bursts to make it a 19-19 game.

Rutgers then went 60 yards in 10 plays with Steve Simms scoring from three yards out with 3:32 remaining. Frauenheim then raced into the end zone with an interception for the 32-19 triumph and the first unblemished season in Scarlet football history. Coach Bateman received Coach of the Year honors from the Washington D.C. Touchdown Club and center Alex Kroll became the fourth Rutgers first-team All American.

The final game at the "old" Rutgers stadium offered fans everything that a football contest can possibly deliver - a Rutgers record for points in a game; passing, receiving and interception records; well over 1,000 total yards; and another storybook ending - on Halloween, no less.

Though it would have been highly appropriate for the Virginia Tech game to close out play in the old Rutgers Stadium, that came two weeks later when West Virginia entered for a BIG EAST contest. Devoid of the TD onslaught of the earlier game, it was not without its thrills particularly a late defensive stand following a blocked punt which gave the Mountaineers the ball at the Rutgers 15 with 2:47 remaining.

The 13-9 Scarlet lead, gained on a Ray Lucas-to-Jim Guarantano pass and a pair of John Benestad field goals, seemed in certain jeopardy. But, Rutgers stopped two running attempts and successfully defended a third-down pass. A fourth-down pass completion gained just two yards and the Scarlet held on for a victory.

In celebration, the Scarlet Knights revealed T-shirts that held the message - "ouR hoUse, Nov. 14, 1992." Trivia experts may want to reread the above for the answer to a future question about the stadium's final TD, just as they will recall the first by Bert Hasbrouck against Hampden-Sydney.

Less than six months after the win over West Virginia, ground was broken for the new stadium.

In late June of 1994, Doug Graber again led writers on a tour of the stadium. As the last sod was being laid, Graber, peering out from the back row of the stands and trying to locate the New York skyline off to the north, put this cap on the construction. "It's like going from black and white to color television."

And so, the new Stadium story begins. It promises to be colorful.

interception records; well over 1,000 total yards; and, another storybook ending -- on Halloween, no less.

The visiting Hokies led throughout the game until Chris Brantley caught his fourth TD pass as time ran out to give the Scarlet a 50-49 Homecoming victory. Brantley's scores came on passes of 26, 22 and 15 yards from Bryan Fortay and on a three-yard toss from Ray Lucas. Fortay added a seven-yard TD pass to Lance Evina to tie the record for touchdown passes, while also tying the record of 15 for a season. His 338 passing yards also established a stadium record.

Malik Jackson's three interceptions was also a record-tying effort. Rutgers amassed 606 total yards and Virginia Tech 558.

Rutgers has a 20-28 record in this magnificent structure which seats 76,000. In 1994, Rutgers topped Army in a 16-14 contest. Quarterback Rob Higgins, stepping in for the injured Ray Lucas, tossed a pair of touchdown passes as Rutgers posted a come-from-behind win.

In 1993, Giants Stadium - because of expansion at Rutgers Stadium on campus - was Rutgers' "home away from home." Rutgers posted a 3-3 record that season at the Meadowlands, posting wins over Colgate, Duke and Temple, while dropping contests to Boston College, Pittsburgh and Syracuse.

In 1992, the Knights lost to Penn State and toppled Army. In 1991, Rutgers split games with Army and Syracuse, defeating the Cadets, 14-12, and losing to the Orangemen, 21-7.

In 1990, Rutgers defeated Kentucky (24-8) and lost to Michigan State (34-10) and to West Virginia (28-3). In 1989, Rutgers defeated Boston College (9-7) and lost to Penn State (17-0).

In 1988, the Scarlet Knights lost to Vanderbilt (31-30), Army (34-24) and West Virginia (35-25). In 1987, Rutgers defeated Kentucky (19-18), and Duke (7-0) in back-to-back games and lost later to Pittsburgh (17-0).

Seventeen different opponents have been entertained by the Scarlet in East Rutherford. Army and Rutgers have met eight times and West Virginia has been a visitor five times. Penn State made its sixth appearance against Rutgers in 1995 and Boston College has made four appearances. Pittsburgh and Syracuse have met Rutgers squads three times each and Columbia has visited Giants Stadium on two occasions.

The Scarlet Knights have recorded seven shutouts in the 20 victories. The shutouts have come over Columbia in 1976 (47-0), Princeton in 1978 (24-0), Columbia in 1978 (69-0), Army in 1979 (20-0), Virginia in 1981 (3-0), Duke in 1987 (7-0) and Temple in 1993 (62-0). Rutgers has been shutout three times, by a 7-0 margin to Tennessee in 1983 and by 17-0 counts by West Virginia in 1987 and by Penn State in 1989.

Prior to the Garden State Bowl, there had been only a few attempts to stage a post-season bowl game in the Northeast because of unpredictable weather conditions in mid- or late-December. The Liberty Bowl was started in 1960 in Philadelphia and was staged there through 1964, then moved indoors in Atlantic City in 1965 before going to warmer climates in Memphis, Tenn., in 1966. The Gotham Bowl was held in the Polo Grounds in 1961, with Baylor defeating Utah State, 24-9, and, in its second try in 1962 in Yankee Stadium, Nebraska defeated Miami, 36-34, reportedly in 17-degree weather.

But, on Dec. 16, 1978, the thermometer in Giants Stadium read an unseasonable 40 degrees. And, despite the pre-game hope by the Rutgers squad that it would be much colder as it entertained an Arizona State team accustomed to playing in warm weather, Rutgers was hot at the start.

A two- or three-touchdown underdog to the 8-3 Sun Devils (who had defeated rival Arizona in the regular season finale and also owned a victory over the otherwise undefeated Southern Cal), Rutgers gained possession after an Arizona State punt at its own 32 and moved to the Sun Devil 47 in four plays. David Dorn then went off his right tackle, reversed his field and raced the distance down the left side for the game's first score. Kennan Startzell's extra point made it a 7-0 ball game early and the visitors were shocked further when Ed Steward recovered a fumble and Startzell booted his longest-ever field goal to that point in his career. The 46-yarder gave the Scarlet a 10-0 lead.

On the next Arizona State possession, Bob Hynoski intercepted a Mark Malone pass and raced 36 yards to the Sun Devil four-yard line. The count might have gone to 17-0 but Dorn fumbled at the two and the visitors took over.

Unable to add to the lead, Rutgers gave up the ball at the Scarlet 44 with 1:53 remaining in the half and the Sun Devils got on the scoreboard when Malone hit Bob Weathers in the end zone from the 14. A play earlier, Malone was trapped on a fourth and 10 play but shook loose to connect for a first down. Instead of 17-0 or 10-0, it was a 10-7 game at the half.

Malone tossed 26 and 47-yard touchdowns in the third period to MVP John Mistler and Chris DeFrance to give Arizona State a 21-10 lead in the third period and ran in from the one early in the final frame for a 28-10 lead.

DEFENSIVE LINE

Lethargic for a period and a half, Rutgers rebounded with 5:49 left in the game when Ted Blackwell scored on a five-yard run and then caught a two-point conversion pass from Ed McMichael.

"They were on their way to a nice, neat orderly finish," wrote syndicated columnist Jerry Izenberg. "And then, Kennan Startzell kicked the ball.

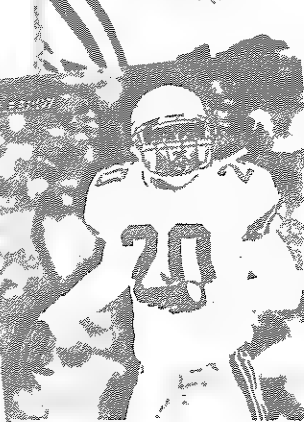

"Mechanically, it was the perfect squibbler. It had been done on a million football fields and when it works the kicking team recovers. The ball bounced off of Arizona State's Morris Williams...it bounced off of Rutgers' Mark Freeman...it skidded under the belly of Arizona State's Henry Pollard and came to rest underneath Rutgers' Craig Nielsen - in the Arizona State endzone. This is not unlike bunting for a home run.

"One official signalled touchdown - six points for Rutgers. A second apparently signalled touchback - Arizona's ball on its own 20. A third signalled toward the heavens with outstretched hands, which according to the annotated NCAA Hymnal and Prayer Book means: Why me, O Lord?

"But, back upfield lay a yellow flag. Rutgers was said to have been offside on the kickoff and that ruling held. Instead of a 28-24 count and a possible 28-26 ballgame, the score reverted to 28-18 with 4:44 to go. In the game's final minute, Malone scored on a four-yard run for the closing 34-18 scoreboard count.

The weather had cooperated, the 33,402 fans had had their fill, the ball had nearly bounced in Rutgers' favor and it was a devil of a day. The Garden State Bowl would continue for three more years and would give way to the current post-season classic format.

All-Time Greatest Games

Over the past 130 years, Rutgers has been involved in more than 1,000 football games. To determine the 10 greatest games is a subjective and perhaps unfair task. The members of the Office of Sports Media Relations put their collective heads together and came up with the following selections.

Among the other games considered were: Rutgers 20, Princeton 18: Nov. 5, 1938 (dedication of Rutgers Stadium); Rutgers 22, Columbia 19: 1961 (the game which clinched RU's first unbeaten season); Rutgers 20, Boston College 13: 1991 (first BIG EAST football game); Rutgers 21, Pittsburgh 16, Sept. 17: 1992 (the first night game and ESPN telecast from Rutgers Stadium); Rutgers 17, West Virginia 12: Sept. 10, 1994 (dedication of the "new" Rutgers Stadium).

There are countless other games from various eras which are worthy of mention. Any suggestions are welcome and encouraged. Please call John Beisser, Assistant Director of Sports Media Relations, at (732) 445-4200.

November 6, 1869
1 - Rutgers 6, Princeton 4
New Brunswick, N.J.

As the first college football game ever played, this contest gets the nod as the No. 1 game of all time on the basis of its historical significance. The game bore little resemblance to its modern counterpart. The teams were comprised of 25 members each and the game was contested under rugby-like rules. Princeton had more muscle but Rutgers executed better throughout. In an account in the school newspaper, The Daily Targum, it was written that "Rutgers' great point was its organization, for which great praise is due to the captain (William J. Leggett). The right men were always in the right place." After this day, college football was here to stay. Rutgers got Columbia University started in the grid sport the following season and in a few years most of the East's colleges and universities were represented on the gridiron.

November 3, 1979
Neyland Stadium, Knoxville, Tenn.

Rutgers has posted its share of monumental upsets in its long and proud tradition, but this one ranks right at the top. Ranked 17th in the nation, the overwhelmingly-favored Volunteers were expected to make short work of Rutgers on Homecoming Day. Knoxville Journal sports editor, Ben Byrd, in his game day column, repeatedly asked the question "what are Rutgers?" A few hours later, Byrd, along with the 84,265 fans on hand, had their answer. Quarterback Ed McMichael was nothing short of brilliant. On this day, the slender and crafty signal-caller had his cannon-like right arm primed and ready for action. His pinpoint accuracy was uncanny as he connected on 11-of-12 passes for 174 yards. McMichael hit David Dorn on a 37-yard touchdown toss with five seconds left in the first half to forge a 7-7 tie. Middle guard Ed Steward, who would come up with a huge second quarter interception, led a spirited Scarlet defense. A pair of Kennan Startzell field goals (43 and 32 yards) in the third quarter proved the difference. Head coach Frank Burns called it the greatest win of his coaching career.

3 - Rutgers 50, Virginia Tech 49
Rutgers Stadium, Piscataway, N.J.

This is one Rutgers fans will talk about for all eternity while Hokie fans still try to put it behind them. The first lead Rutgers ever had in the game came as time expired. More on that later. At one point in the first quarter, the Knights trailed 28-7. The Homecoming Day fans at Rutgers Stadium had no idea at this point what was in store. Behind the passing of Bryan Fortay (24-of-45, 338 yards, four touchdowns) and the running of Craig Mitter (17 carries, 148 yards), Rutgers stormed back. Trailing 49-44 with just 1:32 left in the game, the Scarlet moved to the Hokie 15-yard line on the strength of five Fortay completions. With five seconds remaining, Fortay hit wide receiver Chris Brantley (8 catches, 24 yards) in the back right corner of the end zone and pandemonium broke out. The teams combined for 1,164 yards and 99 points. Every fan in the stadium that day knew they had witnessed something very special.

September 24, 1988
4 - Rutgers 21, Penn State 16
Beaver Stadium, University Park, Pa.

On this day, Rutgers finally slayed the giant. Fans listening to radios up and down College Avenue let out a huge roar when Penn State quarterback Tony Sacca's fourth-down pass into the end zone fell harmlessly incomplete. A pair of third-quarter touchdown runs by Mike Botti and a heroic goal-line stand in the final seconds gave Rutgers its first win over Penn State in 70 years. The Lions had won 15 straight games in the series. Rutgers took a 14-10 lead on a third quarter 11-yard scamper by Botti. With 4:30 left in the period, Botti raced 57 yards for a touchdown which staked Rutgers to a 21-10 lead. Penn State cut the deficit to five with a fourth quarter score. The Lions took over with just over three minutes to go. At the 53-second mark, Penn State had a first-and-10 at the Scarlet three-yard line. The Rutgers defense then held off two running plays and then successfully defended two passes, taking over on downs with just 12 seconds to play. Botti finished with 112 yards on 18 carries. Quarterback Scott Erney completed nine passes, including a 38-yard touchdown strike to Eric Young.

October 11, 1980
Giants Stadium, East Rutherford, N.J.

Rutgers, led by future NFL defensive stalwarts Deron Cherry and Dino Mangiero, played its heart out against the No. 1-ranked team in the nation before coming up a tad short. Don Jacobs fired consecutive passes of 23 and 49 yards to James Mallard, the latter producing a third quarter touchdown, as 'Bama survived a major scare en route to its 26th straight victory. Jacobs' strike to Mallard gave the Tide a 17-6 lead. A crowd of 58,107 watched on in near disbelief as Rutgers middle guard Ed Steward recovered an Alabama fumble on the Crimson Tide 26 late in the third quarter. Rutgers converted the turnover into a touchdown two plays later when McMichael tossed a nine-yard pass to Albert Ray. Trailing by four points with less than eight minutes to play, Rutgers' Ken Smith returned a punt 41 yards to the 'Bama 33, but defensive back Ricky Clements blitzed McMichael for a 13-yard loss on third down to end the threat. Afterwards, Alabama coach Paul "Bear" Bryant graciously said, "We didn't beat Rutgers, that's for sure. All I can say is we won."

November 18, 1976
6 - Rutgers 17, Colgate 9
Giants Stadium, East Rutherford, N.J.
Thanksgiving Night, 1976. Every long-time Rutgers football fan will remember where they were on that fateful evening. The Scarlet Knights took a 10-0 record into the Colgate game, 15 years to the date that Rutgers had first put together a perfect season on the gridiron. With Rutgers leading, 17-9, following Mark Lassiter's five-yard touchdown run with just 1:12 remaining, Colgate moved from its own 33 to the Scarlet eight in eight quick plays. On second-and-10, Red Raider quarterback Bob Relph passed into the end zone with one second showing on the clock. It is believed that large numbers of Rutgers fans, of the 33,405 assembled on that chilly evening, missed the play because of closed eyes and impassioned prayer. Many more television viewers watching the game on ABC probably also missed the play. What they missed in the season's final second was Scarlet cornerback Don Harris going high to knock down the pass in front of the goal post and thus averting a possible tie (with the two-point try). Rutgers had its second undefeated season in 108 years of football. Giants Stadium rang out with bells, courtesy of the huge message board which pictured the famed tolling bells of Old Queens. Bedlam broke loose.

September 27, 1969
Rutgers Stadium, Piscataway, N.J.

The ABC-TV cameras made their way to the Rutgers campus for the very first time. The cameras, along with an overflow crowd of 31,000, were on hand for the game which celebrated the centennial of college football. It was the most lopsided Rutgers win in the 60 games played between the teams and was accomplished via great defense (Princeton's new Wing-T got only two first downs in the first half) and Rich Policastro's accurate right arm. Policastro hit 12 of his first 14 passes and Rutgers led, 21-0, at halftime. Policastro scored first on a rollout, Bruce Van Ness scored on a plunge and Policastro passed to Bob Stonebraker to complete the first half scoring. The game's other touchdown was on a pass from Mike Yanceff to Joe Barone. As was the case 100 years earlier, the northern rival hard by the Raritan River, came up victorious.

December 6, 1978, Garden State Bowl
8 - Arizona State 34, Rutgers 18
Giants Stadium, E. Rutherford, N.J.

The thermometer in Giants Stadium read an unseasonable 40 degrees for Rutgers' first bowl game appearance. And, despite the pre-game hope by the Rutgers squad that it would be much colder as it entertained an Arizona State team accustomed to playing in warm weather, Rutgers was hot at the start. A two- to three-touchdown underdog to the 8-3 Sun Devils (winners over Arizona and USC). Rutgers clung to a 10-7 halftime lead following a well-played first half. The Sun Devils, behind the passing combination of quarterback Mark Malone and wide receiver John Mistler, a pair of future NFL players, opened a commanding 28-10 fourth quarter lead. Rutgers rebounded with 5:49 left in the game when Ted Blackwell scored on a five-yard run and then caught a two-point conversion pass from quarterback Ed McMichael, who had replaced starting signal-caller Bob Hering. The ensuing Rutgers onsidies kick somehow found its way into the ASU end zone. Rutgers thought it had recovered it for a touchdown, which would have sliced the deficit to 28-23. Following a long conference by the officials, it was ruled that Rutgers was offside on the play. No touchdown, no comeback prayer. The Devils then punched in the final score to make it 34-18.

September 10, 1988
9 - Rutgers 17, Michigan State 13
Spartan Stadium, East Lansing, Mich.

Opening day, 1988. Rutgers caught a break when it was learned before the game that Tony Mandarich, the Spartans' Goliath-sized All-American offensive tackle was unavailable. At game time, the Scarlet Knights started making their own breaks. There were heroes galore in the road victory over the Rose Bowl champion and 15th-ranked Spartans. Quarterback Scott Erney was sharp, hitting on 25-of-36 passes for 239 yards. He found flanker Eric Young on a 61-yard score in the second quarter and came back with an 18-yard touchdown strike to split end Brett Mersola off a deflection. Young caught nine passes for 124 yards. Carmen Scalfani rounded out the day's scoring for RU with a 39-yard second quarter field goal. Spartan quarterback Bobby McAllister tallied the lone MSU touchdown on the day on a third-quarter one-yard keeper. Clinging to a four-point lead, the tired Rutgers defense was on the verge of bucking when linebacker Doug Kokoskie recovered a Blake Ezor fumble. The Scarlet offense ran out the clock. Eight years earlier, Rutgers shocked Tennessee of the SEC. On this day, the Big Ten learned a little more about Rutgers football.

September 14, 1985
10 - Rutgers 28, Florida 28
Florida Field, Gainesville, Fla.

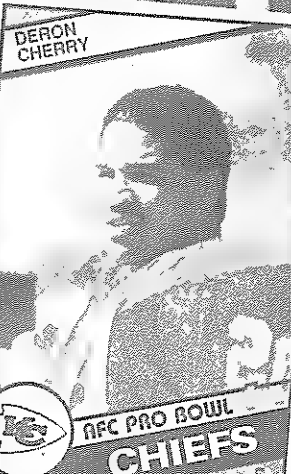

The odds would have been stacked against the Scarlet Knights if one simply considered the stifling heat coming off the astroturf and the more than 71,000 rabid, orange-clad 'Gator fans. Throw in the fact that Rutgers was facing the No. 2-ranked team in the nation, well, let's just say the odds were stacked. Rutgers jumped out to a 7-0 lead on a one-yard first quarter run by Albert Smith. Florida, behind All-American quarterback Kerwin Bell, then reeled off the next 21 points to go up by 14 at the half. The 'Gators opened the lead to 28-7 in the third quarter. With the game seemingly in hand, Florida coach Galen Hall took Bell out of the game. Rutgers sprung into action at this point. Defensive end Todd McIver returned an interception 48 yards for a touchdown - Florida 28-Rutgers 14. Rutgers came up with a big defensive series which led to a one-yard Smith touchdown - Florida 28-Rutgers 20. Amidst the nervous grumblings in the stands, quarterback Bell was rushed back into the game but Rutgers had already regained all of the momentum. Rutgers got the ball back again and quarterback Joe Gagliardi found tight end Bruce Campbell over the middle for a 16-yard score with just 35 seconds to play - Florida 28, Rutgers 26. "Gags" then hit full-back Curtis Stephens for the two-point conversion with 35 seconds left - Florida 28, Rutgers 28! Rutgers, incredibly, then had a great chance to recover the ensuing squibbed kickoff deep in Florida territory which would have set up the potential game-winning field goal. But the 'Gators somehow managed to corral the bouncing ball. A host of Rutgers fans toasted the Knights' gallant effort as the players departed the plane back at Newark Airport.

MEDIA INFORMATION/TRAVEL ITINERARY

CREDENTIALS - All members of the media covering a game in a working capacity must seek appropriate credentials in advance from the Office of Sports Media Relations for all home games. We would appreciate receiving these requests as early as possible. Requests for working space in press box and photo passes for the sidelines will be honored from sports editors of daily and weekly newspapers and sports directors of television stations only. Requests for working credentials must be made in advance in writing on company letterhead to Sports Media Relations. Working media only will be admitted and the code of conduct of the Football Writers' Association of America is strictly enforced.

PARKING - Parking is located next to the Bubble, across the street from Rutgers Stadium. You should request your parking at the same time you request your game credential. If time permits, both will be mailed to you. There is no day-of-game media parking list and therefore members of the media must have a media parking credential in advance of the game or make arrangements with the Office of Sports Media Relations.

PRESS BOX SERVICES - Complete NCAA statistics, play-by-play, and quote sheets from both teams are all regular services on game day. Upon your arrival, you will receive a press folder with game program, flip card, updated stats and game day notes.

POST-GAME INTERVIEWS - Coach and players, following a 10-minute cooling-off period, will be made available after each game to members of the media in an interview room. (Room 224 of Hale Center at Rutgers Stadium). A member of the Sports Media Relations Department will take the names of those players requested for interviews by the media during the fourth quarter. Members of the media will be escorted to the interview room by a member of the Office Sports Media Relations with approximately two minutes remaining in the game.

PHONES - A limited number of phones are available in the press box at Rutgers Stadium. The phones are all operator-assisted phones. Only credit card, collect calls, or third-party billing calls can be made. Should you wish to install a phone at Rutgers Stadium, contact New Jersey Bell at 1-800-564-9911 or 9922.

PLAYER INTERVIEWS - All player interviews must be arranged through Sports Media Relations at least one day in advance. Players are available in person on Tuesdays and Wednesdays (Please consult with Sports Media Relations regarding player availability). Player availability at other times will vary from week to week. A time mutually convenient for the player and the member of the media can be set up by the Office of Sports Media Relations. Please contact Sports Media Relations and we will make every effort to accommodate your requests. There will be no player interviews on Fridays.

TERRY SHEA INTERVIEWS - All interview requests must be arranged through Sports Media Relations. Coach Shea will be available to the media every Monday on the BIG EAST coaches conference call, Tuesday at the Rutgers Stadium press box, Wednesday following practice at the Hale Center, and on a Sunday conference call following each game that begins at approximately 6:30 pm. To be on the conference call, please contact the Sports Media Relations Office.

PRACTICE - Select practices during the season are open to the media. All practice sessions in August are open as well. If you wish to attend a practice session, please contact Sports Media Relations. Photographers taking pictures or video at practices must get clearance through Sports Media Relations.

HIGHLIGHTS - Highlights of all Rutgers home games and selected road games will be made available to the networks at ABC, CBS, and NBC. The newsfeeds are designated News One (ABC), Newsfeed (CBS), and A-News (NBC). Each network will make two minutes of highlights available to all affiliates. Call the Office of Sports Media Relations at Rutgers, (732) 445-4200, for further information.

SPORTS MEDIA RELATIONS

The Office of Sports Media Relations and Information at Rutgers University, under the direction of John Wooding, is responsible for the day-to-day publicity of 30 Division I sports. The primary function of the Rutgers Sports Media Relations Staff is to service and accommodate the media in its coverage of the entire Athletic Department of the State University.

The Sports Media Relations office, located in the Louis Brown Athletic Center, handles a myriad of press services, including, but not limited to, the issuing of credentials, the publication of media guides, game programs, posters, yearbooks, and the production of game day notes, statistics and website content.

Members of the Office of Sports Media Relations will assist you with any day-of-game need, including player and coach information, in-game statistics and post-game quotes and notes.

Journalists and media covering Rutgers Athletics benefit from working in a professional and comfortable environment, recently enhanced by a major remodeling of the Media and Interview areas in the RAC. The expansive Press Box at Rutgers Football Stadium, which has the ability to house close to 200 print and electronic media members, is one of the most modern and media-friendly facilities in the nation.

Members of the Sports Media Relations Staff are on call virtually every day of the year, 'round the clock, in an effort to enhance the coverage of Rutgers Athletics.

THE OFFICIAL WEBSITE OF RUTGERS ATHLETICS

<http://www.scarletknights.com>

Rutgers opens the 2000 season with a new address! Check out the new Rutgers Athletics Website, www.scarletknights.com, which will launch in conjunction with the 2000 Football season.

Already regarded as one of the best collegiate athletics websites in the nation, the Rutgers Athletics Website includes up-to-the-minute results, live in-game stats and enhanced digital images - all to help keep fans on the cutting edge of Rutgers Athletics.

Follow Rutgers Football on the internet via "REAL AUDIO"

Rutgers fans can also listen to the radio broadcast of all Scarlet Knight football and men's basketball games on the internet. Listeners must have a 486/50 MHz processor (or Macintosh equivalent). The faster the processor, the better the sound quality. Listeners must also install REAL AUDIO as a plug-in to Netscape Navigator or Microsoft Internet Explorer. Click on the link on our website to listen to all the Scarlet Knight action in 2000! Setup tools can be found on the AudioNet Home Page, located at:

RUTGERS ON THE AIR

BRUCE JOHNSON
Bruce Johnson has been the "Voice" of Rutgers football and basketball since 1985. The News and Sports Director at WCTC in New Brunswick, the flagship station of Rutgers athletics, Johnson was the 1990 winner of the New Jersey Associated Press "Best Radio Play-by-Play Award." His distinctive delivery and knowledge of sports has made him a popular sports figure in central New Jersey. Johnson serves as host of "The Terry Shea Show," which is carried on Wednesdays at 7:00 pm during the football season. The show, which originates on WCTC, will also be heard on several stations yet to be announced. Once again Johnson's voice can be heard in a 12-state region along the eastern seaboard as all Rutgers games will be aired on WOR Radio in New York. A 1975 graduate of Ohio University, Johnson and his wife Patty reside in East Brunswick with their sons Brent (16) and Brian (14).

"RUTGERS FOOTBALL WEEKLY WITH TERRY SHEA"
Veteran sports announcer Bruce Beck is the host of Terry Shea's weekly, 30-minute television show which will be aired on MSG and Comcast. The show features highlights, interviews, a review of the previous week's game and a preview of the upcoming opponent. On MSG, the show will appear at 11:30 pm on Thursday night and Saturday morning at 11:00 am. The show will appear on Comcast on Friday evenings and Saturday mornings. Check local listings for exact times each week.

BOB HERING
Bob Hering begins his second full season as the color analyst for Scarlet Knight football after working six games behind the microphone in 1998 and all 11 games in 1999. A 1979 Rutgers graduate, Hering was the starting quarterback for the Scarlet Knights in 1978, passing for more than 1,110 yards in leading the Scarlet Knights to a 9-3 record and an appearance in the Garden State Bowl at Giants Stadium. Hering currently serves as President of the Rutgers Football Letterwinners Association. His father Herm was a star halfback for Rutgers in the late 1940's and is a member of the Rutgers Football Hall of Fame. Hering is a Managing Director for Whitehall Asset Management in New York City. A resident of Watchung, Hering and his wife Colleen have two children, Will (8) and Caitlin (6).

All Rutgers football games will be broadcast over the Rutgers Radio Network to a 12-state area along the eastern seaboard by WOR 710 AM, and locally by WCTC 1450 AM in New Brunswick, the flagship station of RU sports.

Terry Shea will be a guest each Wednesday on WOR 710 AM at 7:40 am as part of the popular "Rambling With Gambling" show.

STADIUM INFORMATION

2000 TICKET POLICIES

1. Seating and parking for all games (home, away, and post-season) will be based on Season Ticket and Scarlet R point system (points are attained from contributions, years as a season ticket holder, Alumni Association membership, season tickets held in sports other than football, and President's Club membership). Sections 105 & 126, stipulate a 250 point minimum; seating in sections 104, 106, 125, and 127 stipulate 100 points. Call the Rutgers Ticket Office or Scarlet R for more information on the point system
2. Individuals wishing to sit together must submit their orders together. All seats will be assigned according to the lowest priority in the group.
3. Seating for single games WILL NOT BE ADJACENT to season ticket locations.
4. Away game tickets ordered in advance will be mailed separately, approximately three weeks prior to game.
5. If tickets are not received two days prior to the game, please call the Ticket Office at (732) 445-2766.
6. Rutgers is not responsible for lost or stolen tickets or parking passes. NO REFUNDS OR EXCHANGES.
7. Full remittance including handling must accompany all applications.
8. For special handicapped seating/parking, please call the ticket office before placing orders.
9. Tickets subject to availability.
10. Children 24 months (2 years) and older must have a ticket to the game.

1. All information subject to change.
2. The maximum resale premium, in accordance with New Jersey State Law, is 20 percent of the ticket price or $3.00, whichever is greater.

STADIUM PARKING

1. ALL STADIUM PARKING MUST BE PURCHASED IN ADVANCE.
2. SEASON PARKING: $30.00 (includes all six home games) for season ticket holders only.
3. SINGLE GAME PARKING: $5.00. Game-by-game parking may be purchased in advance. Parking passes are not sold without ticket purchases. Day of game parking is only available in the Athletic Center lots.
4. Fans wishing to park together must enter the lots at the same time as a group, with each vehicle displaying a matching parking pass for that area.
5. Handicapped ID, registration, or placard must be present in order to request handicapped parking. Designated spots are in the Scarlet and Yellow lots for season ticket holders only, and in the Athletic Center and Physics lots for single game ticket holders. Proper identification must be displayed to park in those areas.
6. Parking for box trucks in Purple or Athletic Center lots only.

STADIUM OPERATIONS COMMENTS

The Rutgers University Division of Intercollegiate Athletics is committed to providing maximum service and to making your visit to Rutgers Stadium an enjoyable experience. We are grateful for the letters of appreciation recognizing the courtesy of our staff. If you have any suggestions, comments or questions, please forward them to: Stadium Manager, 83 Rockefeller Road, Piscataway, N.J. 08854-8053.

TAILGATE POLICIES

1. Parking lots are open three (3) hours prior to kickoff and close at dusk. Parking spaces are limited and tailgating must be confined to a small area around your vehicle. For fans wishing to park together, all vehicles must enter lots at the same time, displaying matching parking passes. For reasons of crowd safety, stadium lot parking will be reserved for those attending the game. If you do not attend the game, you will be asked to leave the stadium parking area at kick-off time.
2. University regulation and state statutes on drug and alcohol consumption will be strictly enforced. Kegs, beer balls, and tents are prohibited.
3. For safety purposes, charcoal should be discarded in specially marked barrels located throughout the parking lots. Please put all trash in proper receptacles. PLEASE REMEMBER THAT THE GRASS FIELDS ARE USED DAILY BY RUTGERS STUDENTS FOR COMPETITION AND RECREATION.

TICKET POLICIES AND INFORMATION

Ticket Policies — Everyone two years of age or older must have a ticket to enter the stadium. The ticket holder is restricted to the section, row and seat indicated on the ticket. Persons leaving their seats during the game or between halves may be required to show their ticket stubs to the usher before they are readmitted to their section.

All sales are final. Tickets will not be refunded or replaced if lost, misplaced, stolen, mutilated or destroyed. The Rutgers Division of Intercollegiate Athletics reserves the right to revoke tickets by refund of the purchase price.

Advance Tickets — Advance tickets are available at the Rutgers Athletic Center Ticket Office weekdays 8:00 am to 5:00 pm. They may also be purchased on game day at the Stadium. For complete ticket information or to purchase your tickets with Visa, MasterCard, or Discover via the Athletic Ticket Office, please call (732) 445-2766.

Student Tickets — Rutgers student tickets are for use by Rutgers students only. They are not transferable and are valid only when accompanied by a valid Rutgers student ID. Rutgers student tickets will be honored only at the West Gate.

No Re-Entry Policy — Spectators leaving the stadium will not be readmitted with ticket stub. Spectators must present a whole un-used ticket to re-enter. Gate supervisors will allow re-entry for pre-approved exceptional circumstances only.

Will Call — The Will Call window is located in the North Gate ticket booth behind Section 116.

Accessible Seating — Specially designed areas immediately behind lower level sections are available. Seating is available to accommodate at least one guest per disabled spectator.

STADIUM POLICIES

Gate Procedures — All spectators must present their own ticket. Spectators, their bags and carry-in containers are subject to inspection by stadium security. The following items are not permitted in Rutgers Stadium: alcoholic beverages, cans, glass bottles, coolers, balls, flasks, umbrellas and noisemakers.

Alcoholic Beverages — Alcoholic beverages are not permitted in Rutgers Stadium. Any spectator possessing alcohol will be asked to surrender it. Any spectator under the influence of alcohol will be asked to leave the stadium.

No Smoking Policy — Per university regulations, smoking is not permitted anywhere inside the stadium (seating area, rest rooms and concourse areas).

Umbrellas Prohibited — To ensure safety and good field visibility, umbrellas are not permitted in Rutgers Stadium.

Pets Prohibited — Pets are prohibited in Rutgers Stadium.

Crowd Noise Penalty — Under NCAA rules, excessive and uncontrolled crowd noise (i.e. noisemakers) can result in a five-yard penalty against the home team. Please observe quarterback and officials' signals for quiet. Violators may be asked to leave the stadium.

Field Regulations — Spectators must keep off the playing fields at all times during and after the game. Anyone violating this policy will be escorted from the stadium and subject to arrest. Spectators must use the stadium exits at the lower concourse level.

Public Address System — The public address system is intended primarily for spectators' information concerning the game. Please do not request the use of the public address system to make social contacts. No appeals will be made over the public address system except under exceptional circumstances.

Solicitation — The selling of any item by anyone other than university-authorized personnel in and around Rutgers Stadium, including the parking lots, is prohibited. Violators are subject to prosecution.

Stadium Gates — Access stadium via main North and West gates. Exit stadium via all East, North and West Gates off of the lower concourse.

GENERAL STADIUM DIRECTORY AND INFORMATION

Starting Times — All home game tickets indicate tentative starting times. Please consult your local newspaper, check our website (www.scarletknights.com), or call the ticket office, (732) 445-2766, to confirm starting time.

Lost and Found — For lost possessions, direct all inquiries to the stadium staff (gate attendants, ushers or ticket office). Following each game, any unclaimed article will be turned over to the University Police Department and held there for proper identification. Calls can be directed to (732) 932-7211.

First Aid — First aid facilities are available behind Section 115 (North End Zone, Lower Concourse). Medical assistance also is available on both upper concourses and inside the stadium by contacting the nearest usher.

Security — For police assistance, the command post is located behind Section 116 (North End Zone, Lower Concourse), or contact nearest usher.

Rutgers Souvenirs — An attractive array of Rutgers University souvenirs are available at conveniently located novelty booths behind Sections 115 and 116 (North End Zone, Lower Concourse), as well as East Lower Concourse and West Gate Areas.

Refreshments — Refreshments are sold from concession stands located on the lower and upper concourse levels. The Rutgers Division of Dining Services is the stadium food concession vendor.

Rest Rooms — Rest rooms are located throughout the lower and upper concourses. Baby changing tables are available in specially-marked men's and women's rest rooms on both levels.

Telephones — Public telephones are located along the lower and upper concourses. One telephone at each location is designated for wheelchair use.

Weather or Stadium Emergencies — In case of any severe weather or other circumstances which may necessitate evacuation of the stadium, please follow directions of stadium personnel (police, ushers, P.A. announcer, etc.) to the quickest and safest exit.

Night Game Safety Suggestions — Utilize lighted areas to access and exit the stadium and parking lots. No post-game tailgating is allowed at night games.

DIRECTIONS TO
(Sutphen Road, Busch Campus, Piscataway)

GAME DAY NOTE: Please be aware of posted signs on all highways in the New Brunswick/Piscataway vicinity, which will direct Rutgers fans to the appropriate route on game day. The following directions are for general travel purposes only.

From the New Jersey Turnpike, North or South: Take Exit 9-New Brunswick and pay toll. **Follow signs for Route 18 North-New Brunswick. Proceed along Route 18 North, crossing the Raritan River, approximately 3.7 miles. WHY SCARLET?

Rutgers was a pioneer in establishing a college color, and a pioneer in using a color on the field of sport.

The color scarlet was first proposed in the campus newspaper, The Targum, in May, 1869. It was adopted shortly thereafter. This color was chosen because it is a striking color and because a good scarlet ribbon could be easily obtained. From the time of its choice by the students, scarlet has been the Rutgers color.

College and university colors and coats of arms were not unusual in the old world but had been little-used in the new world. They came into large and vivid use only when athletics began to take rigorous hold in this country.

In the historic first collegiate football game on November 6, 1869, the Princeton team members watched the Rutgers men don turbans and kerchiefs as close to scarlet as possible for team identification.

Even without scarlet shirts, the headwear alone had added another "first," the custom of wearing caps of a team's college, one long-copied over the years of football uniform development.

Sports lore at Rutgers has also known terms such as "Scarlet Scourge" and the lasting "Upstream Rutgers!" from the first "big-time" grid venture under George Foster Sanford.

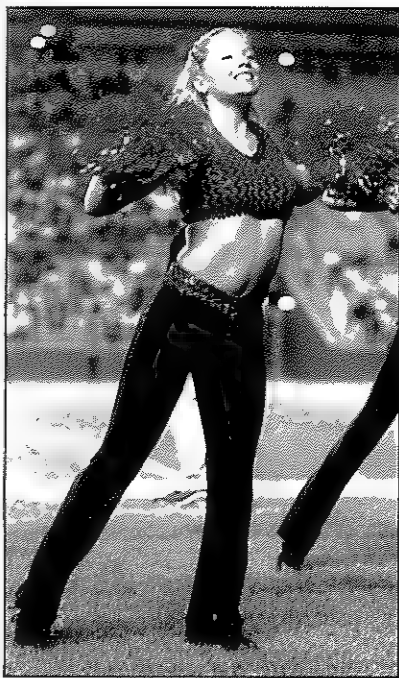

Through the years, scarlet has become embodied in the literature and songs of the college. Scarlet is identified with its sons and daughters, and is highly emblematic of the college itself.

WHY KNIGHTS?

Since its days when the school was officially known as Queen's College, the athletic teams were referred to as the Queensmen. Officially serving as mascot figure for several football seasons beginning in 1925 was a giant, colorfully felt-covered, costumed representation of an earlier campus symbol, the "Chanticleer." Though a fighting bird of the kind with which other colleges have found success, to some it bore the connotation of "chicken." It is also a little-known fact that the New Brunswick-based broadcast station, WCTC, which serves as the flagship station of Rutgers athletics, had its call letters derived from the word "ChanTicleer." Chanticleer remained as the mascot and Queensmen as the nickname for some 30 years.

In the early 1950's, in the hope of spurring both the all-around good athletic promise and RU fighting spirit, a campus-wide selection process changed the mascot to that of a Knight.

By 1955, the Scarlet Knight had become the new Rutgers mascot. The Scarlet-garbed knight, riding a spirited white charger, came to represent a new era - the rejuvenation of first class football "On the Banks."

The Ringing of the Bell

Rutgers began its extraordinary history as Queen's College, which was chartered in 1766, the eighth institution of higher learning founded in the colonies. In 1825, the name of the college was changed to Rutgers. Its athletic teams have long competed in proud association with colonial Queen's College and "Old Queens" building traditions. The bell in the latter's cupola, an 1826 gift of namesake donor Colonel Henry Rutgers, along with tolling the change of classes, was, and still is, rung on special occasions, including those of prized athletic success. Most recently, the bell was rung for women's basketball team's triumphant run to the 2000 NCAA Final Four. In addition, the bell was recently rung by the women's basketball team for winning the 1982 AIAW National Championship, and by the 1990 men's soccer team, who reached the championship game of the NCAA Tournament.

ALMA MATER

My father sent me to old Rutgers,
And resolv'd that I be a man;
And so I settled down,
In that noisy college town,
On the banks of the old Raritan.

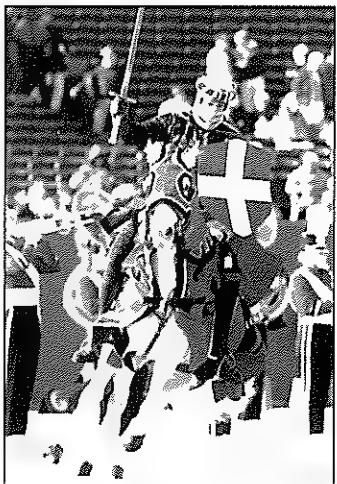

Her ardent spirit stirred and cheered me
From the day my college years began;
Gracious Alma Mater mine;
Learning's fair and honored shrine;
On the banks of the old Raritan.
(Chorus)

I love her flaming far-flung banner
I love her triumphs proud to scan,
And I glory in her fame
That's immortalized her name.
On the banks of the old Raritan.
(Chorus)

My heart clings closer than the ivy
As life runs out its fleeting span,
To the stately, ancient walls
Of her hallowed, classic halls
On the banks of the old Raritan.
(Chorus)

Then sing aloud to Alma Mater,
And keep the Scarlet in the van;
For with her motto high
Rutgers' name shall never die,
On the banks of the old Raritan.
(Chorus)

Chorus:
On the banks of the old Raritan
(my friends)
Where old Rutgers evermore shall stand,
For has she not stood
Since the time of the flood,
On the banks of the old Raritan.

SCARLET R CLUB

For over a quarter of a century, the Scarlet R Club has provided financial support for Rutgers Athletics. The need for such support is necessary because, at Rutgers University, athletics serves an integral purpose.

Through intercollegiate competition, our Scarlet Knights develop confidence through the joy of achievement and garner character in the face of adversity. Our student-athletes gain leadership skills by taking part in group activities and learn the true value of hard work by balancing a demanding course load with consistent athletic practice. All of these skills are paramount for success in life.

Each year, friends, alumni, parents, and corporations make a statement that they believe and support the mission of the Scarlet R Club. Members can direct their contributions to the Scarlet R General and Scarlet R Scholarship funds in which benefit all 30 programs collectively. In addition, members may wish to get involved with a specific team by earmarking their contribution to "their favorite team". In essence, the gift is used as you see fit.

Each member of the Scarlet R Club is entitled to a number of benefits based on their level of giving. Possibly the most intriguing benefit is the new priority point system that puts our membership in the forefront when purchasing season tickets for Scarlet Knight home football and basketball games.

By joining the Scarlet R Club, you can make a difference. Your involvement can help to provide the keys that will unlock the doors of the future. Your support will provide the financial resources necessary for the best and brightest student-athletes to attend Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey.

On the Road Again

Join us as we hit the road with the Scarlet Knights as they take the field against the always tough Big East Conference. Let us take the hassle out of weekend travel with Gemini Tours. To reserve your spot for each away Rutgers Football game, call (732) 932-6644.

Coaches' Huddle

Join us to find out and learn more about the Scarlet R Club at the Coaches' Huddle. Each Wednesday, Terry Shea and his staff will wait for us through the prior week's game as well as provide us with a scouting report for the Scarlet Knight's next game. For information on how to get in the Huddle, call (732) 932-7629.

Touchdown Club

The Rutgers Touchdown Club is the Booster Club for the Scarlet Knights Football team. With a membership that is quickly approaching 1,000 members, the Touchdown Club supports Rutgers Football in a myriad of ways 12 months a year. It hosts General Membership meetings which feature Coach Shea, his staff and special guests. The Touchdown Club also publishes a newsletter six times per year. In addition to these benefits, members are involved in season ticket contests, raffles and much, much more. The Touchdown Club is also heavily involved in the summer internship program, where Scarlet Knight football players can receive experience in a work setting that matches their academic interests. Just $35.00 per year in dues, these monies go toward sponsoring the Terry Shea Show on MSG, football games on WOR radio, the Scarlet Knight Horse, a quarterback scholarship, and much more. Each year, the Touchdown Club sponsors the Football Awards Banquet and awards the Touchdown Club Trophy to a senior whose performance, leadership and dedication on and off the field, during his varsity football career, had the greatest impact on Rutgers Football.

Letterwinners Association

The Rutgers Football Letterwinners Association is a vibrant organization whose main mission is to encourage former Scarlet Knight players to stay in touch with their teammates and to stir up good memories in the process. Throughout the year, the Letterwinners holds various meetings and functions, barbecues, golf outings etc., in an effort to unite the many men who have proudly worn the Scarlet of Rutgers. It's an association whose numbers are growing steadily. A membership directory has been established and a newsletter is sent out periodically as a means of communicating news and upcoming events. At the Football Awards Banquet each year, the Letterwinners Association sponsors the Homer Hazel MVP Award.

Football Fan-ees

Arguably the most unique support organization in college football is our own Football Fan-ees, the nation's first women's football support group. Founded in 1961, the Fan-ees is comprised of women of all ages, including mothers of players who support the Scarlet Knights throughout the year. Luncheon meetings are held Thursdays before home football games during the season, where members, whose numbers nearly doubled last year, are introduced to players and coaches and view game tapes. Members of the Fan-ees meet the team at the Hale Center after road games, raise money through the annual raffle and by selling novelty items, maintain a yearly scrap book, visit injured players and now the Fan-ees sponsors an endowed scholarship through Scarlet R. The highlight of the year is the Senior Football Celebration for senior Scarlet Knights and their families. The Fan-ees "Heisman" is presented at the Senior Celebration and at the Football Awards Banquet to the most improved senior player.

In memory...

In the past year, the Rutgers University athletic family lost two of its own with the untimely deaths of long-time athletic department administrator Gary Castaline and former Scarlet Knight football standout Rusty Swartz. Although no longer with us in body, they remain with us in spirit.

Gary Castaline

Castaline served in the Rutgers Division of Intercollegiate Athletics for 19 years. The Associate Athletic Director for Operations, he oversaw a facilities and operations staff of 27 people and worked with countless others who were responsible for the maintenance and operation of every Rutgers athletic facility and event. Castaline served as a Senior Assistant Athletic Director for six years and as the Rutgers Ticket Manager for 11 years. He was a tireless, loyal and dedicated member of the Rutgers family. He is survived by his wife Michele and nine-year old daughter Suzanne.

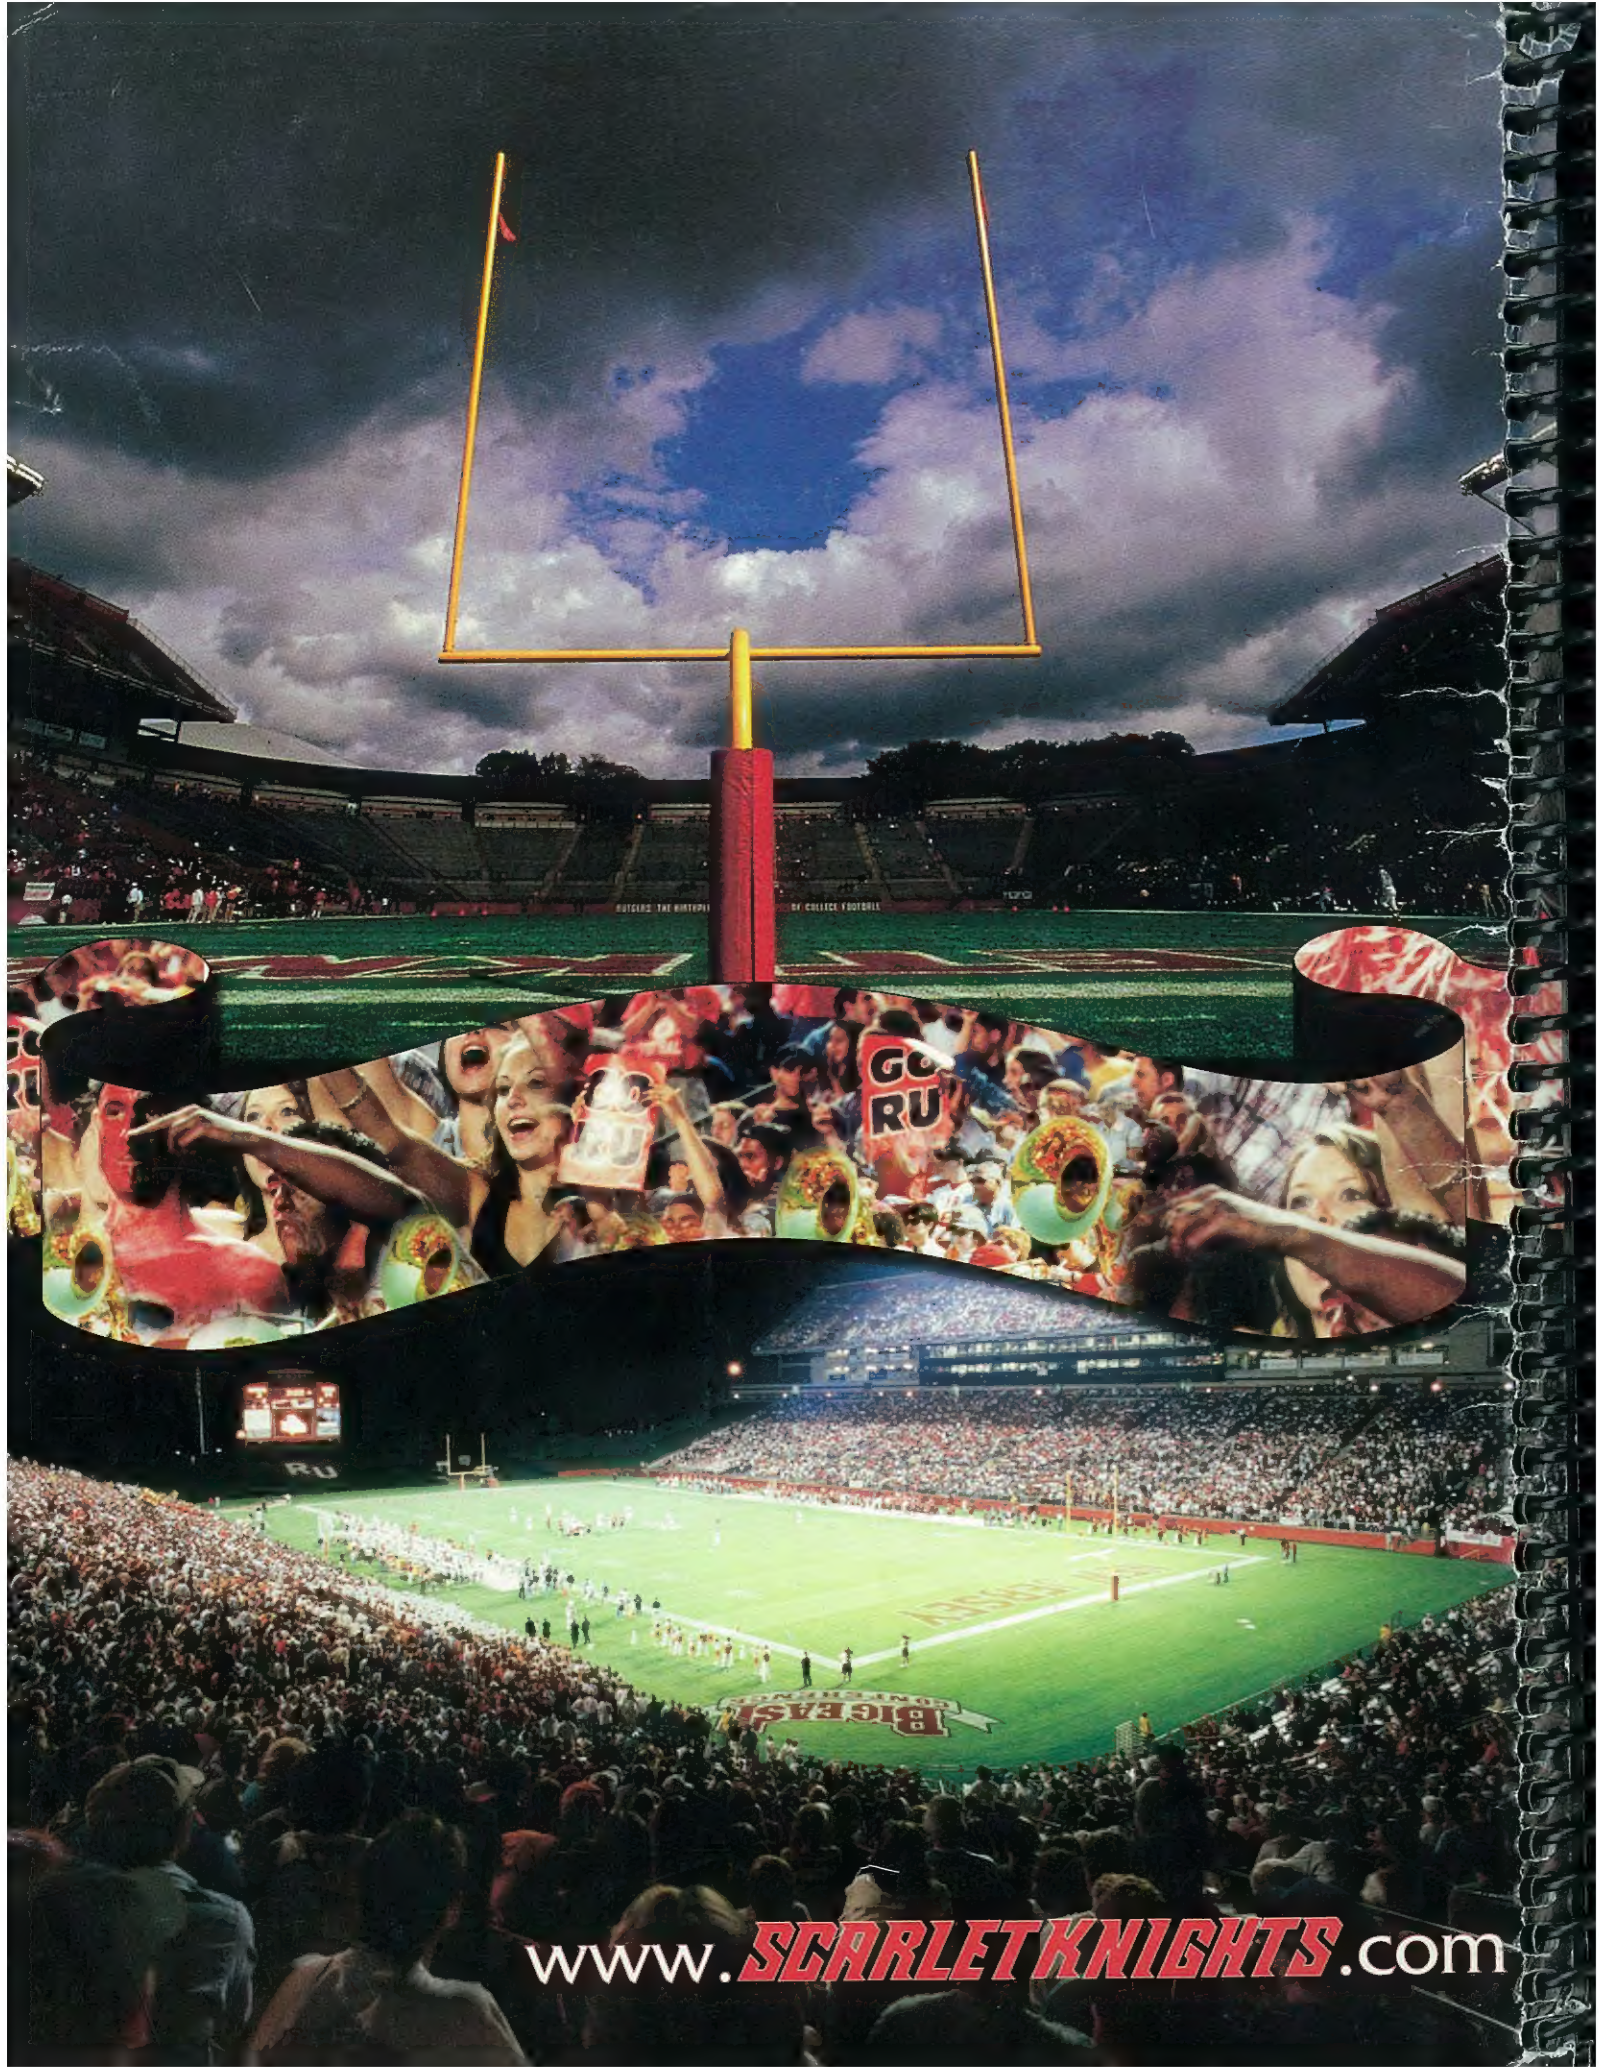

Rusty Swartz

Swartz overcame a series of injuries during his Rutgers career. Despite that adversity, this standout defensive end/linebacker was one of the Scarlet Knights' most productive players from 1993-96. A local product from nearby Edison, scores of family members and friends turned out to each Rutgers game wearing uniform number 59 in honor of their favorite player. During the September 11 game vs. Texas, days after Rusty's death, Rutgers senior linebacker Dax Strohmeier wore uniform number 59 in tribute to his former teammate.
